The second main head, on which I may offer a few remarks, is that of irrigation. The Hon'ble Rai Sri Nath Ray Bahadur has questioned whether the sum of half a lakh is sufficient for the improvement of water-channels in the Dacca district. The answer is that experience has shown that in the commencement of such projects as the Dolai khal and the new navigable route from the Padma to the Dhaleswari expenditure cannot proceed at a rapid rate; and the amounts which have been allotted for the present financial year are meant primarily for land acquisition and other preliminaries. The same Hon'ble Member rather has, with a light heart, suggested the levy of tolls on all boat traffic in these water-channels. This raises a very large question indeed, into which I shall not enter here. But it cannot be unknown to the Hon'ble Member that there is a school of thought which maintains that such a tax on transport is indefensible on principle; and I venture to wonder what the Hon'ble Member's attitude would have been if the suggestion had come from Government. Under the same head, I should like to correct a misapprehension on his part regarding the selection of Khulna as the headquarters of a waterways division. It is not intended that Khulna should be the headquarters for the Eastern Bengal areas, such as Dacca and Mymensingh; obviously, it would be a most unsuitable selection. On the contrary, Khulna has been selected as headquarters for the areas which lie immediately to the east of Calcutta, namely, those in south and central Bengal.

Discussion of the Budget.Sir Henry Wheeler.

Under the head of Irrigation, there are two remarks of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to which I may briefly refer. As regards the enquiry concerning the construction of the new bridge across Tolly's Nullâ at Kidderpore I may say that the width of the bridge will be double that of the old one.

As regards his enquiry on the subject of the dependence of the port of Calcutta on the Bhagirathi river, I may inform the Hon'ble Member that the Report of the Nadia Rivers' Committee is approaching completion; and I have no doubt that it will contain an exhaustive examination of a number of important hydraulic problems and will furnish helpful suggestions for the consideration of Government.

There are other points, my Lord, on which I might take up the time of the Council, but it would suffice to say that the Hon'ble Members who have raised them may rest assured that the comments which they have made have been noted and will be considered by the different departments concerned."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord. I propose to confine myself to the particular departments which are in my charge, and the points that have been raised in connection with them are fortunately few. At the outset, there is the main question of the form of our budget, and I am glad to find that the attempts that we have made to cast the estimates into a form which is more easily intelligible have met with general appreciation, and I acknowledge the kind remarks that have been made in various quarters on that score. The Hon'ble Sir Debâ Prasad Sarbadhikari made a useful suggestion that we might supplement the budget by an index, and the suggestion is well worth consideration, which it will receive. But otherwise, subject to any further modifications of detail which experience may indicate during the year, I think we have now got the budget into a fairly clear and simple shape.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur has repeated his old suggestion that we should graft on to our present financial procedure the machinery of a standing Finance Committee. I can only give the same answer that I did on a previous occasion, namely, that he is really asking for a change which is closely connected with pending reforms which have been mooted; but as matters stand we can only carry on our financial procedure on the lines which have been laid down for the whole of India and which govern all provinces. Further large constitutional changes must await whatever decision may be come to on the Reforms Scheme which will shortly occupy the attention of Parliament.

Turning to details, perhaps the department that has loomed largest on the financial side this year is that of Excise, and I welcome the opportunity of making a few remarks about it, as I fully recognize that the large increase in our receipts under this head has quite properly attracted attention and possibly, in some quarters, has caused a certain amount of uneasiness. It is the case that our Excise receipts during the current year show a large increase over those of the preceding year, as we have made no attempt to conceal. On the contrary we emphasized the fact in the budget, and I again emphasized it in the remarks which I made in this Council. The three main items with which we are concerned in the Excise budget are country-spirit, ganja and opium. As regards ganja and opium I do not think there is any particular cause for anxiety, as the revenue during the last five years has been fairly steady, and the statistics of consumption show a marked decrease. If we take the consumption figures for the first ten months of each year—I take ten months in order to get an up-to-date comparison with the year 1918-19—the consumption of ganja, which was roundly 92,000 seers in 1914-15, was only

Discussion of the Budget.Sir Henry Wheeler.

67,000 seers in the corresponding period of the current year, a very marked fall. Similarly, in the case of opium, the figures for the same ten months in 1914-15 were 52,000 seers, but in the first ten months of this year only 34,000 : again, a very noticeable decline. So in these two respects it may be said that there is no evidence that the province is being unduly demoralized. But when we come to country-spirits, I admit the case is different, and taking the same ten months' basis, we find a consumption of 94,000 gallons in 1914-15, as against a consumption of 649,000 gallons in the current year. The four districts which are mainly responsible for this result are Calcutta, the 24-Parganas, Hooghly and Howrah ; and it has been brought about largely by the following causes. In the first place there is the substitution of the fixed-fee system of settlement for that of auction, which was introduced in Calcutta on the 1st of April, 1917, and in the other three areas on the 1st of April, 1918. That change greatly discouraged the practice of dilution, and has enabled us to gain current information about the progress of the trade which has rendered possible a very substantial increase of duty at comparatively short intervals. The second main cause is the progress which we think we have effected in checking illicit practices ; they still continue, of course, but we believe they are less owing to departmental efficiency. The third cause is the rise in price and decrease in supply of foreign liquor, which has encouraged the resort to Indian-made foreign liquor. Those are the three principal causes which have been operative, and the first, as has been acknowledged by Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, was introduced in response largely to the advocacy of temperance reformers, and I have here many extracts from reports, memorials from temperance workers, etc., which would substantiate that claim. The idea is that under the auction system there is a tendency for license fees to be forced up, thus compelling vendors to push sales in order to recoup the heavy bids which they may have been led into making at the time of auction settlement, and it is thought to be a sound feature of Excise policy to reduce the proportion of revenue which is derived from license fees, and to increase that which comes from duty. That this has been achieved can be substantiated by the figures, this time on a nine months' basis, which show that in 1914-15 out of our country-spirit revenue of Rs. 49 lakhs, Rs. 20 lakhs was derived from license fees and Rs. 29 lakhs from duty. But in 1918-19 out of a total revenue of Rs. 56 lakhs, we have Rs. 13 lakhs derived from license fees and 43 lakhs from duty. Therefore, in that respect, our policy does answer the test which has been laid down by temperance reformers, and that also we have not been unmindful of the necessity of checking consumption is shown by the fact that in Calcutta we raised the duty after we introduced the fixed-fee system once in August 1917, and again in January 1918 ; while in Calcutta, along with the other districts affected by this change, the duty was put up again in October 1918, and in February of the current year, while elsewhere there have been increases from the 1st of April. So the department can claim that they have kept a careful watch on consumption, and have raised the duty in a very marked degree ; in fact, we have in some areas raised the duty above the tariff rate per L. P. gallon, although, to quote the words of the Excise Committee : 'it has repeatedly been laid down that the maximum rate of duty on country-spirits should be the tariff rate on imported spirits'. That was their pronouncement, but nevertheless, in our desire to check consumption, we have in certain areas disregarded it. To take another test, of the number of shops, we have reduced the number of country-spirit shops in Calcutta from 107 in 1914-15 to 78 in the current year, a very substantial reduction, and from the 1st of April last we have abolished another 15 shops with an average sale of 30,000 L. P. gallons from which we derived a revenue of Rs. 4 lakhs. Therefore, the department can represent that they have not sacrificed the interests of the province to their desire for revenue. Again, although I have admitted that in these four areas there has been an increase in consumption, it should not be overlooked that the consumption is still below that of 1912-13, although our revenue is considerably higher.

Turning to the second main cause, it can be no ground of complaint that we have succeeded in checking illicit practices, although in some districts, noticeably in Bakarganj, it is believed that that has contributed to the growth of licit consumption.

As regards the encouragement given to the production of Indian-made foreign liquor, the following figures for nine months of the duty receipts under this head show a revenue roughly of Rs. 7½ lakhs in the current year, as against Rs. 4½ lakhs approximately last year, while the duty on rectified spirit issued for the compounding of potable foreign liquor has risen from rather over Rs. 3 lakhs in 1917-18 to about Rs. 5 lakhs in 1918-19. I think these figures show that in consequence of the decrease in the supply of foreign liquor the duty under Indian-made foreign liquor and rectified spirits has gone up, and they afford an answer to the doubts which the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has expressed, that really foreign liquor has not had much to do with the matter. In the detailed figures he has given about Mymensingh and Dacca, I think he must have made some mistake. I can show him our figures later on, if he wishes, but merely say now that our statistics are different from those that he has quoted.

Incidentally, a feature of the figures which has also helped to increase the total revenue, is the growth in the revenue derived from the manufacture of tinctures in bonded laboratories, in which the nine months' receipts of Rs. 1,30,000 last year have gone up to Rs. 2,52,000 this year. That, of course, is satisfactory, in so far as this manufacture of tinctures has replaced in a swadeshi way what was previously, presumably, imported from abroad.

As regards possible remedies, the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has made various suggestions, and I will briefly refer to them. He would like to see liquor of weaker strength substituted for more potent varieties, but this is a point which has already attracted attention, and I can give him details showing specific reductions made from time to time in different areas. We have also taken steps in some districts to put a preferential rate of duty on the weaker strengths so as to give them an advantage over the stronger. As a second suggestion he advocates a restriction of supply on the lines of the action taken in the case of opium, that is, not to permit the sale of more than a certain quantity from one shop. But I may point out that that system has never been entirely satisfactory even as regards opium, and in the neighbouring province of Bihar and Orissa it has been given up. We maintain it here largely on account of the facilities which exist for smuggling opium to Burma over which some check can be exercised in this way. But it is not a method that is free from complications, and the departmental view is that in respect of liquor it would be almost impossible to estimate what a standard monthly issue should be. A third suggestion is that we should try and separate off and on licenses. I am advised that as regards the mufassal this would probably merely increase the total number of licensed shops; in Calcutta, I am told, there may be greater possibilities, and the Excise Commissioner will look into the matter, as soon as we see the effect of the reduction in the number of shops which we have just brought about. As a fourth point, the same Hon'ble Member has put forward the desirability of offering counter-attractions to the consumption of liquor, but I am afraid the evidence against him is rather more definite than perhaps one would infer from his speech. In the first place, there are already counter-attractions in the shape of tea-shops which are run on a commercial basis, and I think it was only a few days ago that there was some reference in the newspapers to the report of the Tea Cess Committee that a considerable measure of success has been achieved in that direction. These shops are being run from motives of commercial self-interest, and commercial self-interest will probably do more to give an impetus to the movement than official encouragement. The attention of the local Government was, however, drawn to the matter in 1916, and we promised assistance in pushing through the licenses which are required for tea-shops in Calcutta. Apart from this, and in connection with counter-attractions in general, we have the very definite findings of three provinces—Madras, Bihar and Orissa and the Punjab. I will read an extract from a Madras report of 1918 bearing on this system :—

'The net conclusion derived from a perusal of the Collector's reports is that in the majority of cases in which the experiments are complete, they have failed to create a demand for the alternatives offered to intoxicating drinks, and that even where the experiment was a financial success, there is nothing to indicate that it has done anything to decrease drunkenness. It seems unlikely that this would be the case for three reasons :—

- (a) that tea and coffee appeal to a different class from those who drink toddy and arrack ;
- (b) that they are generally dearer ; and
- (c) that they were offered as alternatives and not as substitutes.

On the other hand, the experiments seem likely to have an effect that was not expected by those who suggested them. The evil of the drink habit shows itself in two ways, in the mental and physical deterioration of the drinker and in the limitation of the proportion of his wage that is available to pay for the food of himself and his family. The 'coffee club' habit, if it is free of the former objection, is open to the latter in an equal, if not greater, degree, especially in the case of the daily labourer. It offers a temptation to many of those who do not drink alcohol and whose ordinary drink is water. Many educated Indians, therefore, regard it as a danger in itself.

The whole experiment illustrates the danger of transplanting wholesale a social arrangement that is suitable in one country into another of a different climate and customs.'

That was the experience of Madras. In Bihar and Orissa, the report of 1918 merely says : 'the opening of tea and coffee shops has not so far provided an effective counter-attraction to those who want intoxicating drinks.'

In the Punjab we have a very definite finding which has been reproduced in a publication—Abkari—with which the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari is doubtless acquainted. It says 'In connection with certain suggestions made by the Temperance Societies' deputation to His Excellency the Viceroy in 1913, advocating provision by the Government of counter-attractions to drink the Punjab Government recently consulted a large number of officials and leading non-officials. The inquiry has resulted in the accumulation of a large weight of official and non-official opinion, which is almost unanimously condemnatory of the proposal as being either trivial or impracticable, or even prejudicial to the cause it is intended to promote.' I am afraid, therefore, that this solution does not offer a very hopeful prospect.

Lastly, the Hon'ble Member has suggested certain improvements in the conditions of service in the Excise Department. As will appear from a resolution which we issued the other day, there are a few details about the department which we shall shortly have under examination, but as a general statement, I do not admit that the conditions of service in the Excise Department are markedly defective. The service was reorganized only a few years ago, and in comparison with other branches of Government employ it offers prospects which are not unreasonable. There may be points of detail in which improvements can be made, but as a whole, I do not think there is anything radically wrong.

So much for Excise, in connection with which I have attempted to show that we are perfectly aware of this large increase in revenue, but that we have in the matter of country-spirit taken action to counteract it and, while discouraging undue consumption, to increase the price which those who drink have to pay.

Apart from Excise, I will now pass on to a group of suggestions which are of a common type, advocating the improvement of the conditions of service in various departments. Among the first of these we have our old friend the Provincial Judicial Service, regarding which we have just addressed the Government of India, and we hope that orders will be received very shortly. With reference to the Provincial Executive Service, of which mention has also been made, it will be seen that we published a resolution the other day in connection with the recommendations of the Public Services Commission, and on receipt of opinions on that we shall similarly make recommendations to the Imperial Government. Another Service which has been brought to notice by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur is that of Assistant Surgeons, with the complaint that the initial pay is still only Rs. 100 : that is true, but on the other hand, it is a Service which twice during recent years has come under reorganization, and although the initial pay of Rs. 100 has been maintained, we have replaced the old grades, which led to a certain slowness of promotion, by an incremental system rising up to Rs. 300, and have raised the higher grades, which at one time were only Rs. 200 and Rs. 300, to Rs. 325 and Rs. 350. Therefore, as a whole, the conditions of that Service have been materially improved, and so far we have not experienced any undue difficulty in getting candidates. Thirdly, we come to the various clerical establishments, whose grievances are always with us, and I will not repeat what I said at a recent meeting, except to mention that in fulfilment of the expectation which I then held out, we have addressed the Government of India, not quite on the lines I then suggested of extending grain-compensation allowance, but proposing a war bonus of 5 per cent. to those in receipt of Rs. 30 and less. That will help the most lowly paid clerical establishments, and it should be taken in conjunction with the other improvements in prospects which we have given to menial servants and the individual establishments as they came before us from time to time.

Lastly, we have the Police, in connection with which we have the usual complaint that our expenditure is excessive, apparently, at the moment, thanks largely to my malign influence. But I think if the Hon'ble Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq will make enquiries from the department, he will find that it is far from the case that the combination in myself of a certain amount of financial experience with knowledge of the Police Department is always to the advantage of the latter. The traditions of the Financial Department, in which I have spent a good deal of my time in this country, are in the direction of cutting down expenditure, and being imbued with those traditions I have cut down various police proposals which probably would have been favoured by anybody looking at them solely from the departmental standpoint. It is true, however, that our Police expenditure is heavy and last year we heard more to that effect than we have this year. After the debates of last year, I had enquiries made, applying various tests to the Police expenditure in Bengal in comparison with other provinces. They were not very satisfactory tests because it is difficult to reduce provinces of the large size and varying conditions of Indian provinces to one common denominator, but taking a few rough tests, such as the expenditure on the police per head of population, and the numerical proportion of the police to population and area, the comparison in no way showed that the expenditure on police in Bengal was extravagant in comparison with that which was found necessary elsewhere. On the contrary it pointed to the conclusion that, with the possible exception of the province of Bihar and Orissa, which, of course, in past years has been administered on very similar lines to Bengal, other provinces are more highly policed than we are. One of the reasons for our present heavy expenditure, as I have had occasion to point out before, is that we have leeway to make up—leeway especially in the matter of buildings and in the rates of pay, while owing to unfortunate political conditions we have had to spend regrettably large sums of money on our Intelligence Branch.

So much for the customary complaint that Police expenditure is excessive, although from the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem we have had the somewhat unusual grievance that we do not pay some members of the police enough, and he has particularly mentioned the cases of inspectors, sub-inspectors and constables. I think, however, he has under-estimated what we have done. Taking the case of inspectors, before the days of the Police Commission their lowest grade was Rs. 100, but now it is Rs. 150, although the maximum remain the same. Taking the case of sub-inspectors, before the days of the Police Commission their lowest grade was Rs. 30, and their maximum Rs. 80; but now their lowest grade is Rs. 50, and the maximum Rs. 100. Taking the case of head-constables, before the days of the Police Commission, the three lowest grades received pay of Rs. 15, 12, and 10, but now no head-constable receives less than Rs. 17-8, and our recent proposals, which are under the consideration of the Government of India, will further better their prospects. In the old days, before the Police Commission, constables got Rs. 6, 7, 8, and 9, but now, in the armed branch, they get from Rs. 11 to Rs. 14, and in the unarmed branch, from Rs. 10 to Rs. 13. Therefore, prospects, on the whole, have been materially improved.

The next department in my charge is that of Medical. Reference has been made to the subject of medical education, but I dealt with that fully at a recent meeting and will not repeat what I then said. Another suggestion has been made by Maulvi Abul Kasem that we should foster the system of itinerant doctors. That is a plan of which I was in favour when I was a member of the Drainage Committee, which advocated it, but on looking into the papers, I find that the experiment has been tried and has never been a great success, owing largely to the difficulty of supervising the men who are sent into the districts, and especially, since 1916, owing to the difficulty of getting sub-assistant surgeons on account of the war. Its place has latterly been taken by devoting the funds which were previously so applied to the free distribution of quinine.

The only other point which I would like to notice is one on which I think a certain amount of misunderstanding exists. It, too, refers to the Police, and it was raised by the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha in the form of a suggestion that we should attempt further to recruit Bengalis in the place of up-country constables. We often read in the papers remarks which would imply that people think that the police force in Bengal is even now almost entirely manned from up-country. That, Sir, is not the case. During the last 7 years out of 22,596 recruited constables, approximately 9,057 or 40 per cent. were Bengalis, and in 1918, 61 per cent. of the total number recruited were Bengalis. In 1917 it was 53 per cent. We have been steadily pursuing this policy of trying to recruit local men as far as possible, and it is a policy which the Inspector-General of Police, Mr. Plowden, has encouraged actively, while, as will be noticed from the figures, it has met with appreciable success.

I doubt, Sir, if there is any other point of detail with which I need now worry the Council. Our immediate financial difficulties are, of course, the unfavourable economic conditions, the crop failure in Upper India and Bombay and the scarcity in two of our own districts, while we have the prevailing high prices to which attention has been drawn and which are pressing hardly upon us. We can only hope that with the restoration of more normal conditions after the war, and with the aid of a good harvest during the current year, the circumstances of the province in these two respects may speedily improve. No one will welcome that result more than the Financial Department.

Finally, I would refer to the fact that this will be the last budget with which Mr. Donald will be connected, and I would like to bring to the notice of the Council the excellent work which he has done in connection with the Finance Department during the last four years. I have often told him that his fault lay in over-estimating his expenditure and under-estimating his revenue, but from the point of view of the financial resources of the province, these qualities have been instrumental in building up the large balances which we now possess, and which we hope will be spent with usefulness in the approaching years. He has always been a strict custodian of provincial funds, and I think the Hon'ble Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq can rest assured that even my influence has not been able to overcome his economical tendencies. In thanking him for the work which he has done in the past, we wish him all success in the important office upon which he is about to enter."

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEMS Nos. 3 and 4.RESOLUTIONS.

(Under the rules for the discussion of matters of general public interest.)

The President said :—

"Owing to the regrettable illness of the Hon'ble Mr. Carter I have agreed to the postponement till a later date of the motion which stands in his name."

The following resolution and the amendment thereto were postponed :—

The Hon'ble Mr. F. W. Carter to move the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a commission of inquiry be appointed to consider the whole problem of leprosy in the city of Calcutta; and the legislation required in connection therewith.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur to move, by way of amendment, that in the Hon'ble Mr. Carter's resolution after the words "City of Calcutta" the words "and other municipal towns in the mufassal" be inserted.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Council was then adjourned to Monday, the 7th April, 1919, at 11 A.M., at Government House, Calcutta.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Special Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1918-19.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1916-17, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1916-17, averaged (a) 41·1 per cent. and (b) 16·7 per cent., respectively.)

Explanatory.—This special forecast showing the final acreage and yield of the wheat crop of the province is published under orders of Government. The usual final forecast will be published in May as in previous years.

Character of the Season.—The early cessation of the monsoon and consequent lack of moisture at sowing time and in the early stages of the crop retarded growth considerably. Rainfall in January and February proved beneficial but was too late to secure a normal crop.

Area sown.—The total area sown this year is estimated at 114,500 acres against 123,800 and 124,000 acres reported, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. The decrease in area is attributed to lack of moisture at sowing time.

Outturn.—The estimated percentages of outturn as returned by the District Officers in the important wheat-growing districts are as follows:—Nadia 33, Murshidabad 50, Pabna 60 and Malda 65.

The provincial outturn works out to 61 per cent. of the normal against 67 per cent. and 69 per cent. reported, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Taking the normal yield to be $8\frac{1}{2}$ maunds per acre, the total yield for the province is estimated at 21,809 tons against 31,993 and 33,002 tons, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

APPENDIX I.

Special Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1918-19.

District.	Approximate normal area under the wheat crop in acres.	Approximate area under wheat last year (1917-18).	Estimated area under wheat this year (1918-19).	Taking 100 to represent the normal, what would be the average out-turn per acre cropped.		Date by which the harvesting generally commenced this year, and whether that date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.
				Last year.	This year.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Nadia ...	23,100	18,800	9,400	67	33	End of February to March. Normal.	The weather has not been favourable. Considerable damage has been caused by drought especially in the Banaghat subdivision and Nakashipara thana. The out-turn is poor.
Murshidbad ...	69,800	31,900	23,600	67	50	March. Normal...	The weather was not favourable at first owing to continued drought after sowing which damaged about half the crop, but the rainfall in February has done some good.
Jessore ...	2,800	1,100*	1,100*	75	58	The weather has not been favourable. About 42 per cent. of the crop has been damaged by drought.
Burdwan ...	2,000	2,000*	2,000*	83	58	Middle of March. Normal.	The weather was unfavourable up to middle of January owing to drought. The rainfall in January did some good to the crop. Since then the weather has been favourable except at Katwa. Late sowing and want of moisture at sowing time and subsequent drought account for the low outturn.
Birbhum ...	5,000	4,100	4,100	83	67	End of March. Normal.	About 33 per cent. of the crop has been damaged owing to continued drought at sowing time, but since the rainfall in January the prospects have been fair.
Bankura ...	3,600	3,600*	3,600*	83	66	End of February. Normal.	The weather has been fair since the submission of the second forecast. The low outturn is due to drought and insufficient rain.
Midnapore ...	1,200	1,200*	1,200*	100	70	Middle of March. Normal.	The weather has been favourable since the submission of the second forecast. But the growth of the crop has not been good owing to want of timely rain. The outturn is expected to be much below the normal.
Hooghly ...	2,400	1,700*	1,700*	80	50	Beginning of March. Normal.	The weather has been unfavourable. About half the crop has been damaged by drought.
Rajshahi ...	8,500	7,800*	6,500	70	70	Middle of March. Normal.	The decrease in area was due to want of rain at sowing time. The outturn is anticipated to be below the normal owing to absence of rain which has injuriously affected the crop.
Dinajpur ...	1,000	1,400*	1,300	62	40	Ditto ...	The weather condition has not been favourable owing to absence of rain.
Jalpaiguri ...	800	500	500	75	85	By the end of March. Normal.	The weather has not been favourable. The crop is poor owing to continued drought.
Darjeeling ...	4,800	2,500	2,500	100	100	March ...	The weather has been favourable.
Rangpur ...	3,000	3,400*	3,400*	100	80	First week of March. Normal.	The outturn is expected to fall 25 per cent. below the normal owing to continued drought.
Pabna ...	16,000	13,000	15,000	70	60	Middle of March. Normal.	The weather was favourable at the time of cultivation, but continued drought since October last retarded the growth of the crop and caused damage to the extent of about 40 per cent. The rainfall in February has improved the condition of the crop to some extent.
Malda ...	60,000	35,000	35,000	60	65	First week of March. Normal.	The dry weather since sowing time to January hampered the growth of the crop. About 30 per cent. of the crop has been damaged by drought. The slight rain that fell since the submission of the second forecast improved the prospects of the crop slightly.
Dacca ...	4,100†	...	3,900	...	75	Beginning of March. Normal.	The weather has not been favourable. The outturn is expected to be below the normal as a result of continued drought.
Faridpur ...	2,700	2,700*	2,700*	82	87	March. Normal...	The weather has been unfavourable. Want of rain has affected the growth of the crop and has caused the outturn to fall below the normal.
Total ...	209,500	124,000	114,500	69	61

No. 549. dated Simla, the 14th April 1919.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Home Department.

THE present situation arising out of the agitation against the Anarchical and Revolutionary Crimes Act (commonly called the Rowlatt Act) renders it imperative on the Governor-General in Council to define the attitude of Government on the subject of that agitation and the serious disorders which have resulted therefrom, and to indicate the nature of the concerted action which it is now necessary to take for the preservation of law and order.

When the Bill was under discussion, its opponents publicly stated that if it passed into law, a campaign of agitation against it, on a scale hitherto unattempted, would be organized throughout India, and a section of them indicated that they would support that campaign, by resort to what is known as “passive resistance”. No one cognizant of the conditions of India could have been ignorant at the time of the dangers of initiating a widespread movement of this nature; they were clearly pointed out by many public men of moderate views; and the representatives of Government did not fail, during the debates on the Bill, to emphasize the serious consequences to the public peace which would follow from an agitation such as was then threatened.

These warnings were unheeded, and to the agitation which has succeeded the passing of the Act, must be directly attributed the open breaches of the public peace, the defiance of authority, and the criminal attacks on life and property which have lately been witnessed in certain parts of India. The agitation has followed a double line of action, namely, direct criticism of the Act by means of public speeches and publications, and the initiation of the threatened movement of "passive resistance". The latter movement was ushered in by a demonstration consisting of the observance of a day of fasting, and the closing of shops and places of business. Such a demonstration was not in itself illegal; but there is ample evidence to prove that in more than one place those locally responsible for its organization overstepped the limits of lawful persuasion, and resorted to direct interference with the business of many who were not interested in the movement, and to forcible obstruction of the traffic in the public streets. But the indirect consequences of this aspect of the agitation have been far more mischievous, in that it promoted a sense of unrest and of excitement which was bound to react, and has reacted, on the more ignorant and inflammable sections of the population. The campaign of criticism has involved in many quarters the use of most flagrant misrepresentations regarding the character of the Act. It is clear that large numbers of ignorant people have been deliberately led to believe that the new law gives the police unfettered authority to interfere with public meetings not only of a political, but of a religious and social nature, and to arrest summarily persons engaged in political work, and that it empowers the executive authorities to imprison without trial any person criticising the action of Government.

The Governor-General in Council thinks it necessary to reiterate here the following salient facts concerning this Act. It is specifically directed against revolutionary and anarchical crime, and can only be brought into force in any locality when it has been proved to the satisfaction of the Governor-General in Council that such crime, or movements tending to such crime exist. It has not so far been brought into operation in any part of India. Its first part merely provides for the speedy trial of certain grave offences; in the second and third parts provision is made for preventive action (similar to, but much more restricted in scope than that now provided by the rules under the Defence of India Act) against persons suspected of revolutionary or anarchical crime. Action cannot, however, be taken against any individual without the previous order of the local Government. There is nothing therefore which can justify the widespread rumours, for which the promoters of the agitation must be held responsible, that unusual, or even extended powers have been given to the police; nor is there anything which need cause fear or apprehension to any person other than the revolutionary or the anarchist. Not only do the terms of the Act definitely exclude its use in any case not falling within the definition of anarchical or revolutionary conspiracy; but Government has given the most categorical pledge (which the Governor-General in Council takes this opportunity to reiterate) that the tenor and intention of the Act will be scrupulously safeguarded should occasion arise to put it into operation.

The Governor-General in Council considers it unnecessary to detail here the deplorable occurrences resulting from the agitation against this Act. The offences which have occurred at Delhi, Calcutta, Bombay and Lahore have one common feature, the unprovoked attempt of violent and unruly mobs to hamper or obstruct those charged with the duty of maintaining order in public places. At Amritsar and Ahmedabad they have taken a far graver form, a murderous attack on defenceless individuals, and a wholesale and wanton destruction of private and public property. The Governor-General in Council thinks it right to state that at Amritsar the loss of life might have been greater but for the protection afforded by unofficial Indians to those who were threatened by the mob, and he takes this opportunity of expressing the gratitude of Government for this conspicuous example of loyalty and humane feeling.

It remains for the Governor-General in Council to assert in the clearest manner the intention of Government to prevent by all means, however drastic, any recurrence of these excesses. He will not hesitate to employ the ample military resources at his disposal to suppress organized outrage, rioting or concerted opposition to the maintenance of law and order; and has already sanctioned the application of the State Offences Regulation, 1804, in a modified form, to certain districts of the Punjab. He will further use all preventive measures provided by the Statutes to check disorder at its source, and in Regulation III of 1818, and the corresponding regulations applicable to Bombay and Madras, and in the rules under the Defence of India Act, he has powers which will enable him to deal effectively with those who promote disorder. He has sanctioned the extension of the provisions of the Seditious Meetings Act to the districts of Lahore and Amritsar in the Punjab, and will authorize a similar extension to other areas in which local Governments see reason to require it. The Police Act of 1861 enables a local Government to quarter additional police on any locality which is guilty of organized offences against the public peace, at the charge of the inhabitants, and to levy from the latter compensation for those who have suffered from injury to their property. The Governor-General in Council will advise local Governments to make a free use of these provisions where necessary.

The Governor-General in Council feels that many of those who inaugurated this agitation must regret the lamentable consequences which have ensued, the loss of life and property, and the damage to the reputation of India. He now appeals to all loyal subjects of the Crown, and to all those who have an interest in the maintenance of law and the protection of property, both to dissociate themselves publicly from the movement, and to exert themselves in quieting unrest and preventing disorder. To all those who render such assistance to the cause of the public and the State, and to those servants of Government who are charged with the onerous responsibility of suppressing excesses against public peace and tranquillity, the Governor-General in Council extends the fullest assurance of countenance and support.

ORDER—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India and communicated to all local Governments and Administrations and all Departments of the Government of India.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR MARCH 1919.

I. Character of the season.—During the month the rainfall was everywhere below the normal. The usual statement is given below.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—The harvesting of the spring crops and the preliminary field operations for the next autumn paddy and jute crops were in progress. Sowings of paddy and jute were considerably retarded owing to lack of soil moisture.

III. State of standing crops.—The general condition of the unharvested spring crops was reported to be unsatisfactory.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The outturn of the different spring crops is estimated to be much below normal. The prospects for the jute and broadcasted rice crops have been affected by the delay in sowings due to the continued dry weather.

V. Damage to standing crops.—No reports of damage to standing crops have been received during the month.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of live-stock was reported as fair. Cattle-disease was reported from places in the districts of the 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Bardwan, Midnapur, Dinajpur, Darjeeling, Rangpur, Malda and Faridpur.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—The supply of fodder is reported to be insufficient in parts of Dinajpur and Bogra also in the Brahmanbaria and Chandpur subdivisions of Tippera and in the Feni subdivision of Noakhali. In Bankura, although the supply is reported to be adequate, prices for fodder rule high.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review the price of common rice rose in thirteen districts, fell in two and remained stationary in the rest, varying from 8 seers a rupee in the districts of Khulna, Jalpaiguri, Mymensingh and Jessore to 6½ seers a rupee at Rajshahi.

IX. Condition of agricultural people.—The condition of agricultural population was reported to be fair, but distress continued to prevail in Bankura and in the Brahmanbaria subdivision of Tippera. The necessary relief measures have been taken in hand.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following notifications issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 19th April 1919, are republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATIONS.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

Simla, the 16th April 1919.

No. 282.—In continuation of the Home Department Notification No. 1697-C., dated the 6th March 1919, the following notice regarding the Reconstruction Scheme for the recruitment of the Home Civil Service (Class I), Indian Civil Service and Colonial Service (Eastern Cadetships), which has just reached India, is published for general information, as it may be of use to candidates desiring to appear in examinations subsequent to that to be held in the month of April.

Notice about Reconstruction Schemes.

1. The first qualifying examination under the Reconstruction Scheme for the recruitment of the Home Civil Service (Class I), Indian Civil Service, and Colonial Service (Eastern Cadetships), will begin on Tuesday, the 15th of April 1919, and will take place in London. Candidates who are required to attend for examination will be duly informed of the hour and centre at which to attend and will receive a copy of the Time Table of the examination.

2. The first qualifying examination under the Reconstruction Scheme for Junior Appointments (or Intermediate Grade) will begin on Wednesday, the 7th of May 1919, and will be held in London, Edinburgh and Dublin. Candidates required to attend will in due course receive the necessary instructions, including a copy of the Time Table of the examination.

3. In each case the Selection Board will sit, about a month after the examination and will sit in London only. The "Competition" consists in the selection by the Board of the candidates judged to be most suitable on the evidence afforded by the interview and the records. Candidates required to attend will be duly instructed.

4. Candidates may, with the consent of their Commanding Officer, take the qualifying examination before demobilisation, or, if they prefer, they may wait till they are demobilised. Their desire should be stated on the Application Form.

An officer who holds a permanent commission can only become a candidate with the sanction of his Commanding Officer.

5. These examinations being qualifying and not competitive, no candidate can be credited with "service marks" such as are allowed to civil servants in certain competitive examinations. The weight to be attached to service in a Government Department is a matter for the Selection Board.

6. Candidates who, being medically unfit, have served in a Government Department instead of with the Forces, must be recommended by their Department. This recommendation should not accompany the Application Form but should wait until the Civil Service Commissioners ask for it.

7. The Commissioners cannot advise candidates as to methods of preparation for these examinations; in fact the examinations are intended to be of a nature that does not require special preparation. Some indication of the nature of the examination may be obtained from the Reprint of the Question Papers used on 4th February 1919 for the examination of candidates for the Foreign Office and Diplomatic Service, which will shortly be published by His Majesty's Stationery Office at Imperial House, Kingsway, London, W. C., and other addresses.

8. The Commissioners cannot pay the fares of candidates or other expenses incurred in connection with an examination or interview.

9. As regards the suggestion that places should be found for all ex-soldiers in the Civil Service it is necessary to point out that there are about 5,000,000 ex-soldiers and the number of appointments made in a year to the Civil Service is about 10,000, including women.

10. The second qualifying examination under each of the above schemes will probably take place in the autumn of 1919. The home centres will be the same as for the first examinations, and there may also be oversea centres. The Selection Board will sit about a month later and will interview such candidates as are then ready. Other candidates will be interviewed later.

11. The Reconstruction Schemes will remain in force sufficiently long (at least two years from the declaration of peace) to allow of the candidature of persons in the most distant parts of the world. These, no less than persons nearer home, must fill up the Application Form with their own hands. The filling of vacancies will be spread over the period during which the Reconstruction Schemes are in force so that the candidates who are demobilised last shall have as good a chance of entering the service as those who are demobilised in the earlier stages.

12. Permanent Civil Servants.—While in the exceptional circumstances of the Reconstruction period it is impracticable to preserve all pre-war privileges such as that of the permanent civil servant to enter for open competitive examinations for higher posts at an age above the normal and without question of the nature of their education, compensating advantages are provided in—

(1) more extensive special promotion within a Department in accordance with the recommendation of the Third Interim Report of Viscount Gladstone's Committee on Recruitment for the Civil Service after the War, and

(2) in special promotion from one Department to another in accordance with Treasury Circular No. 4155 of 29th January 1919.

As further open competitive examinations for the Second Division are unlikely, the Assistant Clerks have the further advantage that any appointments to the Second Division in the future will most probably be made from their ranks.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,

experienced. The prices are common rice from 13 to 18 seers, wheat from 18 to 24 seers, gram from 24 to 32 seers, and barley from 27 to 36 seers.

Durkhuna, 17th August 1877.—There is nothing new to report regarding stocks. The district is still importing a little, but exporting nothing. Prices in the south are unsteady, with a tendency to rise.

Mozafferpore, 18th August 1877.—No exports are being made from the district. During the last fortnight the prices of food-grains have risen slightly.

Sarun, 18th August 1877.—The exports during the week amounted to 2,550 maunds of wheat, 800 maunds of common rice, and 525 maunds of rahar. The imports were 7,752½ maunds of wheat, 2,547 maunds of barley, 200 maunds of common rice, 374 maunds of gram, 1,000 maunds of collie, 800 maunds of rahar, and 400 maunds of paddy. The prices are—wheat 18 seers, barley 26½, common rice 15½, gram 25, collie 25½, rahar 29, and paddy 24½ seers per rupee. The districts from which grains have hitherto been imported have stopped sending any fresh supplies of rice and wheat owing to the existing crops there being threatened by long drought. This must check exports to Calcutta.

Chumpanun, 18th August 1877.—No change in prices and supply of food-grains. No export from 12 principal marts.

Monghyr, 18th August 1877.—The stocks in the district consist of rice 19,487 maunds, dhan 12,619 maunds, wheat 59,656 maunds, barley 1,921 maunds, gram 1,30,112 maunds, rahar 20,062 maunds, masur 76,426 maunds, peas 11,125 maunds, &c.

Bhagulpore, 18th August 1877.—Prices are the same as last week and are not likely to change just yet, except towards a rise. The export of the week has been trifling, but the dealers are now inclined to buy. Export is likely to be higher soon both westwards and to Calcutta.

Purneah, 18th August 1877.—Over 10,000 maunds of rice were exported from Caragola during the past week. All the large marts in the south are said to be full of grain. The village people have large stocks in hand, which they will not part with any till the autumn crops have been gathered. The merchants are active from nearly all the marts. Prices are rising a little, owing to the great demand for export and partly to the weather being unfavourable for transplanting.

Southal Pergunnahs, 19th August 1877.—There is a considerable export from the bazars near the railway, as Deoghur, Rajmahal, Pakour, but none from the interior. The price of rice is 16 seers per rupee except at Sarawan, where it is 18 seers and at Rohinee 16½ seers. The drain on the local resources has been trifling as far as regards rice, and the quantity of pulses exported has not been large.

Cuttack, 11th August 1877.—In Jajpore Sub-division exportation almost ceased during the week. In Kendraparah the average price of coarse rice is 18, middle sort 15, biri 13, kulthi 19, and mandia 20 seers per rupee. The price of coarse rice has risen owing to exportation. In the Sudder Sub-division the stocks are reported to be ample in thanas Tirtoli, Juggernathpore and Tikri. Taking the whole district, prices are perhaps a trifle higher, but about Cuttack the coarsest rice is cheaper. Generally speaking, little has occurred to alter the position since last report. The boali is being cut here and there in the centre and north of the district: it has suffered in certain parts. The saradh cultivation is progressing very favourably, though it has been slightly retarded. The recorded exportation from False Point for the week is, Cuttack maunds 2,386.12 to Madras, besides an estimate of 1,600 maunds by other routes.

The 18th August 1877.—In Jajpore and Kendraparah prices are stationary. In Cuttack they have risen very slightly, owing to the late flood and continued and greater exportation. Exportation is however below what the district could bear, and there is no fear of great scarcity. The actual exportation has been rice 16,886 maunds, and dhan 339 maunds.

Pooree, 16th August 1877.—Rice is obtainable in all parts of the district, but in some places in small quantities. In Khoordah the supply is reported to be insufficient, owing to the export which continues to Madras by land and sea and to Cuttack by land. The price varies from 13½ seers in the city to 21 seers in Kurlo, on the extreme north east.

Balasore, 17th August 1877.—There has been no exportation from Balasore during the week. The quantity exported from Chandballi to Calcutta was 2,107 cwts. of rice not in husk and 447 cwts. of rice in husk. Prices have risen slightly at Balasore and Chandballi, the last quotations being Rs. 2.3 and Rs. 2.6 per maund respectively. At Bhuddruck and other places the prices are much lower, ranging from Rs. 1.2 to Rs. 1.12. Stocks held for exportation are in Balasore 2,277 tons and Chandballi 2,264 tons.

Hazareebagh, 17th August 1877.—The markets continue well-supplied. Price of common rice has fallen. No exports from Hazareebagh or Chatna.

Lohardugga, 18th August 1877.—The bazars continue to be well stocked with food-grains. No exportation to Calcutta, nor any large purchases with that view.

Singbhoom, 17th August 1877.—The supply of food-grains continues plentiful. Ordinary rice is selling at one maund the rupee, except at Bahargora where the price is 24 seers. Wheat is 24 seers the rupee, except at Bahargora where it is 12 seers. Barley and gram are selling at 32 and 20 seers respectively.

Mandbhoom, 18th August 1877.—The food-grain supply in the district is ample, though rice, owing to export, is not well distributed. Export continues fairly, especially from Raghunathpore and Purulea, from each of which places about 1,400 maunds were sent out during the week. The entire exports could not have been less than 100 tons. The Deputy Commissioner forwards a letter from the station-master of Raneegunge saying that the railway company is still receiving rice and despatching to all down stations except Howrah and Calcutta.

experienced. The prices are common rice from 13 to 18 seers, wheat from 18 to 24 seers, gram from 24 to 32 seers, and barley from 27 to 36 seers.

Durbhunga, 17th August 1877.—There is nothing new to report regarding stocks. The district is still importing a little, but exporting nothing. Prices in the south are unsteady, with a tendency to rise.

Monghyr, 18th August 1877.—The stocks in the district consist of rice 19,487 maunds, dhan 12,619 maunds, wheat 59,656 maunds, barley 1,921 maunds, gram 1,30,112 maunds, rahar 20,062 maunds, masur 76,426 maunds, peas 11,125 maunds, &c.

Bhagulpore, 18th August 1877.—Prices are the same as last week and are not likely to change just yet, except towards a rise. The export of the week has been trifling, but the dealers are now inclined to buy. Export is likely to be higher soon both westwards and to Calcutta.

Purneah, 18th August 1877.—Over 10,000 maunds of rice were exported from Caragola during the past week. All the large marts in the south are said to be full of grain. The village people have large stocks in hand, which they will not part with any till the autumn crops have been gathered. The merchants are active from nearly all the marts. Prices are rising a little, owing to the great demand for export and partly to the weather being unfavourable for transplanting.

Southal Pergunnahs, 19th August 1877.—There is a considerable export from the bazars near the railway, as Deoghur, Rajmehal, Pakour, but none from the interior. The price of rice is 16 seers per rupee except at Sarawan, where it is 18 seers and at Rohinee 16½ seers. The drain on the local resources has been trifling as far as regards rice, and the quantity of pulses exported has not been large.

Cuttack, 11th August 1877.—In Jajpore Sub-division exportation almost ceased during the week. In Kendraparah the average price of coarse rice is 18, middle sort 15, biri 13, kulthi 19, and mandia 20 seers per rupee. The price of coarse rice has risen owing to exportation. In the Sudder Sub-division the stocks are reported to be ample in thanas Tirtoli, Juggernathpore and Tikri. Taking the whole district, prices are perhaps a trifle higher, but about Cuttack the coarsest rice is cheaper. Generally speaking, little has occurred to alter the position since last report. The beali is being cut here and there in the centre and north of the district: it has suffered in certain parts. The sarudh cultivation is progressing very favourably, though it has been slightly retarded. The recorded exportation from False Point for the week is, Cuttack maunds 2,386-12 to Madras, besides an estimate of 1,600 maunds by other routes.

The 18th August 1877.—In Jajpore and Kendraparah prices are stationary. In Cuttack they have risen very slightly, owing to the late flood and continued and greater exportation. Exportation is however below what the district could bear, and there is no fear of great scarcity. The actual exportation has been rice 16,886 maunds, and dhan 339 maunds.

Pooree, 16th August 1877.—Rice is obtainable in all parts of the district, but in some places in small quantities. In Khoordah the supply is reported to be insufficient, owing to the export which continues to Madras by land and sea and to Cuttack by land. The price varies from 13½ seers in the city to 21 seers in Kurlo, on the extreme north east.

Balasore, 17th August 1877.—There has been no exportation from Balasore during the week. The quantity exported from Chandballi to Calcutta was 2,107 cwts. of rice not in husk and 447 cwts. of rice in husk. Prices have risen slightly at Balasore and Chandballi, the last quotations being Rs. 2-3 and Rs. 2-6 per maund respectively. At Bhuddruck and other places the prices are much lower, ranging from Rs. 1-2 to Rs. 1-12. Stocks held for exportation are in Balasore 2,277 tons and Chandballi 2,264 tons.

Hazareebagh, 17th August 1877.—The markets continue well-supplied. Price of common rice has fallen. No exports from Hazareebagh or Chatna.

Lohardugga, 18th August 1877.—The bazars continue to be well stocked with food-grains. No exportation to Calcutta, nor any large purchases with that view.

Singbhoom, 17th August 1877.—The supply of food-grains continues plentiful. Ordinary rice is selling at one maund the rupee, except at Bahargora where the price is 24 seers. Wheat is 24 seers the rupee, except at Bahargora where it is 12 seers. Barley and gram are selling at 32 and 20 seers respectively.

Manbhoom, 18th August 1877.—The food-grain supply in the district is ample, though rice, owing to export, is not well distributed. Export continues fairly, especially from Roghunathpore and Purulea, from each of which places about 1,400 maunds were sent out during the week. The entire exports could not have been less than 100 tons. The Deputy Commissioner forwards a letter from the station-master of Raneegunge saying that the railway company is still receiving rice and despatching to all down stations except Howrah and Calcutta.

Dacca Divn.	17 Dacca, Aug. 18 '77	2.78	Weather—Seasonable. State and prospects of the crops are favourable, but a rise in the rivers is wanted. Coarse jute is coming in freely. Finer kinds are beginning to come in.
	18 Furreedpore, „ 18 „	8.84	There was heavy rain during the week in most parts of the district. 2.16 inches registered at Goalundo, and 4.02 inches at Madaripore. A storm passed over the district on the 9th instant, but no serious damage was reported. The quarter from which the wind came was north-east. The river is again rising, and the prospects of amun crop are generally good. The greater part of the aus crop has been gathered, and the outturn is reported to be abundant. The jute crop is also good.
	19 Backergunge, „ 16 „	3.16	The general present condition of the district continues to be satisfactory, and the future prospects for the season are encouraging. It is reported by the sub-divisional officer of Dakhin Shabazpore that aus reaping has fairly commenced and the new rice is coming to the market; that amun transplantation is going on; and that he is yet unable to state if the total area under amun cultivation this year will be equal to or less than in other years. Also in the Sudder sub-division, and in the sub-divisions of Perozepore and Patuakhali, things are in a satisfactory state. There is much hoof-disease among the cattle, but little or no mortality. The general health of the people is good.

BEHAR.
Patna Divn.	25 Patna, Aug. 18 '77	.89	In the district the rainfall has been from one to two inches. The prospects of bhadoi crop are excellent, but the transplanting of rice is still delayed for want of rain.
	26 Gya, „ 18 „	.48	Weather—Close and oppressive. Maximum thermometer in the shade 99.4°. 5.01 inches of rain registered at Nowada, 2.1 inches at Jehanabad, and 1.57 inches at Anrungaabad. In Nowada and parts of the Sudder sub-division transplantation of dhan is going on. Elsewhere, except in irrigated tracts and villages specially favoured by local rainfall, transplantation cannot as yet be begun. For this purpose rain is still greatly required over quite half of the district. Prospects of the bhadoi crop are fair, though the outturn in places is not expected to exceed eight annas of an average crop.
	27 Shahabad, „ 18 „	1.28	Weather—Cloudy and hot. 1.26 inches of rain registered at Buxar, .65 of an inch at Sasaram, and .20 of an inch at Bhubbobah. Buxar reports a fair general fall of rain all over the sub-division. In Bhubbobah the heavy fall last week has helped to fill the arabs and bundhs , and the prospects are reported good. In the Sasaram sub-division rain is still deficient. Throughout the district there is ample moisture for the bhadoi , but the rain is insufficient for the kurreef unless supplemented by canal water, which in many places the ryots do not take because the clouds and heat lead them to hope that rain must fall shortly.
	28 Durbhunga, „ 18 '77	4.88	The prospects of the growing crops continue favourable throughout the district. In parts of the Tajpore sub-division the crops are more backward than elsewhere but they are healthy, and the week's rainfall (which has been general) will be of much service to them.
	29 Mozufferpore, „ 18 „	1.18	Weather—Intensely hot and occasionally cloudy. In the Sudder sub-division the rain during the week has been scanty. Of the bhadoi crops mukai is doing well, though it is somewhat backward. The season has been unfavourable for murwa , cheena , and kodo . Transplantation of rice seedlings is almost finished, and the crop is doing fairly. Heavy rain is much wanted. In the Hajeeepore sub-division the rainfall of the week was 1.41 inches. Makai is doing well. More rain is wanted for the rice crop. In the Seetamurhee sub-division .32 of an inch of rain has been registered during the week. But there was good rain in Shewhur on the 14th instant, and 2 inches fell in Belsund on the same day. Prospects of the crops are everywhere good; but Poopree is the most backward thana in respect to transplantation of rice. Health of the district is good.
	30 Sarun, „ 18 „	1.06	Weather—Cloudy and most oppressive. An inch and a half of rain fell nine miles to the northward and 2 inches 26 miles in the same direction. Report from Sewan not received. Scanty rain in some parts of the district. Good downpour for three days in the jurisdiction of thana Mushrack, but it was not enough for the transplantation of aghani rice, which is at a standstill as in other places. There are complaints from all parts of the district that the crops are suffering from want of rain. Manufacture of indigo is going on where water is sufficient.
	31 Chumparun, „ 18 „	.49	Weather—Unusually hot for the time of year. Prospects of the crops are good, but more rain is required.

BHAULPORE DIVN.	32 Monghyr, Aug. 18 '77	1.93	A fair amount of rain except at Jamui 4.69 inches registered at Begosera and 1.07 inches at Jamui. Weather sultry when it was not raining. The prospects of the crops are good everywhere save in Jamui, where the rice crop is decidedly in a bad way. Small-pox appeared sporadically during the week.
	33 Bhagulpore, „ 18 „	2.21	Weather—Very sultry. Prospects of the bhadoi and aghani crops continue good, but more rain is wanted to complete the transplanting of rice. Indigo out-turn will be rather below the average.
	34 Purneah, „ 18 „	1.28	Weather—Very hot and close all the first part of the week; cooler, with rain and cloud, for last two days. 2.41 inches registered at Kissengunge and .40 of an inch at Arrareah. Bhadoi crop is on the whole good. More rain is wanted for transplanting the winter rice and for the jute.
	35 Maldah „ „ „	Return not received.
	36 Sonthal Pergah, „ 19 „	.77	Rainfall at Deoghur has been 5.88 inches, at Godda 4.47 inches, and at Rajmehal 1 inch. Rain is wanted in Deoghur, Rajmehal, and Sultanabad. The last two days the sky has been covered with a dense black cloud. It has just begun to rain, and looks like heavy continued rain. Bhadoi dhan , an unimportant crop, is reported very bad in the Damin. The real bhadoi , Indian corn, is unusually fine. Planting of dhan is nearly finished. In many places tanks and bundhs are not nearly full enough of water. Health is good.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVN.	37 Cuttack, Aug. 18 „	1.22	Rain general, but uneven in its distribution. Beali crop is ripening, and is being cut. Cultivation of sarad crop is progressing. Much good has been done to the crops and cultivation by the floods of the Mahanadi. There are cases of cholera in the town; otherwise the general health is good.
	38 Pooree, „ 16 „	1.76	Weather—Seasonable. 3.17 inches of rain registered at Khoordah. There was rain in nearly all parts of the district, and the weeding and transplanting of sarad crop are going on generally. But the rainfall along the seacoast and eight miles inland having been scanty, transplantation has not begun there. The beali that survived the drought is in ear and out of danger. The rivers were flooded, and an embankment about 7 miles from Pooree was breached. Intimation was given to the Irrigation Department. Public health is good.
	39 Balasore, „ 17 „	2.00	Weather—Cloudy during the last two or three days. The transplanting of sarad rice is going on. More rain is still wanted. Beali crop is on the whole doing well. General health is good. A few cases of cholera reported from Bhadruck.

40	Hazare-bagh, Aug. 17 '77	4.19	Two days of heavy rain and two days showery. Weather cloudy and rather close. Rain has fallen generally over the district, and the reports from the southern, western, and eastern parts are all very favourable. In the Pachumbha sub-division and to the north more rain is wanted, the rice crop there being still backward. General health is good.
41	Lohardugga, „ 18 „	4.60	In the head-quarters sub-division the weather is seasonable, and the prospects of the crops and the health are good. The report from Palamow dated 14th instant shows 5.25 inches of rainfall during the week. There was general rain in the sub-division on the 8th, 9th, and 10th, and the fall was very heavy in parts. Since the 11th there has been a change to close and very sultry weather, but it is now generally favourable. Bhadoi crop is very promising. Khareef transplanting and lewa sowings are going on briskly.
42	Singbhoom, „ 17 „	3.73	Weather—Seasonable. The prospects of the crops are very favourable. The district is healthy.
43	Manbhoom, „ 18 „	2.93	Weather—Favourable for crops but trying for man. State and prospects of the crops are favourable on the whole. Indian corn in places has suffered from the late high winds. More rain is wanted for the highland transplanted rice, especially in the extreme north of the district.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE ROYAL COMMISSION ON THE PUBLIC SERVICES IN INDIA, RELATING TO THE REGISTRATION DEPARTMENT.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Registration.

DARJEELING, THE 26TH APRIL 1919.

READ—

The Report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India.

THE recommendations of the Public Services Commission concerning the Registration Department are contained in Annexure XX to their report.

The Commission restricted their immediate proposals to the Madras Presidency, but they contemplated the extension of the Madras system of organisation to other provinces as circumstances permitted.

2. The question in so far as Bengal is concerned is whether, as in Madras, the district officers should be relieved of all their legal and routine duties connected with registration and their places should be taken by district registrars chosen from the Registration Department. Owing to the present nature of the constitution of the department in Bengal, it is only possible to introduce the scheme tentatively. The Governor in Council has accordingly, with the sanction of the Government of India, decided to introduce it as an experimental measure in a few districts for which competent district registrars can be found from amongst the existing district sub-registrars. The scheme will be tried at first in the districts of Midnapore, Mymensingh, Chittagong, Dinajpur and Murshidabad. One district in each of the five divisions in this Presidency has been chosen so that the trial may be made under different local conditions. The appointments of the five officers of the department selected as district registrars are being gazetted separately. Each of these officers will receive in addition to his pay as district sub-registrar a duty allowance of Rs. 100 per mensem for so long as he holds the appointment of district registrar.

3. The officers of the Registration Department who are appointed as district registrars will be directly subordinate to the Inspector-General of Registration. Neither the district officer nor, as a general rule, the inspectors of registration will have any duties under the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (Act XVI of 1908), in the selected districts. The new district registrars will, however, continue to perform the ordinary duties, which have hitherto been performed by district sub-registrars, as well as those prescribed by the Registration Act and the Registration Manual for district registrars, subject to such modification of executive detail as may be found necessary.

4. His Excellency in Council desires it to be understood that the scheme is an experiment and will be discontinued if it is not successful. If it proves a success, such additional appointments will be gradually made hereafter as there are men capable of filling them, but not otherwise.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published for general information and a copy forwarded to the Inspector-General of Registration for information and guidance.

By order of the Governor in Council,

M. C. McALPIN,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 746 Edn.—The 22nd April 1919.—The following report of the Bruce Institution for the year 1918 is published for general information.

L. S. S. O'MALLEY,

REPORT ON THE BRUCE INSTITUTION FOR THE YEAR 1918.

I. Control.—(1) During the year under review, Mr. A. Mercer, Inspector of European Schools, whose term of office had expired, was reappointed to be a Governor.

(2) The Rev. Father A. Gille, S.J., officiated as a Governor for a period of about eleven months, during the absence of the Rev. Father T. Van der Schueren, S.J., from India.

(3) The Institution suffered a great loss by the death of the Most Rev. Dr. G. A. Lefroy, Bishop of Calcutta who as an ex officio Governor, took a keen interest in its affairs.

(4) The following were the Governors at the end of the year:—

The Honble the Chief Justice of Bengal	...	} Ex officio.
The Most Rev. the Lord Bishop of Calcutta	...
The Surgeon-General with the Government of Bengal	...
The Chairman of the Calcutta Municipality	...
The Director of Public Instruction (Hony. Secretary)	...
The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Richardson.
The Ven. W. K. Firminger (Archdeacon of Calcutta).
The Rev. G. S. Henderson.
The Rev. Father T. Van der Schueren, S. J.
A. Mercer, Esq. (Inspector of European Schools).
James Wyness Esq.
F. J. Robins, Esq.

II. Capital and Income.—The capital of the Institution stood, as in the previous year, at Rs. 10,59,400 of which Rs. 10,46,200 are in the form of a 3½ per cent. stock-certificate of the year 1865. The balance, viz., Rs. 13,200, is in Government securities. The annual interest on the capital amounts to Rs. 37,079, which is kept in the Bank of Bengal. The year opened with a balance of Rs. 19,708-13-1, and closed with a balance of Rs. 28,311-13-5.

III. Election to vacancies, &c.—(1) The Governors having found it necessary for financial reasons to reduce the number of foundationers, there was no election during the year.

(2) Of the 19 girls who left during the year, 15 had attained the age of 17 years, the limit ordinarily allowed under the rules, 3 were withdrawn for various reasons before they had attained that age, and one was removed from the fund because she had been withdrawn from the school in which she had been placed without the consent of the Governors.

(3) Of the girls who were withdrawn during the preceding year, and in respect of whom reports have been received during the year under review, one is employed as a stenographer, one as a clerk and typist, and one as an assistant teacher in the Kindergarten Department of the Loreto Day School, Sealdah. Two girls are being trained as teachers—one at Dow Hill, Kurseong, the other at Naini Tal. One girl who joined the Medical College, Calcutta, three years ago has passed her third-year examination. Of the girls who were withdrawn during the year under review, one is learning shorthand and typewriting, and one has joined the Dufferin Victoria Hospital, Calcutta, to be trained as a nurse.

(4) At the close of the year there were 97 girls on the fund against 116 in the previous year. They were distributed as follows:—

Loreto Convent, Entally	{ Boarding School—14 Orphanage —15 }
Calcutta Girls' High School	...	23
Pratt Memorial School	...	10
LaMartinière for Girls	...	8

St. Joseph's Convent, Cuttack	...	1

Total		97

(5) The following table affords particulars as to the class and denomination of the foundationers at the close of the year:—

Class.	Roman Catholics.	Church of England.	Non-conformists.	Total.
1. Orphans, or deserted by their parents ...	12		9	28
2. Fatherless, or motherless, or deserted by their fathers or mothers ...	27	17	14	58
3. Those who have both parents alive ...	4	5	2	11
Total	43	29	25	97

(6) The health of the girls was generally satisfactory. There were no deaths during the year.

IV. Education and Maintenance.—(1) The nature of the education given to the girls on the fund was generally that prescribed for elementary and higher elementary schools under the Code of Regulations for European Schools in Bengal, and in few cases that for secondary schools.

(2) The Governors have decided that henceforth an attempt shall be made to estimate the capacities of the wards at the age of 14 or 15, and that the school shall be requested to co-operate in this matter, so that if special training is found desirable to fit a ward to earn her living, necessary arrangements may be made in good time. They have also prepared, and distributed to schools, a pamphlet showing what appointments and prospects are open to Anglo-Indian girls.

(3) Six girls were sent up for the Cambridge Local Examinations held in December 1917, of whom two passed—one the Senior and one the Junior. Four were presented for the Elementary School Certificate Examination, of whom one passed. One passed the City and Guilds Examination in plain needle-work and plain cookery. Several appeared at the Cambridge Local Examinations held in December last; the results are not yet known.

(4) Under the rules a girl is not ordinarily allowed to remain on the fund after she has attained the age of 17 years, when an outfit grant of Rs. 100 is generally given. In cases where special training is recommended, or they are preparing for higher examinations, some extension of the period of benefit is generally allowed. Two girls received extensions for training as children's nurses,—one as a sick nurse and one for domestic work. Two were granted extension for higher school examinations.

(5) The monthly average cost for the education and maintenance of each girl on the fund amounted to Rs. 19-3-4 against Rs. 18-12-4 in the preceding year.

(6). The amounts paid under the different heads of expenditure were as noted below:—

V. Inspection.—Mr. F. J. Robins was appointed Visiting-Governor for the first half, and the Hon'ble Mr. W. C. Wordsworth for the second half, of the year. Mr. Robins reports that he saw the children at work and at play, and that generally speaking they seemed happy and well contented with their surroundings. Also that most of them looked healthy though not robust, but that there were some cases of apparently delicate health. He recommends that more attention should be given to training them technically,—for dressmaking millinery, child-nursing, etc., and less to preparing them for examinations, which some of them year after year fail to pass. The inspection of the second half-year was left incomplete, as the influenza epidemic rendered it impossible in many cases. In consequence Mr. Wordsworth was reappointed Visiting-Governor for the first half of 1919.

VI. Meetings.—Three meetings were held during the year, but there were no resolutions of general importance calling for special mention.

CALCUTTA,

The 20th February 1919.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

The 22nd April 1919.

MANY rumours are afloat regarding the contents of the Act recently passed by the Government of India known as the Rowlatt Bill. People have vague ideas and think that the police and executive officers will be free to arrest them on mere suspicion and keep them under confinement without any trial.

The Act is intended only to cope with anarchical and revolutionary crime. Peaceful and law-abiding citizens will have nothing to fear from it. An important feature which has been frequently overlooked is that the provisions of the Act will not be applied in any part of India until the Government is satisfied that it is required in the public interest on account of the prevalence of anarchical or revolutionary movements leading to the commission of serious offences. Even when such conditions prevail three different parts of the Act will be separately brought into force in three successive stages according to the seriousness of the situation.

When the first part is enforced the Government is merely provided with power of securing trial of grave offences in a more expeditious manner than under the ordinary law. That is to say, certain offences instead of being enquired into by a Magistrate and then tried by the Sessions Judge with a right of appeal to the High Court shall be decided once for all by a Special Court.

This Special Court will consist of three Judges of the High Court: the impartiality and ability of the Tribunal cannot therefore be questioned. Provision is made in the law for securing a full and impartial hearing.

The second part of the Act can be introduced only when the Government is satisfied that anarchical and revolutionary movements are widely prevalent. Before taking action against any person Government is bound to take the opinion of a senior Judge and cannot act upon a mere police report. If on the advice of the Judge Government is satisfied that a person is actively concerned in a revolutionary movement he may be ordered to give security for good behaviour or to remain in a specified area, or he may be asked merely to notify his residence or change of residence. This order will remain in force for one month only and meanwhile the case will be submitted to two Judges and one non-official, who after considering all the evidence and hearing the explanation and evidence of the person concerned will report to Government. Government may then discharge the suspected person, or if the case against him is proved, it may continue the restrictions already referred to for a period of one year only.

The third part of the Act can only be applied when revolutionary movements are prevalent to the extent of endangering the public safety. Under those circumstances only Government will have the additional power of arresting without warrant persons believed to be actively concerned in revolutionary movements and of keeping them under confinement. The cases of such persons will also be enquired into by two Judges and one non-official.

NO REASON FOR FEAR.

This will show that peaceful citizens will have nothing to fear from the Act. No part of this Act would be brought into force except for the purpose of coping with revolutionary movements, and even if the whole Act were enforced the powers of the Government will be less than the powers which Government has possessed under the Defence of India Act for over four years. If the people maintain their loyalty to the King Emperor there is no reason why the enforcement of any part of the Act should be apprehended.

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Burdwan Water Supply Improvement Scheme.

IN addition to the details required on the reverse, clear information should be given below under the following heads:—

- (a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan, the particular steps which the Municipality has taken, or has agreed to take in order to make good the deficiency.
- (a) Column 20 shows a deficit of Rs. 3,401. A revision of the valuation of holdings is in progress and from present information it appears that the revaluation will result in an increase of 15 per cent. on the annual value, which will give the following additional income:—

	Rs.
Tax on houses and lands	6,447
Water rate	... 4,332
Latrine fees	... 2,697

In addition the scale of latrine fees has been revised and the new scale is expected to result in an increased income of Rs. 5,600 in 1919-20 apart from the enhancement of latrine fees due to revaluation.

- (b) The reserve of taxation or other possible means of increase in the revenues of the Municipality.
- (b) The tax on houses and lands is now imposed at the highest legal rate.

The water rate is levied at the highest legal rate in the case of holdings with house connections but holdings which lie within the water-supply area but have no house connections are charged at 6 per cent. on the annual valuation; there is thus a reserve of taxation in case of the water rate.

The latrine fees are susceptible of increase and are at a lower rate than those imposed in several municipalities.

- (c) A statement of all outstanding loans specifying, in respect of each loan, the date when taken, the purpose (very briefly, the amount, the annual charges involved, and the amount still payable.)
- (c) Nil.

- (d) Any explanations in regard to receipts and expenditure to show the true financial position of the Municipality when such position is otherwise than the ordinary surplus would indicate.
- (d) The average deficit of Rs. 3,401 shown in column 20 would disappear if a sum of Rs. 11,000 paid in repayment of loan in 1916-17 was excluded.

No. 1277M.—The 29th April 1919.—Under rule 7 of the Local Authorities Loans Rules, 1915, it is hereby notified, for general information, that the Governor in Council intends to sanction the following application from the Magistrate of Burdwan and Mr. D. Special Endowment Rules.

(a) Scholarships for European boys.

1. The income of this Special Endowment shall be applied in payment of scholarships for male British subjects of pure European blood ordinarily resident in Bengal, or coming to Bengal, for the purpose of residing there, or otherwise definitely connected with Bengal, including the children of persons, resident in or connected with Bengal though such children may not for the time being be in Bengal. Preference shall be given in cases of equal merit to candidates from or connected with Calcutta.

2. The object of such scholarships is to provide for or promote or advance the higher general or professional or technical education of the recipient and is not intended to provide for the ordinary school education of young children.

3. The recipients of the scholarships shall be selected by the Administrator in manner herein provided.

4. The Administrator shall use such means as he shall think reasonable and at such cost as he shall think fit, having regard to the funds available, to find suitable candidates for the scholarships and may if he considers necessary invite applications by advertisement and by circularising European schools in Bengal or otherwise.

5. The Administrator shall consider all applications and any information which he may receive as to suitable recipients, and may offer a scholarship to any person without formal application by or on behalf of such person.

6. Recipients shall be selected with reference to the following considerations. Selection shall be restricted to those who appear to the Administrator to be likely by age, ability, physical qualifications, and social circumstances to justify the opportunity provided, and preference shall be given, other things being equal, to a candidate whose parents or relatives are prepared to contribute reasonably to his education in the United Kingdom. The scholarships shall be tenable at a university or medical school or Inn of Court or technical institute, or some other suitable institution in the British Isles. As far as possible selection shall be restricted to candidates whose age will be about the normal age of entry to the course or institution proposed.

7. The scholarships may vary in amount and length of tenure according to the course proposed to be taken by the recipient and having regard to the support or contribution offered by the recipient's relatives and any scholarship may vary in amount from year to year, but a scholarship shall not be less than £150 or more than £240 in any one year, plus passage money to the United Kingdom and on return to India on satisfactory completion of the course, and (if necessary) a contribution towards initial expenses, and shall be tenable in ordinary cases for four years, but this period may be reduced or extended for special reasons in any case. The Administrator shall be further empowered to make advances on loan to selected scholars towards initial expenses or unforeseen expenses at any stage of their course on such terms as regards security and repayment as he may think fit, having regard to the circumstances and prospects of the recipient. Provided always that the Administrator may forego the repayment of any such advance or any part thereof if satisfied that the recipient is unable to repay the amount or that it has become impracticable to recover the same.

8. The Administrator shall be satisfied as to the European origin of the candidates and may call for such evidence as he considers reasonably necessary in each case and his decision shall be final.

9. The amounts awarded for scholarships shall be paid out as far as possible in like manner to that adopted by Government for Government scholarships.

10. Scholarships shall be held subject to good behaviour and to the recipient remaining a British subject, and so long only as the recipient shall continue the course for the purposes of which the scholarship was granted.

11. The Administrator shall not be bound to award any scholarships in the absence of suitable candidates.

B.—Scholarships for European girls.

1. The foregoing rules of Special Endowment A shall mutatis mutandis apply for scholarships for female British Europeans, provided that in normal cases the age of the recipient on selection should not exceed 23 years, but this limit may be relaxed in special circumstances if the Administrator thinks fit.

C.—Scholarships for Domiciled Community.

1. The income of this special endowment shall be applicable for providing scholarships or grants for boys and girls of the Domiciled Community in Bengal (preference being given to inhabitants of Calcutta) or for procuring apprenticeships for such boys and girls, or otherwise providing for their advanced education or professional or business training, such scholarships to be held or apprenticeships to be followed in India or elsewhere.

2. The rules of Special Endowment A, so far as the same shall be applicable for the Domiciled Community, shall apply to this special endowment with such variations as are hereinafter contained.

D.—Primary School for Indian Boys.

1. The object of this special endowment is to provide, equip and maintain a primary school for Indian boys in Calcutta without distinction of creed, cast or denomination.

2. Such part of the special fund of Rs. 1,00,000 may be expended on acquiring land and building a school or in purchase of any existing suitable premises and in the equipment thereof for a school as the Administrator shall think fit, and the income of the remainder shall be applied towards the upkeep and maintenance of the school, provided that in addition to the capital sum originally expended further expenditure may be made out of capital at any subsequent time for extension, alteration or renovation of the premises or in removal of the school to other premises if in the opinion of the Administrator sufficient capital funds shall be left to provide for the upkeep and maintenance of the school, or if the Administrator is satisfied that other sources of income will be available for such upkeep and maintenance. Any land or premises purchased for the school shall be taken in the name of the Treasurer.

3. If at any time and from time to time it shall appear desirable for any reason to remove the school to other premises the Administrator may contract for the sale of the school premises for the time being, and thereupon the Treasurer in pursuance of such contract as bare Trustee thereof shall convey the said premises to the purchaser thereof as the Administrator shall direct, and the sale proceeds, after payment of all costs and expenses in connection with the sale, shall be received by the Treasurer and the capital money of this special endowment so received with any other part of the said capital money may again be expended in acquisition of premises, building and equipment as aforesaid.

4. The Administrator may, instead of purchasing any premises, take on lease any suitable land or premises (with or without buildings), such lease to be taken in the name or names of such person or persons on behalf of the school as the Administrator may select who are willing to act, and in any such case the Administrator shall pay the rent, rates, taxes and any other outgoings for which the lessee or lessees would be liable out of the income of this special endowment, and shall out of such income keep such lessee or lessees indemnified from and against any such outgoings and any costs and expenses in connection with such lease. Any such lease may be sold, transferred, surrendered or cancelled by direction of the Administrator and another or other lease or leases taken in lieu thereof. The terms of any lease shall be settled by the Administrator. The proceeds of sale or surrender of any such leasehold shall be treated in like manner to the sale proceeds mentioned in paragraph 3 of these special rules.

5. In the event of any premises being taken on lease as aforesaid, if without buildings, the Administrator may expend such capital sums for buildings and equipment of the school as he shall think fit, and if with buildings he may expend such capital sums in alterations, repairs and fittings and equipment as he shall think fit, and may subsequently expend further capital sums in like manner as aforesaid. The Administrator may also expend such capital sum or sums as he may think fit by way of premium or salami for any lease or as consideration for surrender thereof.

6. The said school shall be managed and controlled by such authority and in such manner as the Administrator after consultation with the Corporation of Calcutta shall decide, but shall be conducted as and for a primary day school in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Education Department of the Government of Bengal for the time being in force.

7. The appointment and dismissal of the teaching staff and of all servants, caretakers and other employees shall be made by the school authorities, subject at all times to the control of the Administrator if he shall think it necessary to interfere therein.

8. The expenses of the school, including repairs or insurance, shall be paid from the income of the residue of the said special endowment fund and from any income arising from other sources such as donations, grants-in-aid or school fees.

9. The school authorities may charge such fees to scholars as may be approved by the Administrator.

10. The Administrator shall see that proper accounts of all receipts and expenditure are kept by the school authorities and are submitted to him at regular intervals.

11. In the event of there being a greater number of scholars desirous of being taught in the said school than the school can accommodate the selection of scholars shall be made in such manner as the Administrator shall prescribe.

12. The Administrator shall direct the Treasurer to set apart from the income of the said special endowment such proportion thereof as he shall think proper to be accumulated for repairs to the school premises, and such proportion shall be set apart accordingly and may from time to time be expended by the Administrator on repairs as occasion shall arise.

13. The Administrator shall direct the Treasurer to set apart from the income of the said special endowment such proportion thereof as he shall think proper to be accumulated and invested as a sinking fund for replacement of the school buildings and equipment upon the same being destroyed or worn out, such contribution to the sinking fund to be continued until a sufficient sum, in the opinion of the Administrator, shall have been accumulated, and being recommended and continued for so long as may be necessary upon the sinking fund or any part thereof being required to be expended, and such proportion shall be set apart and the accumulations thereof from time to time invested by the Treasurer. The income of such sinking fund may be applied in increasing the Fund or towards the general expenses of the school as the Administrator may think fit. As and when occasion shall arise the said sinking fund shall be expended by the Administrator in the replacement of any buildings or equipment which shall have been destroyed or become unserviceable or worn out.

14. If funds permit more schools than one may be founded and maintained, and in that event the foregoing rules shall apply to each such school.

E.—Primary Schools for Depressed Classes.

1. The object of this special endowment is to provide and maintain primary schools in villages adjoining Calcutta for the children of the classes officially recognised as "Depressed Classes."

2. The rules hereinbefore contained for the Indian Boys' Primary school special endowment shall, as far as they are applicable mutatis mutandis apply to each school founded under this special endowment, with such additions and alterations as appear below.

3. The villages in which schools are to be founded shall be selected by the Administrator after consultation with the Society for the Improvement of the Backward Classes.

4. Part of the capital money of this special endowment may from time to time be expended in founding schools in like manner as in the Indian boys' primary school special endowment rules, at the discretion of the Administrator, and the income of the residue for the time being shall be applied towards the upkeep of the schools. It is intended that about Rs 15,000 shall be used for capital expenditure, but this sum may be exceeded or reduced as the Administrator shall think fit according to the anticipated income available from all sources.

5. The schools of this special endowment may be for either boys or girls or for both.

6. The Administrator may frame such rules as in his opinion will ensure the reservation of these schools for the classes for whom they are intended. Provided that such rules may permit the admission of a small percentage of children of other castes or classes.

F.—Technical Scholarships for Students of the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur.

1. The object of this special endowment is to provide scholarships for past and present students of the Sibpur Engineering College for the purpose of completing or advancing the education or training of such students, either in the British Isles or in India, or in other British possessions.

2. The rules for the special endowment for scholarships for male British European subjects shall mutatis mutandis so far as the same may be applicable apply to this special endowment, with such additions and alterations as appear below.

3. Recipients of scholarships shall be selected by the Administrator in consultation with the Principal of the Sibpur Engineering College. Regard shall be had to the ability, energy, physical qualifications and age of candidates, and also to the industrial and engineering needs of India and to the course of training or study proposed to be undertaken by each candidate, and preference shall be given to candidates intending to return and work in India, but this shall not be an essential condition to the selection of recipients.

4. Scholarships may be granted in one sum or spread over a number of years, or may be applied towards apprenticing a recipient or as a premium on placing him with some engineering or manufacturing firm, including railway companies. Scholarships may include passage money from and on return to India as well as entrance fees to colleges or institutions or any other special expenditure.

5. In the event of the Sibpur Engineering College ceasing to be carried on for any reason or being removed from Bengal this special endowment fund shall be applied in or towards the furtherance of engineering instruction and training in any of its departments in such manner as the Local Government in consultation with the donor (if then still in India) shall decide.

General miscellaneous provisions.

1. Whereas the securities aforesaid have already some time since been deposited by the donor with the Treasurer in anticipation of the foregoing notification, and interest has accrued thereon and has been collected by the Treasurer, and has, with the consent of the donor already been partly applied by the Administrator in or towards some of the objects of the above-mentioned special endowments, it is (with the consent of the donor which has been obtained by the Administrator) hereby declared that such application of income shall be included in the accounts of the Administrator as if this scheme had come into force at the time of collection of the said income.

3. Any scholarship already awarded as aforesaid may be continued by the Administrator out of the funds of any special endowment in respect of which such scholarship would have been awarded if this scheme had been in force at the time of such award.

4. The Administrator may from time to time with the approval of the Local Government frame such rules or regulations as may appear to be necessary or proper in connection with the administration of any of the special endowments aforesaid, such rules and regulations to be published by Notification in the local Gazette and to form part of this scheme, provided always that such rules and regulations shall not be inconsistent with the objects of the endowment for the time being.

5. 6. The awarding of any scholarships under any of the foregoing special endowments in that behalf may be suspended if in the opinion of the Administrator no suitable recipients are forthcoming, provided that if the awarding of any one class of scholarship is suspended for more than two consecutive years the Administrator shall report such fact to the donor (if then in India) and to the local Government with a view to amendment of this scheme as lastly hereinbefore provided.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.NOTIFICATION.*ESTABLISHMENT.

Calcutta, the 9th May 1919.

No. 49.—The following Regulations issued by the Secretary of State for India regarding the appointment of Assistant Engineers in the Indian Public Works Department and State Railways in 1919 are republished for general information.

C. P. WALSH,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

INDIAN PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT AND INDIAN STATE RAILWAYS.REGULATIONS AS TO APPOINTMENT OF ASSISTANT ENGINEERS IN 1919.

[The Secretary of State is unable to give any undertaking that the Regulations will remain unaltered in the future.]

1. Until further notice the Secretary of State for India in Council will, during each year, make a number of appointments of Assistant Engineers in the Public Works and State Railway Departments of the Government of India.

In making these appointments he will act with the advice of a Selection Committee, including at least one eminent representative of the Engineering profession.

In 1919 it is intended that 75 appointments of Europeans and 3 of Indians should be made.*

The Selection Committee will hold three sittings in April or May, July or August, and October or November, respectively. The Committee will fix a maximum of appointments to be filled up at each sitting; they may allow a candidate who has failed at the first or second sitting to appear at a later sitting if they consider it necessary or advisable.

2. Applications must be made on a printed form, which may be obtained from the Secretary, Public Works Department, India Office, Whitehall, S. W. 1, or, in the case of officers in India and Mesopotamia, from the Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department, Delhi. Applications to the India Office must be received not later than 31st March, 30th June, and 30th September for the three sittings, respectively, of the Selection Committee. Applications to the Government of India must be received not later than 31st July.

Application from natives of India must be received at the India Office not later than 30th June, and Indian candidates will be examined by the Selection Committee only at their meeting in July or August.

3. An Indian candidate must have attained the age of 21 and not attained the age of 24 years on the first day of July of the year in which he offers himself for appointment.

Every European candidate must have been born on or after the 2nd August 1891 and on or before the 1st August 1897.

[N. B.—Natives of India must obtain a certificate of age and nationality in the form explained in Appendix II. As the production of this certificate is a necessary condition of appointment, intending candidates are advised to procure it without delay. The certificate should be forwarded to the India Office together with the candidate's form of application or at the earliest subsequent opportunity.]

* It has been a standing rule that natives of India shall be selected to the extent of 10 per cent. of the total number of Assistant Engineers recruited by the Secretary of State, if otherwise duly qualified. Since 1914 only six Europeans have been recruited (all in the year 1915). During the same period 11 natives of India have been recruited. In 1919 it is proposed to recruit 75 Europeans and three Indians, making a total since 1914 of 81 Europeans and 14 Indians.

4. Every European candidate in 1919, subject to the exception stated below, must have served in His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air Forces during the war for at least one year, or if his service be less than one year, have been discharged on account of wounds or sickness resulting from such service.

In the case of Europeans who have been prevented on adequate grounds from joining His Majesty's Forces, applications to be exceptionally admitted as candidates may be made to the India Office for consideration.

5. Every European candidate must be a British subject and, except as provided in Regulation 6, if he or his father or his mother was not born within His Majesty's Dominions and allegiance, the father must at the time of the candidate's birth have been a British subject and still be (or have continued to be until his death) a British subject. The decision of the Secretary of State in Council whether a candidate satisfies these conditions shall be final. A candidate must also be of good moral character and sound bodily health and, in the opinion of the Secretary of State for India in Council, in all respects suitable to hold an appointment in the Indian Public Works Department or State Railway Department.

6. Natives of India are eligible for the three appointments open to Indians provided that they are British subjects or that the Governor-General in Council has made a declaration under section 96A of the Government of India Act, 1915, as amended by section 3 of the Government of India (Amendment) Act, 1916, that they are to be considered eligible.

7. Applications sent in to the Government of India will, in the first instance, be examined by an Advisory Committee in India, who will, in the case of applicants whom they think fit for appointment, submit their names with the necessary papers to the Secretary to State to be laid before the Selection Committee. Facilities will, if possible, be offered to the candidates whose names are so submitted to appear in person, if they so desire, before the Selection Committee in England.

8. Indian candidates must produce evidence that they have either (1) obtained one of the University degrees mentioned in Appendix I; or (2) passed Sections A and B of the A. M. I. C. E. examination; or (3) obtained such other diploma or distinction in Engineering as the Secretary of State may decide to accept in any particular case. It is preferred that candidates should have taken a college course and obtained one of the degrees mentioned in Appendix I. It is advisable that in addition they should have had at least one full year's practical experience of Civil Engineering under a qualified Civil Engineer at the time when they appear before the Selection Committee. Those whose qualifying diploma has been obtained without a college course should have had a full three years of such practical experience.

9. European applicants eligible under Rule 4 who can produce evidence of the above qualifications will be admitted as candidates; others not holding one of the recognised degrees or diplomas must produce evidence—

- (a) of having received a general education high enough to fit them to receive proper professional training and to become members of the Engineering profession;
- (b) of such technical education (University or otherwise) in Engineering as they have received; and
- (c) of their practical training and experience in Engineering as civilians and in military or quasi-military service.

An applicant, if serving at the time of his application, must produce, if possible, a report by his Commanding Officer on his character, administrative capacity and powers of organisation, and aptitude, natural bent, and Engineering experience.

10. In the event of any candidate being selected who has not, in the opinion of the Selection Committee, had sufficient practical experience, he may be required to undergo, after arrival in India, such period of probation in charge of works as may be decided upon, and his final appointment will be made dependent upon the result of such probation.

11. Candidates must be prepared, if called upon, to attend at the India Office, at their own expense, for a personal interview with the Selection Committee. Applicants to the Government of India (see Rule 7 above) must be prepared to attend before the Local Advisory Committee authorised by the Government of India to investigate their candidature.

12. Candidates will further be required, before final appointment by the Secretary of State in Council, to appear, at their own expense, before the Medical Board at the India Office for examination as to their physical fitness for service in India, or in case of applicants selected without attendance at the India Office, before such Medical Board as the Government of India may appoint.

The Regulations governing the physical examination of candidates for the Public Works and State Railway Departments of the Government of India are given in Appendix V.

*13. Selected candidates will also be required to satisfy the Secretary of State of their ability to ride.

14. They will on appointment be provided with a free first-class passage to India and they will be expected to proceed thither about the end of September or later in the year in which they are appointed.

Their pay will begin from the date of their landing in India, and, if they so desire, they will be able to obtain an advance of two months' pay, recoverable by monthly instalments of one-third of salary. Of this advance a portion, not exceeding one-half, may be drawn in England. The pay of candidates appointed in India will begin from the date of reporting for duty as they may be directed.

15. If less than 24 years of age on 1st August 1919, European candidates will enter the service as Assistant Engineers on a salary of Rs. 4,560 a year. If above 24 years, they will be credited with service as though they had been appointed in their 24th year. The years of service so credited will subsequently count for purposes of pay and promotion, but not for leave or pension.

16. The instruments required by Assistant Engineers are supplied to them in India.

17. Particulars as to pay, pension, etc., are contained in Appendices III and IV.

India Office,
January 1919.

* Selected candidates will be examined by the Civil Service Commissioners as to their ability to ride, and will be required to obtain either—

(a) a certificate from the Civil Service Commissioners that they are sufficiently at home in the saddle for the efficient performance of all the duties of the Indian Public Works and State Railway Departments; or

(b) a certificate from the Civil Service Commissioners of minimum proficiency in riding.

In the latter case they will be subjected, on their arrival in India, to such further tests in riding as may be prescribed by their Government.

Candidates are warned that the certificate of minimum proficiency in riding, without which they will not be allowed to proceed to India, is only granted to those who can qualify in a series of tests, which includes jumping.

The chief tests will be saddling and bridling; mounting and dismounting; trotting and cantering; riding at a trot without stirrups; riding at a trot with stirrups, but without reins; jumping a hedge hurdle about 3 feet in height.

After a service of not less than 20 years, a retiring pension not exceeding the following amounts:—

Years of Completed Service	Maximum Limit of Pension.
20 to 24	Rs. 4,000 a year.
25 and above	5,000 „

Officers who have shown special energy and efficiency during an effective service of three years in certain appointments may, at the discretion of the Government of India, be allowed an additional pension of Rs. 1,000 a year, subject to the condition that the officer must not retire voluntarily before the completion of a total qualifying service of 28 years.

Subject to certain prescribed conditions, rupee pensions are now issued at the rate of exchange of 1s. 9d. the rupee to pensioners residing in countries in which the Indian Government rupee is not legal tender.

2. A general provident fund to which all Civil Engineers entering the Public Works Department in the future will subscribe has been established for all Civil Engineers of the Department on the following basis:—

- (1) The contribution is compulsory up to 6½ per cent., on salaries, with not more than a further 9½ per cent. voluntary contributions. Subscriptions on leave of any kind are optional.
- (2) Compound interest on such payment is annually credited by Government to each officer subscribing, the rate being at present 4 per cent. per annum.
- (3) The sum which thus accumulates to the credit of an officer is his absolute property, subject to the rules of the Fund, and is handed over to him unconditionally on quitting the Service: or in the event of his death before retirement, to such person or persons as, under the rules of the Fund for the time being in force, may be entitled thereto.
- (4) Other forms of life insurance will, however, if they fulfil certain conditions, be accepted in lieu of the contributions in (1).

LEAVE.

3. The following is a summary of the principal regulations relating to the leave admissible to Engineers appointed to the Imperial Service by the Secretary of State from the United Kingdom.

(a) Short Leave.

4. Privilege leave is a holiday which may be granted to the extent of one-eleventh part of the time that an officer has been on duty without interruption; and it may be accumulated up to three months, earned by 33 months' duty. During privilege leave the officer retains a lien on his appointment, and receives an allowance equal to the salary which he would receive if he were on duty in the appointment on which he has a lien. An interval of not less than six months must elapse between two periods of absence on privilege leave.

Privilege leave may be prefixed to furlough, special leave, or extraordinary leave without allowances. The whole period of leave thus taken in combination is known as combined leave. Combined leave cannot be granted for a shorter period than six months, nor, except on medical certificate, may it be extended beyond two years.

5. Extraordinary leave without allowances may be granted in case of necessity, and, except in certain specified cases, only when no other kind of leave is by rule admissible. It may be granted in continuation of other leave.

6. Subsidiary leave in India for a minimum of ten days, usually with half average salary, may be granted to an officer proceeding on or returning from leave out of India, or on retirement, to enable him to reach the port of embarkation or to rejoin his appointment. It is admissible only at the end, and not at the beginning, of combined leave.

7. Short leave is also granted to enable officers to appear at examinations, etc.

(b) Long Leave.

8. Furlough and special leave with allowances (see paragraph 10) are admissible to an aggregate maximum amount of six years during an officer's service. The amount of furlough "earned" is one-fourth of an officer's active service, and the amount "due" is that amount less any enjoyed.

Furlough without medical certificate can, if due, be generally taken after eight years' active service, and again after intervals of not less than three years' continuous service. It is limited to two years at a time.

Furlough on medical certificate may be granted (a) to an officer who has rendered three years' continuous service, for not more than two years, but capable of extension up to three years, and (b) to an officer who has not rendered three years' continuous service, up to one year in any case, and up to such longer period, if any (but not exceeding two years), as the officer may have furlough "due" to him.

9. The allowances admissible during furlough are:—

- (1) During the first two years of furlough without medical certificate and during so much of furlough with medical certificate as may be "due,"—half average salary, subject to certain maximum and minimum limits.
- (2) After the expiration of the period for which the foregoing allowances are admissible,—one-quarter of average salary, subject to certain maximum and minimum limits.

10. Special leave may be granted at any time for not more than six months, with intervals of six years service; allowances, calculated as during furlough, are given during the first six months only, whether taken in one or more instalments.

General Rules.

11. Leave of absence, whether on furlough or on privilege leave, can never be claimed as of right, and is given or refused at the discretion of Government.

12. After five years' continuous absence from India, an officer is considered to be out of the employment of Government.

13. When leave allowances other than privilege leave pay are paid at the Home Treasury, or in a Colony where the standard of currency is gold, rupees are converted into sterling at the rate of exchange fixed for the time being for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and India Treasuries, unless any other rate has been exceptionally authorised. But for the present the rate of conversion is subject to a minimum of 1s. 6d. to the rupee.

APPENDIX V.

REGULATIONS AS TO THE PHYSICAL EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR APPOINTMENT TO THE PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Note.—These Regulations are published for the convenience of candidates and in order to enable them to ascertain the probability of their coming up to the required physical standard. But it must be clearly understood that the Secretary of State reserves to himself an absolute discretion to reject as unfit any candidate whom he may consider, after hearing the opinion of his medical advisers, to be physically disqualified for the public service; and that his discretion is in no respect limited by these Regulations.

It is not the practice to communicate to candidates who may be reported as physically unfit for service in India the reasons for the Medical Board's opinion.

General Physical Requirements.

1. A candidate must be in good mental and bodily health, and free from any physical defect likely to interfere with efficient performance of duty.
2. In the examination of candidates the Medical Board will apply the following table of correlation of age, height, and chest girth:—

Age.	Height without Shoes.	CHEST.
		Girth when expanded.	Range of Expansion.
	Inches.	Inches.	Inches.
21 and upwards ...	62½ and under 65 ...	35	2
	65 .. 68 ...	35½	2
	68 .. 70 ...	36	2
	70 .. 72 ...	36½	2½
	72 and upwards ...	37	2½

3. Measurement of Height.—The candidate will be placed against the standard with his feet together, and the weight thrown on the heels, and not on the toes or outside of the feet. He will stand erect without rigidity, and with the heels, calves, buttocks, and shoulders touching the standard; the chin will be depressed to bring the vertex of the head level under the horizontal bar, and the height will be noted in parts of an inch to eighths. In the Indian Police Force a minimum height of 5 feet 4 inches is required, but in other Departments no fixed limit of height is imposed.

4. Measurement of Chest.—The candidate will be made to stand erect with his feet together, and to raise his hands above his head. The tape will be carefully adjusted round the chest, with its posterior upper edge touching the inferior angles of the shoulder blades, and its anterior lower edge the upper part of the nipples. The arms will then be lowered to hang loosely by the side, and care will be taken that the shoulders are not thrown upwards or backwards so as to displace the tape. The candidate will then be directed to empty his chest of air as much as is possible. This is best done by continuous whistling with the lips as long as sound can be produced. The tape is carefully gathered in during the process, and when the minimum measurement is reached it is recorded. The candidate will then be directed to inflate his chest to its utmost capacity. This maximum measurement will likewise be noted. The girth with the chest fully expanded and the range of expansion between the minimum and the maximum will then be recorded.

5. The hearing must be good.
6. The speech without impediment.
7. The teeth in good order, i.e., decayed or broken teeth must be properly stopped or crowned, and deficient teeth replaced by artificial teeth where necessary for effective mastication.
8. The chest must be well formed, the lungs and heart sound.
9. Rupture, hydrocele, varicocele, varicose veins in a severe degree, or other condition likely to cause inefficiency will disqualify a candidate, unless such condition is cured by operation.
10. The limbs, feet, and toes must be well formed and developed, with free and perfect motion of all the joints.
11. A candidate must have no congenital malformation or defect likely to interfere with efficiency.
12. A candidate must not be the subject of chronic skin disease.
13. Evidence of previous acute or chronic disease pointing to an impaired constitution will disqualify.
14. The Regulations as to the standard of vision required are shown separately for each department. In all cases of "colour blindness" a note of the same will be made on the candidate's papers.

Candidates may, if they wish it, undergo a preliminary examination by the Medical Board, which meets at the India Office every Tuesday, under the following conditions :—

(a) Applications must be addressed to the Under-Secretary of State, India Office, Whitehall, London, accompanied by a fee of two guineas, and a statement as to the particular appointment which the candidate desires to obtain.

(b) Candidates must pay their travelling expenses.

(c) Candidates considered to be unfit by the Medical Board at this preliminary examination are not bound to accept its opinion, but may, at their own risk, continue their studies with the knowledge that they will have to submit themselves for a final medical examination by the Medical Board, prior to the examination, or to their appointment.

(d) On the other hand, it must be distinctly understood that the preliminary examination by the Medical Board is held solely for the candidate's information, and that, if after that examination he is reported to be apparently fit, he has not on that account any claim to be accepted as physically fit when he presents himself for the final Medical Examination, upon which alone his acceptance or rejection will depend. Candidates may be considered fit for the Service at the preliminary examination, but may be found at the final examination to be unfit, either on account of some physical defect which did not exist or passed undetected at the preliminary examination, or for other reasons.

REGULATIONS AS TO THE STANDARD OF VISION.

1. If myopia in one or both eyes exists, a candidate may be passed provided the ametropia does not exceed 3.5D, and if, with correcting glasses not exceeding 3.5D, the acuteness of vision in one eye equals $\frac{5}{6}$ and in the other $\frac{5}{6}$, there being normal range of accommodation with the glasses.

2. Myopic astigmatism does not disqualify a candidate, provided the lens, or the combined spherical and cylindrical lenses, required to correct the error of refraction, does not exceed 3.5D; the acuteness of vision in one eye, when corrected, being equal to $\frac{5}{6}$, and in the other $\frac{5}{6}$, together with normal range of accommodation with the correcting glasses, there being no evidence of progressive disease in the choroid or retina.

3. A candidate having total hypermetropia not exceeding 4D is not disqualified, provided the sight in one eye (when under the influence of atropine) equals $\frac{5}{6}$, and in the other eye equals $\frac{5}{6}$, with + 4 D glasses, or any lower power.

4. Hypermetropic astigmatism does not disqualify, provided the lens or combined lenses required to cover the error of refraction do not exceed 4 D, and that the sight of one eye equals $\frac{5}{6}$, and the other $\frac{5}{6}$, with or without such lens or lenses.

5. A candidate having a defect of vision arising from nebula of the cornea is disqualified if the sight of one eye be less than $\frac{6}{12}$. In such a case the better eye must be emmetropic. Defects of vision arising from pathological or other changes in the deeper structures of either eye, which are not referred to in these rules, may exclude a candidate.

6. Squint or any morbid condition, subject to the risk of aggravation or recurrence, in either eye, may cause the rejection of a candidate. Any imperfection of the colour sense is a disqualification for appointment to the engineering branch of the Railway Department. In other cases the existence of imperfection of colour sense will be noted on the candidate's papers.

FOR ALL APPOINTMENTS UNDER THE INDIAN GOVERNMENT A DECLARATION,

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following resolution, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 3rd May 1919, are republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

JAILS.

No. 63.

Simla, the 28th April 1919.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Home Department.

During the session of the Imperial Legislative Council at Delhi in the cold weather of 1913-14, a resolution was adopted recommending that a joint Commission of officials and non-officials be appointed to investigate the whole subject of jail administration and to suggest improvements in the light of the experience of the West. Such a course is consistent with the manner in which prison management has developed in this country. Four general enquiries have already been held, in the years 1838, 1864, 1877 and 1888-89, respectively, into the whole question of the administration of jails. There have, of course, been numerous independent discussions and declarations of policy on special points, either of a general character or in relation particularly to individual provinces, but the main lines of advance followed have been the result of the reports then submitted. This, therefore, is the first reason for advocating such a procedure now, namely, that it has yielded beneficial results in the past and that a considerable period of time has elapsed since resort was last had to a general enquiry.

2. But an even stronger ground than this exists. Without in any way desiring to underestimate the valuable results which have accrued from the labours of these different committees, and while fully cognizant of the great advances which have been made in jail management, thanks to the energetic efforts of local Governments, the Governor General in Council considers that, as a general statement, it is not unfair to say that attention has mainly been directed hitherto to the improvement of prison administration on lines and standards which in recent times have undergone considerable modification, at any rate in the West. This was, indeed, inevitably the case. When an attempt was first made in 1838 to deal with the subject comprehensively and thoroughly, the foundations of an efficient system had practically still to be laid. Diversity of practice in different provinces was the rule rather than the exception, and this complaint recurs even in connection with the latest enquiry of 1888-89. The Prisons Act of 1894 (Act IX of 1894) was the first recognition by the Legislature that in certain respects uniformity must be insisted upon, and its enactment was the result of Surgeon-Major Lethbridge's recommendations, as subsequently re-examined in 1891-92 by a departmental committee. In appointing the committee of 1888-89, the Government of India (vide their resolution nos. 458—464, dated the 9th October 1888) expressly stated that they had no wish to reconsider the principles laid down by the three preceding investigations, and so great has been the leeway to be made up in what may be termed the essentials of any prison system, e.g., an efficient jail service, proper buildings and diet scales, suitable forms of labour, and the classification of prison offences and punishments, etc., etc., that progress in these directions has absorbed much of the attention of the capable officers to whom the control of the Department is now entrusted. In all these directions a great advance has been achieved, but a review of the development of prison administration in the various provinces, in order to see what has been accomplished and what still remains to be done, would naturally form part of any further enquiry now held.

3. But, over and above this, something more is required. Ideas on the subject of the treatment of prisoners have advanced rapidly in recent years, largely under the stimulus of the quinquennial International Conferences, of which the first was held in London in 1872 and the latest in America in 1910, and the deliberations of these bodies point to the importance of reformation as a main end to be sought for in a large number of cases. The Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1908, and the Children's Act of the latter year are all instances of modern English legislation on the subject, of which the Borstal system (with the after care Borstal Association) and the encouragement given to Discharged Prisoners Aid Societies are conspicuous results. The Government of India are well aware of the differences in prison practice in England and India, and they do not desire in any way to imply that all the latest experiments of the West are necessarily suitable for introduction in the East, but they are of opinion that the subject well merits detailed expert examination if the prevalent system in this country is to be saved from the reproach that it is failing to keep pace with modern ideas. It is true that in various provinces experiments with the Borstal system and with preventive methods as applied to criminal tribes are being made; but action is being taken by provinces individually, and the scrutiny and co-ordination of the results attained are likely to ensure that lines of future policy are defined and mistakes avoided in the early stages. Exact uniformity of procedure in all provinces is no doubt impossible, and possibly undesirable, but, with adaptation in degree and detail to varying local conditions, there is no reason why the general principles governing the treatment of criminals should not be the same throughout the country.

4. There remains the very important subject of transportation, about which much has been written in the past and into a discussion of the merits of which it is not proposed to enter, but recent enquiries and events have led the Government of India to doubt whether the administration of the Andamans as a penal settlement is not susceptible, with advantage, of material change, or whether in fact the continuance of the Settlement in its present shape is in itself expedient. An enquiry in this direction may be expected to yield results of special value.

5. Subsequent to the discussion in the Legislative Council referred to above, the Government of India consulted all Local Governments regarding the proposed enquiry into prison administration in India and found that opinion was unanimously in favour of such an undertaking. They then secured the consent of His Majesty's Secretary of State to the appointment of a Committee of Enquiry and the steps for the constitution of the Committee were in progress on the date of the outbreak of war. That event rendered the conduct of the proposed enquiries outside India impossible and the project for appointing a Committee had to be for the time abandoned. Experience of the past 5 years has emphasized the necessity for this enquiry and the Government of India have now resolved, with the concurrence of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State, to take up the matter again. Accordingly it has been decided now to appoint a Committee to investigate the whole system of prison administration in India with special reference to recent legislation and experience in Western countries. The constitution of the Committee will be as follows :—

Chairman.

The HON'BLE SIR ALEXANDER CARDEW, K.C.S.I.,

Member of Executive Council, Madras.

Members.

The HON'BLE SIR JAMES DUBOULAY, K.C.I.E., C.S.I.,

Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL J. JACKSON, C.I.E., I.M.S.,

Inspector-General of Prisons, Bombay.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL SIR WALTER J. BUCHANAN, K.C.I.E., I.M.S.,

Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal.

KHAN BAHADUR HAMID HUSSAIN,

Delhi.

MR. D. M. DURAI RAJA, B.A. B.L.,

Madras.

MR. N. G. MITCHELL-INNES,

Inspector of Prisons, Home Office, London.

Secretary.

MR. D. JOHNSTONE, I.C.S.

This Committee will assemble at an early date in London, and after examining the working of the prison system of Great Britain, and possibly of other countries including the United States of America, will return to India and, in the course of the next cold weather, visit the various provinces of India and the Andamans. The Committee's inquiries will have particular reference to the following subjects, namely :—

- (i) the efficacy and appropriateness of the existing systems of prison administration and restraint on liberty in India, including the Andamans and any settlements constituted under the Criminal Tribes Act, 1911;
- (ii) the possibility of strengthening the reformatory influence of prison administration and discriminating in regard to the treatment of criminals of different classes and ages; and
- (iii) the best means of assisting prisoners after release to regain a position in society.

The Governor General in Council does not propose to attempt an enumeration of the different points which, under these main heads, should occupy the attention of the Committee but, generally, it will be its duty to consider how far the methods which have been shown by recent experience in other countries to be beneficial in the treatment of prisoners, can usefully be applied to Indian conditions; how far the existing Indian prison system is susceptible of improvement; and what steps should be taken to render it both more deterrent to crime and more reformatory in its influence.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India and that a copy be forwarded to local Governments and Administrations, the Departments of the Government of India, and the Superintendent, Port Blair, for information.

The 1st May 1919.

No. 71.—The services of Major W. G. Hamilton, I.M.S., are replaced at the disposal of the Government of Bengal, with effect from the date on which he is relieved of his military duties.

GOODS ON THE EXPORT FREE LIST.

With reference to the notice appearing on page 394 of the "Board of Trade Journal" of the 20th instant in which it was stated that guarantees against re-export would not be required in respect of certain goods, it is to be noted that the guarantees referred to are those usually required for exports to neutral countries in Europe in connection with the blockade of the Central Empires, viz., Netherlands Oversea Trust certificates, Danish Merchants' Guild guarantees, and so forth.

This concession does not affect any special guarantee unconnected with the blockade which may be required as a condition of the export of certain goods, such as opium and opium alkaloids.

It should be noted that the heading on the free list "Iron and Steel Manufactures" does not cover manufactures containing more than 10 per cent. in weight of metals other than iron or steel.

The heading "Machinery, etc.," which covers machinery made of any material provided it does not contain more than 50 per cent. copper or brass, remains unaltered.

1. Three classes of students are admitted for study in the College —
(a) "Regular," or those who enter for the full University course.

The admission to this class is restricted to students (male and female) who are natives of, or whose parents are domiciled in, the area within the territorial limits of the Calcutta University and the province of Bihar and Orissa.

- (b) "Casual," or those who enter for selected or isolated subjects.

(a) "Regular Class" is the I. Sc. Pass certificate of the Calcutta University.

(b) "Casual."—The Matriculation or Entrance Pass certificate of the Calcutta or other Indian Universities, or the Pass certificate of an examination equivalent to the Matriculation or Entrance Examination.

3. The session commences on the 15th June.

4. All new students must apply for admission to the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, in the prescribed form available in his office, before the 25th May, except in the case of Biharis, Uriyas, Chota-Nagpuris and Assamese students, who should apply to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of their respective provinces for admission within such date as the latter may prescribe.

Selected candidates must pay the following fees on or before the 10th June, failing which their names will be struck off the selected list:—

			Rs.	A.
Admission fee	20	0
Fees for Summer term	62	8
Athletic Club fee	1	0
Total			83	8

5. The number of regular students to be admitted each year is generally 120, but the Principal may, at his discretion, increase or decrease this number. Preference for admission will usually be given to candidates who have superior qualifications, but the final selection lies entirely with the Principal.

One-fourth of the total number to be admitted shall be Muhammadans. Twelve candidates will be nominated by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Bihar and Orissa and six candidates by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Assam. These candidates must possess the qualifications mentioned in rule 2 (a). In addition, the Bihar and Orissa Government will nominate six scholars, who, after 1918, must possess the I. Sc. Pass certificate. These nominations must reach the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, before the 10th June in each year, failing which the Principal will fill up vacancies with local candidates.

6. Female students of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Assam and Burma, belonging to the Calcutta University will be admitted to the College, provided they possess the requisite preliminary qualification and provided there is a vacancy in the Surnomoyee Hostel in which all female students must reside.

7. Failed students must apply for admission and pay fees before the 15th May, otherwise their prior claim lapses.

8. All regular students must pay an annual fee of Rs. 125 in two instalments, viz., Rs. 62-8 for the Summer term and Rs. 62-8 for the Winter term. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

9. The fees for each term are to be paid in one instalment. Except in the case of new students, the fees for Summer term are due on the 15th June, and those for the Winter term on the 1st November, and must be paid on those dates or on such subsequent dates as the Principal may direct, after which a daily fine of annas 4 will be levied along with the fee in each case of default.

10. All regular students excepting the female students must pay an annual fee of Re. 1 to the Medical College Athletic Club along with the fees for the Summer term.

11. Students relegated to a further course of study after their failure at the Preliminary Scientific M. B. and at the First M. B. Examinations shall pay Rs. 80 for the whole session in one instalment by the 1st June.

12. Students taking up subjects outside the curriculum of the year in which they are studying shall pay Rs. 30 for each such subject, including lectures and practical classes.

13. The fees for Casual students or for certificates issued to Regular students leaving the College before completing their study, or for those issued to military students, shall be Rs. 40 per each course of lectures and practical classes and Rs. 30 for every three months of hospital practice.

14. Students who fail at the Final M. B. Examination shall pay fees for the whole session at the following rates in one instalment by the 1st June :—

	Rs.
For one subject	25
.. two subjects	50
.. three or more subjects	75

15. In calculating the sum to be paid under rule 12 by a regular student, the amount of College fees paid by him, or in the case of a student enjoying a stipendiary scholarship and free tuition, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

16. The fees payable by a Muhammadan student requiring certificates in the same way will be calculated on the same principle, i.e., he will be allowed a deduction for the full annual fee, half of which has been paid by him self and half by the Mohsin Fund.

17. Students of the military class requiring certificates in the same way will be required to pay the rate of fees laid down in paragraph 12 for the full curriculum or for such portion as they have attended. No deduction will be made in this case as they are not free students in the sense in which that term is defined in Bengal Government Resolution (Education) No. 601 of the 7th December 1880.

18. No fees are payable by female students.

19. The fee for post-graduates undergoing a course of training in the Pathological, Bacteriological, Physiological or Chemical Laboratory is Rs 90 for a period not exceeding six months.

20. Holders of a stipendiary scholarship of a value less than Rs. 20 per mensem are not required to pay the annual fee of Rs. 125 for the year in which they hold a scholarship. All other scholarship-holders shall pay the same fees as regular students.

*Questions and Answers.QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.*LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 1.

The following questions which had been starred were put and answered :—

By the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur:—

I.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) when the Calcutta hackney-carriage department will be taken over by the Commissioner of Police from the Corporation ; and

(ii) whether the entire staff of the present hackney-carriage department will be taken over by the Commissioner of Police?

Calcutta

Commissioner
of Police

(b) If it is not proposed to take over the entire staff, will the Government be pleased to state what provision will be made for those of the staff who will be thrown out of employment?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

“(a) (i) It is proposed that the Commissioner of Police should take over charge of the department when the sanction of the Government of India to the entertainment of the necessary staff has been obtained.

(ii) The answer is in the negative.

(b) The matter is under consideration.”

II.

(a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to a memorandum by Mr. Nilambara Mukherjee, C.I.E., retired vice-chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta and formerly Finance Minister, Kashmir, elaborating a new “ scientific scheme of public finance ”?

New scientific
finance.

(b) Is it a fact that Sir Daniel Hamilton recorded a testimony in relation to its introduction to the effect that the proposal of Mr. Nilambara Mukherjee is the only scientific system?

(c) Is it also a fact that the author of the scheme alleges that benefit would accrue both to the Imperial and Provincial Government?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they are considering the matter and whether they propose to take any steps in the matter?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Donald:—

“(a) Government have seen a copy of the memorandum referred to.

(b) Sir D. Hamilton's views are contained in the following extract from a letter written by him to Mr. Mukherjee :—

‘ I understand your proposal to be that Government should withdraw all silver money from circulation, and print and issue in its stead, whatever paper money may be required to keep every able-bodied man and woman fully employed on productive work, leaving the small metallic money to help out the paper.

What you propose is, in my opinion, the only scientific form of currency, but whether it would be wise to withdraw all silver money immediately is a point on which there is room for difference of opinion.’

Questions and Answers.

(c) The intention of the scheme is the creation of money exclusively in inconvertible paper currency notes to an extent not exceeding the sum total of the rupee values of the natural assets of the country. It is claimed that benefit would thus accrue to the whole Empire.

(d) The scheme has been prepared for the consideration of the Government of India, and as currency problems are a matter for that Government this Government do not propose to take any action."

(a) Is it a fact that the reorganisation scheme of 1910 has adversely affected the pay and prospects of the lower grade assistants of the Bengal Secretariat who entered that office long before the reorganization scheme and of those assistants who were transferred from the Eastern Bengal and Assam Secretariat in April, 1912?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken to remove the hardship in the case of the lower grade assistants who entered the Secretariat before the reorganization scheme of 1910 or were transferred from the Eastern Bengal and Assam Secretariat in April, 1912?

(c) What is the pay of a typist and of a lower grade assistant in the Secretariat?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Donald:—

"(a) and (b) In 1910 the clerical staff of the Bengal Secretariat was reorganised and a lower division and an upper division were constituted. It was then laid down that up to 1915 half the appointments to the upper division should be made by promotion from the lower division, and thereafter the lower division should ordinarily have no claim to promotion to the upper division. The position was that the lower division was intended for clerks doing routine work only, and the orders of 1910 contemplated the promotion to the upper division only of clerks fit to undertake the more important work of the upper division. In December 1913 assistants in the lower division submitted a memorial to Government complaining of their prospects and position. The memorial was duly considered; it was found that the memorialists had a genuine grievance, as between 1910 and 1913 promotion from the lower to the upper division had not been in accordance with the orders of 1910, and instructions were issued with a view to the removal of this grievance. The assistants again memorialised Government in 1917, and it was held that the lower division clerks had no case for complaint except that in the case of two departments orders passed in 1910 and 1913 regarding the promotion of such clerks to the upper division had not been fully adhered to. Steps have been taken to remedy this grievance and promotion is now being made in these cases.

(c) The pay of a typist is Rs. 40—2—80 per mensem and that of a lower division clerk varies from Rs. 40 to Rs. 100."

By the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur:—

IV.

The post of
Calcutta.

(a) Is it a fact that a member of the Indian Civil Service has been appointed to the post of Collector of Calcutta?

(b) Was not the post hitherto reserved for a member of the provincial executive service, who was also in charge of the treasury?

Questions and Answers.

(c) If the answers to (a) and (b) are in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to state why a departure has been made in the present case?

(d) Will the Government be also pleased to state who will do the work of the treasury officer under the new arrangement?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

“(a) Yes.

(b) No. The appointment of Collector of land revenue, Calcutta, is reserved by statute for a member of the Indian Civil Service. Until recently the post was held by the Collector of the 24-Parganas ex officio and the functions of deputy collector of land revenue, Collector of Stamp revenue and Collector of Excise in Calcutta were exercised by an officer selected from the provincial executive service. Another deputy collector was ordinarily employed as treasury officer and on other miscellaneous work, but in 1916 the deputy collector of land revenue was relieved of most of his duties in connection with excise and no second deputy collector has since been employed.

(c) The arrangement has been found unsatisfactory, and in view of the increasing complexity of the work, particularly in the matter of excise administration, and the magnitude of the financial interests involved, it has been considered necessary to appoint a member of the Indian Civil Service as whole-time Collector of Calcutta. This officer will also be able to discharge a number of other functions which in an ordinary district are performed by the District Officer, but which in Calcutta have hitherto devolved upon the Commissioner of Police.

(d) A deputy collector has been selected to hold charge of the treasury and to perform routine duties in the Calcutta Collectorate.”

By the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur:—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in contemplation to sanction grain compensation allowance to all classes of employes under Government drawing pay up to Rs. 30 per mensem? Grain compensation allowance.

(b) If so, what amount will an individual employé get per mensem as grain compensation allowance under the scheme?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Donald:—

“(a) and (b) No, but a proposal has been made to the Government of India for the grant of a war bonus to such employes.”

By the Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray:—

*VI.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state how many new newspapers, periodicals and journals, with political aims, have been started during the last three years, stating their names and also the amount of security which has been taken from each of them under the Indian Press Act, 1910 (I of 1910)? Newspapers, periodicals, etc., started with political aims during the last three years.

(b) Is it a fact that no security has been taken from newspapers published under European management?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

“(a) As it is not clearly understood what is meant by the expression “political aims,” a statement of all newspapers, periodicals and journals

(b) As the cadre stands at present the maximum number of European or Anglo-Indian inspectors who may be promoted to the rank of deputy superintendent is seven."

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state the domicile of all permanent and officiating European Deputy Superintendents of Police prior to their being appointed or promoted to be Deputy Superintendents of Police?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"(a) At present three European or Anglo-Indian inspectors are officiating as deputy superintendents.

(b) No. No declaration is required as to the domicile of candidates for appointment to the rank of sergeant or inspector. This is only required when such officers are promoted to the rank of deputy superintendent.

of Police.

Are the officiating Deputy Superintendents of Police gazetted officers? If so, are their appointments, postings, transfers, etc., made by Government and published in the Calcutta Gazette, like those of gazetted officers of other Departments and of permanent Deputy Superintendents of Police? If not, what are the reasons?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"Officiating deputy superintendents of police are gazetted officers. Their appointments, postings, and transfers are made by the Inspector-General of Police, to whom the power was delegated in 1911."

(a) Is it a fact that the Inspector-General of Police has been vested with special powers to make the appointments of officiating Deputy Superintendents?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state the reason for this innovation in the case of the Police Department, while in other services Government retain the power in their own hands regarding gazetted officers?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"(a) Yes.

(b) The Police Department is not the only department in which the powers of making such appointments has been delegated to the head of the department. In the Education Department the Director of Public Instruction has been empowered to make appointments to the two lowest grades of the Provincial Educational Service. Such delegations are made for greater convenience in the transaction of business."

of Police.

(a) Is there any definite rule regarding the selection of inspectors to officiate as Deputy Superintendents of Police?

(b) Is efficiency or seniority the test of selection?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"(a) Yes. A copy of the rules is laid on the table.

(b) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the rules."

Rules referred to in the answer by the Hon'ble Mr. KERR to question No. 10 (Unstarred) asked by the Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA, at the Council Meeting of the 7th April, 1919, regarding the system of selection of Inspectors for promotion to the rank of Deputy Superintendent.

The attention of Deputy Inspectors-General and Superintendents of Police is drawn to rule 18, Part I of the Police Regulations regarding the appointment of Deputy Superintendents. Clause (b) of the rule deals with the promotion of Inspectors to the rank of Deputy Superintendent, but it does not lay down definite instructions as to the manner of selection.

Questions and Answers.

with the result that there is no uniformity of procedure. The Inspector-General has given the matter his careful consideration and, with the approval of Government, the following provisional rules are issued for the guidance of all officers concerned :—

(1) No Inspector shall be appointed to act as Deputy Superintendent unless all the local officers concerned (the Superintendent, District Magistrate and Deputy Inspector-General) are unanimous in their opinion that he has the necessary qualifications for the post of permanent Deputy Superintendent and is likely to prove a success as such. In submitting their nominations, the local officers and the Deputy Inspector-General must clearly understand that no officer should be nominated for promotion who does not possess a thoroughly clean record as regards honesty and who is not of marked ability. The name of an officer is not to be submitted solely on the ground of seniority, but what is required, is seniority combined with merit and it is rather the latter than the former that should be the determining factor. If seniority is strictly observed it will not be possible to promote especially smart junior officers, and this will practically mean that the cadre of promoted Inspectors will consist of officers of only ordinary intelligence and capability. It is, therefore, essential that in selecting officers for this important post it should not be sufficient for a possible candidate to be able to point to a clean sheet. Most Inspectors can do this. Apart from the question of conduct an officer must possess qualifications and ability such as will enable him to perform the duties required of a superior officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent. If regard is had only to good conduct as the sole qualification, the principle of selection ceases to exist.

(2) The Inspector-General will interview all the officers who are nominated, and if he is satisfied that they are suitable, their names will be entered in a provisional list and they will be appointed to act as vacancies occur.

(3) After an officer has acted for a year the local officers and the Deputy Inspector-General will be required to submit a full report on his work and conduct with a definite opinion whether his outturn of work is of the standard required of a Deputy Superintendent. If the report is favourable his name will be entered in an "approved list" and he will be allowed to continue for another year provided there is a vacancy for him. After an officer has acted for two years the local officers and the Deputy Inspector-General will be required to submit a further report regarding his work and if it is found that he has maintained his efficiency throughout, the fact that he is fit for permanent promotion shall be noted against his name in the "approved list" from which all sub. pro tem and permanent promotions shall ordinarily be made in order of seniority. Ordinarily a Superintendent or Deputy Inspector-General should be in position to report after a year on the fitness or otherwise of an Inspector to be placed on the "approved list" and it is only in very exceptional cases, which will have to be clearly explained, that a second year's trial will be permitted. If the Superintendent watches the work of an Officiating Deputy Superintendent as he should, there ought to be no difficulty in arriving at a conclusion at the end of a year. The Deputy Inspector-General should have a list of the officiating men in his charge with a column showing the date on which the year's trial will expire and he should make a point of examining their work within the year so as to be in a position to give a decided opinion. It should be understood that transfers of officers under trial should be avoided as far as possible. If an officer serves under two or three Superintendents in the course of a year, difficulties will arise and if his transfer is essential in the interests of the public service, the Superintendent under whom he is employed shall at once submit a report to the Deputy Inspector-General for the period he served under him.

Questions and Answers.

(4) If after a year's work as an acting Deputy Superintendent an officer is found to be unfit or unsuitable, he will revert to his substantive rank and will ordinarily not be allowed to act again. If, however, his case is found to be doubtful and the local officers and the Deputy Inspector-General are unable to express a definite opinion regarding his fitness or otherwise for promotion to gazetted rank, he will be allowed to act for a further period, but in no case shall the name of an officer be ordinarily retained in the "approved list" for more than two years unless he can show within that period that he is fit for promotion.

(5) All acting Deputy Superintendents shall be required to pass the prescribed departmental examinations within two years unless exempted by Government from passing in any subject or unless they have already passed a corresponding examination in any of the subjects prescribed under the rules for the departmental examination of subordinate police officers.

(6) Clause (j) of the rule lays down that Deputy Superintendents shall be on probation for two years and that at the end of that period, if favourably reported on, if they have passed the prescribed departmental examinations, they will be confirmed. Under the existing system an Inspector who has already acted as Deputy Superintendent for two years or more is required to serve the full period of probation on being promoted to a permanent vacancy. This is unnecessary in the case of an officer who has already shown by his work and conduct that he is fit for permanent promotion. In future, if an officer has acted as Deputy Superintendent for two years and has passed the prescribed departmental examinations he will be promoted permanently if the vacancy is permanent. In the case of an officer who has not acted as Deputy Superintendent for full two years his period of probation shall count from the date on which he began to act as such.

2. The cases of all existing acting Deputy Superintendents will be regulated by the foregoing rules.

Deputy Superintendents
of Police.

(a) What is the principle of selection of permanent Deputy Superintendents of Police from the ranks of officiating Deputy Superintendents of Police?

(b) When an officer is selected to officiate on the ground of efficiency, is the length of the officiating period taken into consideration for permanent promotion, or is age or seniority in the service held as the criterion for selection?

(c) What principle has of late been followed in making these selections?

(d) Do the Government recognise the principle that efficiency in their work as officiating Deputy Superintendents of Police should be the only test in making these appointments?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to publish the names of officiating Deputy Superintendents of Police, noting how long each has been officiating and in what vacancy each has been provided with the acting appointment?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"(a) (b) (c) and (d) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the rules which have been laid on the table in reply to question No. 10 (unstarred).

(e) A list of the officers who were officiating as deputy superintendents on the 1st January, together with the date from which each has been acting, is laid on the table. It is not possible to state in what vacancy each officer has been provided with an acting appointment, as acting arrangements are made in leave vacancies in the cadre and also to fill deficiencies in the rank of assistant superintendents, and the chain of arrangements is constantly fluctuating."

Saraswati.

(a) Are the Government aware that there is a wide and acute feeling of resentment amongst Hindus owing to the action of the Principal of St. Paul's College, Calcutta, in desecrating an image of the Hindu goddess—the Saraswati? If so, are the Government considering the desirability of instituting an inquiry into the circumstances of the case?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of taking steps to insure that the religious scruples and beliefs of the students are not interfered with or disregarded in the educational institutions under missionary organisations?

Questions and Answers.

(c) Will the Government be pleased to furnish a list of the educational institutions and hostels attached thereto, which are under the control and management of religious bodies and missionary organisations receiving Government grants, noting in each case the amount of such grant?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

"(a) The reply to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. Government do not consider it necessary to make a further enquiry into the matter as it has already formed the subject of judicial proceedings.

(b) The incident at St. Paul's College was exceptional and Government do not consider it necessary to take any steps of the nature suggested in anticipation of attempts to disregard religious feelings and beliefs.

(c) A statement is laid on the table."

(a) What arrangements are there for the teaching of needlework and domestic economy in girls' high and middle schools?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of having specially trained teachers in these subjects, particularly for the Government high schools for girls?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

"(a) Needlework is taught in all high and middle schools for girls, and the teachers are well qualified. The position with regard to domestic economy is not so satisfactory. In Eastern Bengal, apart from the Eden High School where lectures are given on hygiene, first aid, home nursing and infant welfare, little is done. In West Bengal most high schools and all middle schools under mission management teach cooking and various household duties.

(b) For needlework the present arrangements are adequate. The need of efficient teaching in domestic economy is fully recognised, but the comparatively slow progress is due to the lack of properly qualified teachers. Arrangements for special training are under consideration."

What will be the nature and scope of the Kala-azar survey for which a non-recurring provision of rupees eleven thousand has been made in the budget for 1919-20?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

"A Deputy Sanitary Commissioner possessed of special qualifications in tropical medicine, together with a small staff and travelling laboratory, will be employed on the inquiry. Circulars are being issued to all dispensaries in Eastern Bengal to ensure that special particulars will be recorded of all cases showing the typical symptoms of kala-azar; i.e., enlarged and hardened spleen and great emaciation with irregularly recurring chronic attacks of fever resistant to ordinary treatment. There are 217 dispensaries in Eastern Bengal (Dacca and Chittagong Divisions) and the staff will first visit those dispensaries from which cases of kala-azar have already been reported, and after examining such cases as attend, will pay visits to the villages from which the patients come with a view to discovering whether or not other cases exist. After having visited and mapped out the prevalence of the disease in the areas known to be affected, other areas from which reports of suspected cases have been received will be visited in turn and examined in the same way. An opportunity will be taken during the inquiry of demonstrating to the local dispensary medical officers the most recent methods of diagnosis and treatment, and, where necessary, arrangements will be made as far as possible to see that measures of prevention are adopted against the spread of the disease. It is estimated that the inquiry will occupy at least a year."

With regard to the provision made in the budget for 1919-20 for the appointment of a special officer to scrutinize college and school buildings from a hygienic point of view, will the Government be pleased to state their scheme in this matter and the circumstances and considerations which have prompted them to make the appointment?

Special officer to consider hygienic conditions of school and college buildings.

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

"The appointment is to be made in accordance with the recommendations of an expert committee appointed in 1913 to inquire into questions connected with school and college hygiene. This committee commented severely upon the insanitary condition of educational buildings and hostels, and pointed out the need for expert supervision. It is considered desirable not only that the condition of existing buildings should receive careful scrutiny, and that any serious defects that may be brought to light should be removed or remedied, but also that closer attention should be paid than the present staff of the Sanitary Commissioner can afford to the planning of all school and hostel buildings in future with strict regard to sanitary requirements. It is accordingly proposed that a Deputy Sanitary Commissioner should be appointed as an experimental measure for 5 years to inspect existing school buildings and hostels from the sanitary and hygienic point of view, to draw up general directions for the lighting, ventilation and sanitation of new school buildings and to scrutinize all plans for new buildings. He will also be in general charge of the medical inspection of school children, make special studies of the diseases to which children are particularly liable and suggest suitable measures for their prevention."

What is the programme of Government in regard to the experiments in connection with hand-loom and other industries, for which a non-recurring grant of rupees three thousand has been provided in the budget for 1919-20?

Hand-loom & other industries

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Donald:—

"The provision has been made for experiments on a small scale in order to ascertain whether textiles such as tapes and doosuties for army tents can actually be woven on hand-loom."

With regard to the provision of Rs. 5,500 in the budget for 1919-20, for a temporary establishment in connection with census of cattle, will the Government be pleased to explain the nature of the scheme of work?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"It has been decided, under instructions from the Government of India, that a census of livestock, ploughs and carts should be taken in the Presidency during the year 1919-20 and that it should be repeated at quinquennial intervals thereafter. Accordingly a census will be taken in this Presidency in January, 1920. The census in villages will be carried out by the agency of panchayats under the general supervision of the sub-divisional officer or the deputy collector who may be deputed by the district officer for census duty in each sub-division. In municipal areas the census will be conducted by the municipalities, while on tea gardens the managers will be requested to undertake the enumeration. The abstract totals will be computed in the office of the Director of Agriculture and the temporary establishment, provided for in the budget and referred to in the question, is required for that work. Copies of the proposed schedules and instructions are laid on the Library table.

For information regarding the last cattle census in 1912, the Hon'ble Member is referred to "A Survey and Census of the Cattle of Bengal" by Mr. J. R. Blackwood, I.C.S., published by Government in the year 1915."

(d) If so, what is the remuneration fixed?

(e) If the answer to these allegations be in the negative, will the Government be pleased to make a full statement as to the facts?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

(a) and (b) Allegations were published in the Bangabasi newspaper regarding the conduct of inspector Dwijendra Chandra Ghose in connection with the investigation of certain hát-looting cases in the Rangpur district. An inquiry was held into the matter by Mr. J. N. Gupta, then District Magistrate of Rangpur, who reported that the charges were unfounded. The inspector was then permitted to sue the paper for damages.

(c) Yes.

(d) The remuneration has not yet been settled but will be in accordance with the scale fixed in the Standing Counsel's agreement.

Are the Government in a position to give an estimate of the amount of probable total capital expenditure under the Public Works Department, for police purposes, by which the assignment for the reorganization of the subordinate police made by the Government of India will be ultimately exceeded and which, as stated in the current financial statement, will no longer be shown under the expenditure head "Police"?

Estimated excess of capital expenditure for police purposes over the assignment.

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"The special grant given by the Government of India for non-recurring expenditure in connection with the reorganization of the police in the area which now forms the Presidency of Bengal amounted to Rs. 22,52,000. The whole of this sum has now been spent, and any further expenditure on police buildings will have to be met from provincial revenues and provided for in the Civil Works budget. No final estimate of the total cost of putting the police buildings of this Presidency on a satisfactory footing has been drawn up, but the estimated cost of the works administratively approved for execution when funds are available amounts to over Rs. 80 lakhs."

"(a) In certain villages purduhnashin ladies (Hindus and Muhammadans) gather together a number of pupils and teach them in their own houses. (ii) If not, what are the respective numbers and are they adequate to perform the duties expected of them?

(g) Are the Government aware that having regard to the present conditions of life in India the salaries now paid are not considered adequate?

(h) Is it a fact that some of the teachers are, at present, after more than 20 years' service, drawing a salary of Rs. 250 per mensem only, and that they will be entitled to a pension of Rs. 125 per mensem only, after serving the full term required to entitle them to a pension.

(i) Is it a fact that there is considerable difficulty in obtaining the services of competent teachers for the staffs of these schools?

(j) Are the Government considering the desirability of taking steps to insure that these schools shall be maintained in condition of efficiency in so far as that depends upon competent and properly paid masters and mistresses?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

“(a) Yes.

(b) The Victoria School has 190 boys on the rolls, including 17 small boys, who are taught at the Dow Hill School. The Dow Hill School has 107 girls.

(c) (i) Victoria School—11 teachers, excluding the headmaster and drill instructor.

Dow Hill School—12 teachers, excluding the headmistress, three music mistresses and a drill mistress.

(ii) The Victoria School has at present 9 teachers, excluding the headmaster and the gymnastic instructor, and there are therefore 19 scholars per teacher, but the ratio is not really so high, as the headmaster does a good deal of teaching work. The Dow Hill School has at present 10 teachers, excluding the headmistress, the three music mistresses and the drill mistress, and there are approximately 12 scholars per teacher.

(d) There are no such Government schools in England.

(e) (i) and (ii) No. The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer to (c) (i) and (ii) above. The staff in both schools is at present not up to full strength.

(f) Two statements are laid on the table. At the Victoria School the pay of the teachers is lower than in schools like St. Paul's, Darjeeling, but the average pay of the teachers of the Dow Hill School is about the same as the average in similar girls' schools in the Presidency. No information is available regarding schools outside Bengal.

(g), (h), (i) and (j) The answer is in the affirmative.”

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler ; Maulvi Abul Kasem.LIST OF BUSINESS, ITEMS Nos. 2 and 3.*THE BENGAL VILLAGE SELF-GOVERNMENT BILL, 1919.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler moved that the further report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919, be taken into consideration.

He said :

"There is a long list of amendments before the Council, but I hope that it will be found that it is somewhat shorter than it looks, as various amendments are more or less identical and others are merely consequential. However, in view of the fact that there is a lengthy agenda paper before us, I do not propose to make any further remarks on the Bill at this stage."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 1 (APPENDIX TO THE LIST OF BUSINESS).

In the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved the following amendment :—

that in sub-clause (1) of clause 1 for the word "village" the word "rural" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Member has not given any arguments in support of the change suggested, which, in effect, is one of drafting, and as a general principle, I think that matters of drafting are best left to the Legislative Department and the Select Committee. The facts are that in the Bill originally introduced the title and preamble were as follows :—

'A Bill to extend Village Self-Government in Bengal.—WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the system of Village Self-Government in Bengal, etc.'

When we were considering the point in Select Committee we thought that in place of the general phrase 'to extend the system of Village Self-Government in Bengal', it was more correct to say that it was intended to develop the system of Self-Government in the rural areas of Bengal ; and we accordingly changed the title and preamble to that effect, viz.,—

'A Bill to develop Self-Government in the rural areas of Bengal.—WHEREAS it is expedient to develop the system of Self-Government in the rural areas of Bengal, etc.'

We did not alter clause 1(1) which runs : 'This Act may be called the Village Self-Government Act, 1919 ; as we thought that this was clear and concise, identifying the object of the Bill with the unit of the village. We, therefore, left it as it was.

As I understand the amendment, the idea underlying it is that we should adjust clause 1 (1) in the terms of the amended preamble. It is not necessary that we should do so, and the Select Committee after again examining the point when the Bill was re-committed to it, decided to adhere to the present wording."

Another objection to altering the drafting is that it involves various consequential amendments in such places as the schedule, where the Bill is referred to by its title, and these amendments have not been worked out by the Hon'ble Member. I would, therefore, oppose the amendment, as purely one of drafting, the acceptance of which might lead to complications in other parts of the Bill."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, in the absence of my friend, the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul Haq, I moved it at his request. I do not see much difference in the wording and do not press this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 2.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for sub-clause (3) of clause 1 the following be substituted, namely :—

"(3) It shall come into force in the whole of Bengal and on such dates as the Local Government may, by notification, fix within a period not exceeding three years from the date on which this Act is passed, and the Local Government may, by notification, withdraw this Act from any district or part of a district provided that the reasons for such withdrawal shall be stated in the notification."

He said :

"My Lord, as the clause stands now, it will come into force in such districts or such parts of districts and on such dates as the Local Government may, by notification, direct. The two things that I want to draw your Excellency's attention to are that it is proposed that it shall come into force in such districts to which it may be made applicable, and that such dates as may be fixed by notification. In place of this, I want to submit that it should come into force in the whole of Bengal, and in the second place it should be introduced within such period as may be fixed by the Local Government, that period not exceeding three years from the date of the commencement of the Act

In connection with this amendment, I crave your Excellency's indulgence just to say a word or two about the general applicability. My Lord, we have been taken to task for sending in notice of many amendments. As I entered the Council Chamber this morning, the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps drew my attention to the impropriety of such a large number of amendments and suggested in fact that it would be playing the part of an obstructionist to press for so many amendments. I have, of course, accepted the suggestion in the spirit in which it was offered. My only answer to this charge is to be found in the amendments themselves. This amendment goes to show that we do not want to be obstructionists ; in fact, we rather welcome this Bill. All my complaint is that it should not be delayed, but brought into operation at once ; and on the other hand it should not be withheld from any particular district or districts, but should be made applicable to the whole of the province. That goes conclusively to show what is my real attitude with regard to this important measure. In fact, my Lord, I can claim this that of all the 50 Hon'ble Members of this Council, I am the one who wants that the whole of this important measure should be introduced at once, and in all districts, so that it goes to show that although we want amendments and changes here and there, in some cases in matters of principle and in the others in regard to details, on the whole we welcome this measure and we are anxious that it should be given effect to at once.

The object of this amendment is that we know from our past experience that however statesmanlike and wise a measure may be, its operation is sometimes delayed owing to the report of some local officers, as there may be some officers who may not like the measure. I, therefore, suggest that this measure should be introduced all at once, as such reports may be submitted by local officers as may lead to delay. For that reason I have suggested the period of three years. Three years being a sufficiently long period, the local government should be able to know when the people want this measure and when the Government want it. This period is sufficiently long in which the Government ought to be able to introduce it in the whole of this province.

Then, my Lord, with regard to the last portion of this amendment, what I want to submit is that the local Government may, by notification, withdraw the Act from any district or part of a district. I want to add to it a proviso, namely, 'provided the reasons for such withdrawal shall be stated in the notification'. This is, I submit, not an unreasonable proposal. If a district is given the privilege of the extension of the Act and if later on it is to be deprived of it, it is only proper that the reasons should be stated for such withdrawal. That it is all I have got to say."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I do not propose to follow the Hon'ble Member in his general explanations of his attitude towards this Bill. Whatever may be the number of the amendments, I do not know that, personally, I have commented on them in particular, and their value can best be judged by the Council when we conclude our labours.

This particular amendment raises two points which are distinct from each other. The Bill, as framed, contemplates elasticity in its extension to various parts of the province. It only comes into operation in various areas as on notified dates, and such areas may be either districts or parts of districts. The Hon'ble Member says: 'No, the Bill must rigidly come into operation throughout the whole province in three years'. I think, Sir, that the reasons in favour of elasticity are overwhelming, and they are both theoretical and practical.

In the first place, the conditions of this province are not homogeneous. It is often overlooked that the conditions of India are not homogeneous, and it is equally true that the conditions of any particular province within India are not homogeneous. Merely to give a few instances, we have tracts like Darjeeling, portions of the Chittagong Hill Tracts and the Duars, which are mainly inhabited by aborigines; also there are parts of Midnapur and Bankura which are inhabited by Sonthals and the like. Those tracts are absolutely different from more advanced portions, such as the Munshiganj subdivision of the Dacca district, for example, or the subdivisions of Mynensingh. It is not wise in that view to say that the whole province in respect of village self-government must be treated on the same lines. It is merely to court failure, not to recognize that an advance may be possible in some areas, but impossible in the less advanced ones; and it is in recognition of that fundamental fact that the Bill has provided for elasticity. The extension or the development of self-government will first be tried in the advanced areas where it has most chance of success, and in the light of the experience so gained we shall go on extending it to others. It is impossible to believe that within the short space of three years the differences between the different parts of the province will have disappeared.

That is the theoretical argument, and there is also a practical argument. To introduce this system without careful supervision and encouragement from the outset will also be to invite failure. To exercise supervision we must have a staff; and it will be difficult to recruit that staff within so short a space as three years, much less to train them. The opinion of the District Administration Committee, on whose report this measure is largely based, was that three or four districts might be taken up every year, but I would deprecate any rigid programme. What we want is elasticity, so that we can be guided by what seems best in the light of the actual work done. So, both on theoretical and practical grounds, I would press for the less rigid provision in the Bill. The clause hurts nobody, and it is the wish of the Local Government to extend the system as much as possible ; the only point on which it lays stress is that in so doing it should not be bound absolutely by impossible dates.

The second point raised in the amendment is that in any notification we should give the reasons for our action. My objection to that is that a notification is a statutory declaration, which states a certain fact in concise and clear language in order that the existence of that fact may be easily available on record on whatever occasions reference has to be made to it, whether in the Courts or elsewhere. A notification is not meant to be argumentative ; it is merely meant to declare that such and such a thing took place. I would, therefore, deprecate the cumbering of it by arguments. It is not necessary that it should give reasons. The Act could not be withdrawn from any district without full opportunity of the question being raised, say, in this Council either by question or resolution, or by the other various means that are at the disposal of Hon'ble Members. There is, therefore, no hiding of the reasons simply because they are excluded from the notification. On these grounds, Sir, I would deprecate the acceptance of this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, the two points that have been raised by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler in reply are that in the first place the system should be first tried in some of the advanced districts ; and that in the second place, necessary arrangements have got to be made. Now, with regard to the first objection, I would submit that the system has already been tried for some years past. It was introduced first, if I remember rightly, in 1904—I speak subject to correction—at all events about the time when it was first introduced. It has been tried in several districts and the result of that experiment is the report of the District Administration Committee recommending the legislation which is now before us. Therefore, it is not a matter of first impression ; the system has already been a trial and it has been found to be successful.

As regards the arrangements to be made, I admit that arrangements have, of course, to be made, but at the same time the period of three years is tolerably long, and if it is supposed that that period is not sufficiently long for making preliminary arrangements, I think that is a question of detail and that the period may be extended to five years. In any case, all my anxiety is that the whole of this province may be given the benefit of this legislation within a reasonable period of time.

My Lord, I do not like to add anything to the remarks which I have already made with regard to the second point about the inclusion of the reasons in the notification."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, with reference to the last remarks of the Hon'ble Member may I ask him three questions? Will he name a single area in this province in which the system of the combined functions of the chaukidari panchayet and the local self-government union are in force? Will he name a single area in this province in which the enlarged powers of the union board proposed in this Bill are in force? Will he name a single area in which the system of village courts or benches is in force."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I admit, of course, that there are two bodies now, namely, the Panchayet Unions under the Chaukidari Act of 1870 and the Union Committees under the Local Self-Government Act (Bengal Act III of 1885)

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

Certainly, these are two separate bodies working separately and not in combination as it is now proposed to make under this Bill ; but all the same, there are the Panchayeti Unions working side by side with the Union Committees, which have worked under the President system. They have been tried, for instance, in Tippera, in Burdwan, and also I believe in Bakarganj. I admit, however, that they have not been tried exactly in the manner in which it is now proposed, namely, combining the two functions in one body ; in substance it is the same, as by the change that is proposed to be introduced under this Bill, we are going to have one body, instead of two bodies, doing the duties of the Chaukidari Unions as well as of the Union Committees."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 3.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that the words " and the Local Government may, by notification, withdraw this Act from any district or part of a district " in lines 3 to 5 of sub-clause (3) of clause 1 be omitted.

He said :

" My Lord, my point is this. This seems to be a new provision in this Bill ; in the Local Self-Government Act and the Municipal Act there is no parallel to this provision. Of course, Government will be cautious enough to introduce this measure wherever they consider these privileges should be granted. My point is this : that once this is done, the privilege should not be withdrawn. If the new bodies are found wanting in any respect, then the remedial measure of suspension may be introduced, but as these privileges are being introduced for the first time, there may be failures here and there, in that case I submit that all the privileges may not be withdrawn. That is my contention. I suggest in those cases remedial measures should be taken. Three bodies are mentioned here ; the village panchayet, the Union Committee, and the chaukidari panchayet. As regards the last two they are working tolerably well, and as regards the first, option is given to the local people if it is not working well, not to go to them, but to go to the district tribunal. My suggestion is that suspension or some such measure may be resorted to in case of failure, and the people may be given an opportunity of gaining experience in local self-government with the help of the district officers and the district board, and I pray that they may not be deprived of the privileges once granted."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

" My Lord, the justification for this provision is somewhat similar to that which I have just been arguing in connection with another amendment, viz., that we should have elasticity in introducing these changes—the power to go forward when we find it desirable to go forward, and the power to go back when we find it necessary to go back. The Hon'ble Member speaks of the inexpediency of withdrawing a concession when once it has been given, but it is really in the interests of village self-government that we should have this power, because, if we feel that the position is easily retrievable, and if we know that if an experiment is not succeeding we can abandon it, then we need have less hesitation in giving the new system a trial. Therefore the clause, as it stands, really helps the object which the Hon'ble Member has in view, which is, apparently, that the Bill should be extended as rapidly as possible throughout the province and should be a success in working. There is much about the Bill which is experimental. I maintain that the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta was entirely in error in representing that it is merely a continuance under another name of what has been working in this province for some time. It is true that we have chaukidari punchayets ; it is true we have local self-government unions ; but the bodies which this Bill will create will be bodies with largely increased powers and responsibilities and rights of taxation. They will be bodies which will work under a different degree of supervision to those which now exist, and they will be bodies which will exercise judicial powers for which at present there is no counterpart whatever. Therefore, the Bill is in the nature of an experiment, and I submit that we are justified in being guided in this experiment by the light of the experience which we gain. The only valid argument for the amendment is one which the Hon'ble Member has not mentioned, and that is, that the words in the clause are unnecessary. They are unnecessary since section 22 of the General Clauses Act provides that—

'Where, by any Bengal Act, a power to make orders, rules, by-laws or notifications is conferred, then that power includes a power, exercisable in the like manner and subject to the like sanction and conditions (if any), to add, to amend, vary or rescind any orders, rules, by-laws or notifications so made.'

So the power which the Bill mentions is a power which already exists in the Bengal statutes. It may be said why then include it in the Bill? We did so for the sake of completeness ; the Bill will be read by men who are not acquainted with the General Clauses Act or with the Bengal statutes, and there are one or two other small points which we have mentioned in this Bill, although they are also covered by Acts elsewhere. Therefore, Sir, I think the wording of the clause should be retained."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, in reply I have to say that I do not want that the provision should be introduced at once into the whole of Bengal, within a certain time. Wherever necessary and where circumstances admit it may be introduced, but my suggestion is that once introduced it may not be taken away at a moment's notice. Of course, there is the power under the General Clauses Act. My point is that wherever anything is found wanting, some remedial measures may be taken."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 4.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri :—

If motion No. 3 be not carried, also to move that after the words "or part of a district" in line 5 of sub-clause (3) of clause 1 the following be inserted, namely :—

"and shall in the notification state in detail the reasons for such withdrawal."

He said :

"My Lord, I want to know whether this has been already disposed of. In that case, I will withdraw it."

The President said :—

"Yes, it is not in order now."

The amendment was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; Maulvi Abul Kasem.AMENDMENT No. 5.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that the definition of "circle officer" in sub-clause (2) of clause 2 (now clause 4) be omitted.

He said :

"This is not a very important amendment. In fact, it is not one of those amendments which in the words of my friend, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, would break the heart of anybody on this side of the House, nor the backbone of anybody on the other side, if it is or is not carried. It is simply intended to remove an incongruity. There were certain clauses in the original Bill relating to circle officers and circle boards. Those provisions have been altogether eliminated from the present Bill so that the words 'circle boards' or 'circle officers' find no place here. We do not define a word which does not find a place in the body of the Bill itself, so I consider this definition to be inappropriate in the present shape of the Bill. It might be argued that Government may appoint certain officers to be called circle officers. In that case this definition may well come in under the rules, but I do think that the definition of a word which does not find a place in the Bill, itself is unnecessary."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I imagined that the Hon'ble Member was going to base his amendment upon the ground that he saw no necessity for having circle officers at all ; if he had done so, I would have had a good deal to say, from which I can now fortunately spare the Council. But as he has not used that argument, I oppose the amendment on the ground that it is not necessary. I think he is under a misapprehension. If he will look at clause 56 (now clause 51) he will find that a statutory duty is laid on circle officers to see that the proceedings of union committees are in conformity with the law and with the rules in force thereunder, while in schedule III, items 4 and 5, the circle officer is mentioned as a person to whom certain functions may be delegated, namely, the appointment, dismissal and fining of dafadars and chaukidars. In the light of these facts, there is perhaps some misapprehension on the Hon'ble Mover's part, and I cannot therefore accept his amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry my attention was not drawn to clause 56 (now clause 51) as now modified and I beg to withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 6.

The following motion which was covered by the decision on the previous motion was then held to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that the definition of "circle officer" in sub-clause (2) of clause 2 (now clause 4) be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 7.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, withdrew the following motion with the permission of the President, viz.—

that after the words "district board" in line 3 of clause 3 (now clause 5) the words "and of the inhabitants" be inserted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Maulvi Abul Kasem; Mr. O'Malley; Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Sir Henry Wheeler.

AMENDMENT No. 8.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that after the words "district board" in line 3 of clause 3 (now clause 5), the words "and the local boards" be inserted.

He said :

"My Lord, my reasons for this amendment are that whenever the Government are to consider the question of the formation of unions, the Select Committee have thought it desirable to have the opinions and views of the district board, and I submit that in the case of village unions, the local board's opinion should also be consulted, because there are people there from different parts of the subdivision and different parts within the jurisdiction of the local boards, and therefore they are the proper persons to advise the authorities as to the formation of village unions. As regards district boards, while they are quite competent to advise the creation of unions, the members of the board have not that intimate knowledge of rural areas as is possessed by the members of the local boards. I think their opinion should also be considered before passing orders for the formation of union boards."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, Government recognize that it is a reasonable proposition that local boards as well as district boards should have the opportunity of expressing their views about the formation of unions, because they have an intimate knowledge of the areas under their jurisdiction, and also because they will be the controlling authorities over union boards. It is natural, therefore, that they should claim the right to have a right to be consulted when the formation of unions is proposed, and on this account I accept the amendment on behalf of Government."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 9.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, withdrew the following amendment with the permission of the President, viz. :—

that the words "and for the reasons stated in such notification" be added at the end of clause 3 (now clause 5).

AMENDMENT No. 10.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that sub-clause (3) of clause 4 (now clause 6) be omitted.

He said :

"My Lord, in sub-clause (2), clause 4 (now clause 6), it is provided that the members shall be elected within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by rules under clause 111 (now clause 101), so I do not see why there should be any provision for one-third of the members to be nominated by Government when there is a clear provision that all the members shall be elected. Practically it nullifies the provision made in sub-clause (2), therefore, I move [that sub-clause (3) may be omitted]."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, this provision of the Bill is justified by the variations in the existing conditions in different parts of the province to which I have already made reference. Under clause 4(2) members of union boards will ordinarily be elected, but the system of full election to bodies of this kind is by no means at present in force throughout the province. Members of the chaukidari panchayet are appointed by the district magistrate, while the number of union committees is comparatively few, and certainly, up to recently, some members of them were almost invariably appointed and not elected. Therefore, Sir, we have no precedent for imagining that successful elections can be conducted everywhere, and we know with fair certainty that whereas there may be places in which we can get a suitable board by election, there may be places in which it will be best to appoint a small proportion of the board. There is nothing particularly reactionary in a provision of this kind. It will be observed that we merely take power to appoint up to a third, whereas under section 41 of the Local Self-Government Act the Executive Government can, if necessary, appoint the whole body, so we are being more liberal than that existing provision of the Act. We are also being more liberal than the recommendation of the District Administration Committee which was to this effect :

'The members of the union panchayets should be partly elected and partly nominated, in the proportion of two-thirds elected and one-third nominated. This departure from the provisions of sections 39 to 41 of the Local Self-Government Act and the rules for the election of members of union committees framed under section 138 (a), is, in our opinion, necessary, as in addition to their municipal functions the panchayets will perform certain judicial and executive duties, with which the District Boards will have no concern.'

Their proposal, therefore, was that in all cases there should be a third of nominated members. The Bill merely takes power to add such a third wherever it may be deemed necessary, and in the light of these facts, I submit that it cannot be regarded as either conservative or retrograde."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, the only thing that I should like to draw your Excellency's attention to is that in sub-clause (2) it is provided that the members shall be elected, it is not stated that it is ordinarily to be done in that way. If there is any failure, that failure may be covered by rules made under clause 111, (now clause 101) but the provision of one sub-clause practically nullifies that of another, which is not very desirable, so I think there will be no serious difficulty in omitting sub-clause (3)."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 11.

The following motion which was identical with the previous amendment was then held to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that sub-clause (3) of clause 4 (now clause 6) be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 12.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, moved that in line 6 of sub-clause (3) of clause 4 (now clause 6) for the word "magistrate" the word "board" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, no reasons have been given in support of the amendment. However, I would explain that there are two main reasons why it is proposed that the appointments should be made by the district magistrate. The first is that the district magistrate will be able to remedy inequalities produced by election, and to protect the interest of minorities. The second reason is that a district board is not a suitable agency for appointment. It meets only once a month and there is therefore risk of delay in appointment. Delays are dangerous; they may give opportunities for unhealthy rivalry and canvassing for appointments. If this amendment were accepted, the union board could not be constituted until the district had held one of its monthly meetings. The district magistrate, however, can ascertain quickly and promptly, who will be acceptable to the villagers, and who will be worthy representatives of minorities. Therefore, Government cannot accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, in view of the statement made by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley, I beg to withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 13.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq :—

If motion No. 12 be not carried, also to move that after the words "district magistrate" in line 6 of sub-clause (3) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the words "on the recommendation of the district board" be added.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, said :—

"My Lord, this amendment follows the same line as the previous one which has just been disposed of, therefore I do not wish to move it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 14.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that at the end of sub-clause (3) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the following be added, namely :—

from among persons, other than police-officers, who may be for the time being resident within the limits of the union.

He said :

"My Lord, this amendment refers to sub-clause (3) of clause 4 (now clause 6). One of the chief recommendations of the present measure is the distinct tendency which it exhibits towards developing the principle of election, and thereby laying a solid foundation for the growth and development of local self-government in its truest sense. Now, the Bill contemplates certain chances in which it may be necessary for the magistrate acting on behalf of Government to nominate not more than one-third of the total number of members. I beg to propose that at the end of this clause should be added the following words : 'from among persons other than police officers who may be for the time being residents within the limits of the union'. That is, I consider, Sir, to be very important. If police officers are to be appointed, then the very essence of the Bill will be minimized. On the other hand, if police officers are to be appointed the union boards will become unpopular bodies, and if unpopular they will also become unsuccessful. It goes without saying that if a police officer becomes a member of a union board, in that case whether he be or be not the chairman or vice-chairman, he will carry considerable influence, and the other members will always stand in some fear of either disobliging him or going against him, and as the Government intend really to make it an effective measure of local self-Government, I think the police officers ought to be excluded and the magistrate's discretion of not appointing not more than one-third should be confined to persons other than police officers, and that those persons should be for the time being residents within the union. With this in view I submit that this additional phrase ought to be added at the end of sub-clause (3)."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Mr. Kerr; Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari; Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar.

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"My Lord, I am afraid it is not possible to accept this amendment. It seems to assume in the first place that no police officers would be fit to have the honour of being members of these union boards, and in the second place, that the district magistrate is going to pick out unfit police officers and put them on to the boards. I do not say that it will often happen that a police officer will be appointed a member of a union board. Police officers as a rule are too much occupied with their ordinary work, they often have to spend a large portion of their time in investigating cases and touring about in their jurisdiction, and people of that kind would not be suitable as members of the board. But there are some stationary police officers, like court sub-inspectors or head constables in charge of the thana records, who are often very worthy men, and if you come across men like that who take a real interest in village improvements, it might be desirable to put them on the board. I think it would be a great mistake to have a statutory provision preventing us from utilizing the services of such men. It is, however, not mainly on practical grounds that I oppose this amendment. I oppose it because it casts a stigma on the police officers of the province. I do not know whether the Council are aware that we are now recruiting as sub-inspectors men of good family and good education. Only the other day a man came to the Inspector-General of Police, an M.A., and asked to be enrolled as a head constable. His idea was to work his way up from the rank to the top of the force. That is the spirit that we want to encourage if the country is to have the sort of police force it ought to have. I put it to the Council, are you going to encourage a proper spirit in the police force, if you put into a Bill of this kind a declaration that members of the police force are unfit to undertake the most elementary duties of citizenship? Government are not prepared to accept this, or to cast a stigma of this kind on the police force, and I would ask the Council as a responsible body to decline likewise to pass such a stigma on a body of public servants who, I may remind the Council, are mainly Indians."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, from the point of view of some of us on this side of the House I would like to associate myself with what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr. I do not think we shall be encouraging men of the police force if we are going to have a statutory bar and disqualification like this. I do not know what a force, manned mostly by our own countrymen, have done to deserve this slur as a body. My hon'ble friend must be acquainted with a great many police officers who are worthy, honest and reliable and the tendency towards improvement is steady. I quite agree that there may be police officers quite unfit to be as members of the board, but I do not think that the district magistrate would go out of his way to appoint undesirable police officers. It would be a great wrong to a deserving body of men if we exclude them by a statutory provision, thus casting an undeserved reflection on the force."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, on behalf of Government it is first contended that it is not likely that the magistrate will appoint undesirable police officers. Well, I quite accept that, but I don't see any reason why some limit should not be placed upon him in the appointment of police officers. Then it is said that very efficient and very intelligent police officers are now being appointed. Well, as I have already said, by introducing police officers in these union boards we run the risk of wrecking this very important measure, and I have nothing more to add."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 15.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that after sub-clause (3) of clause (4 now clause 6), the following be inserted, namely :—

"Provided that the member or members so appointed shall be entitled to be elected as members of the union board under section 5 (now section 7)."

He said :

"What I mean by this amendment is, my Lord, that the choice of the district magistrate or the authorities appointing the members of the union boards should be limited to those who are qualified to be elected as members of the board."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, in the sense that the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem has explained the amendment, I have no objection to accepting it. His object is that we should not appoint a person to the union board who has not the qualification which is required of an elected member, and that is a reasonable suggestion. The amendment, however, is not very happily worded when it talks of the 'members so appointed shall be entitled to be elected'. I think we can put it in a better form, which, I gather, the Hon'ble Member will accept."

I would suggest that it be moved in the following way :—

'Provided that no member shall be so appointed unless he is entitled to be elected as a member of the union board under section 5 (now section 7)'."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I accept the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler and I hope that it will be accepted by the Council."

The motion was put in the following form and agreed to :—

After sub-clause (3) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the following be inserted, namely :—

'Provided that no member shall be so appointed unless he is entitled to be elected as a member of the union board under section 5 (now section 7)'."

AMENDMENT No 16.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the word "may" in line 3 of sub-clause (4) of clause 4 (now clause 6), the word "shall" be substituted.

He said :

"My Lord, I hope this amendment will be accepted and so without putting forward any arguments I submit it for the consideration of the Council."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I have no objection to accepting this amendment. The clause, as worded, says that vacancies may be filled by another election or by appointment by the district magistrate: the word 'may' is used as there are two possible ways of filling vacancies; but in a sense 'may' does mean 'shall', as the vacancies could not be left unfilled. Therefore, Sir, as 'may' practically means 'shall', I am quite willing to accept the amendment."

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 17.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "the vacancies may be filled by another election or by appointment by the district magistrate" in lines 3, 4 and 5 of sub-clause (4) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the following be substituted, namely :—

"the vacancies may be filled up by another election: but, if on the date fixed for such election, the electors of any union also fail to elect the full number of members prescribed, the vacancies may be filled by appointment by the district board".

He said :

"My Lord, my reason is that as the sub-clause stands the vacancies may be filled by another election or by appointment by the district magistrate. One of two things may happen—either there may be simultaneously an election and also an appointment by the district magistrate, or the opposite thing may happen, namely, that the members may think that the appointment will be made by the district magistrate and they need not make an election, while, on the other hand, the district magistrate may not take any steps thinking that the vacancy will be filled by election. This, I submit, will not be satisfactory in practice, and, therefore, I propose that the vacancies may be filled up by another election; but if, on the date fixed for such election, the electors of any union also fail to elect the full number of members prescribed, then the vacancies may be filled by appointment by the district board. That is my first point. My second point is that in the case of an appointment the appointment should be made by the district board and not by the district magistrate."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, as the Hon'ble Mover has stated, there are two points involved in this amendment, and I will take them separately.

Let me first explain briefly how the clause came to take its present shape. As I have said before, this electoral system in these small village bodies, will, to a certain extent, be experimental, and we know by experience that even in larger bodies, such as municipalities, elections do fail, possibly because the people concerned are not sufficiently interested to come to the poll or it may be, by reason of technical difficulties. In these village elections there will be a greater likelihood of that kind of failure occurring. Therefore, in the Bill as originally introduced, it was provided that if within a period fixed in this behalf the electors of any village committee failed to elect the full number of members prescribed for the committee, the district magistrate should appoint the remainder; that is to say, if the village committee did not take advantage of the right of election, they lost it once for all. When we were considering the matter in Select Committee, it was represented to us that this might be a little hard, as there might be valid reasons why the election had failed, for which it would be reasonable to give the villagers a kind of locus pœnitentiæ and another opportunity of electing their representatives. We considered the suggestion to be reasonable, and we therefore drafted the clause in its present elastic form, which says, that if one election fails then there may be another election or resort may be had to appointment. We left it elastic, because it is impossible to define under what circumstances precisely elections would fail; such a result might be due to a temporary cause or a permanent cause. The district magistrate would have to judge whether it was caused by an accident which was likely to be rectified by another election, or whether there were permanent influences at work which rendered appointment desirable. We have also in clause 111 (now clause 101) taken power to prescribe rules which would govern the exercise of this discretion. There is not the slightest wish of the Local Government to take away the right of election whenever it can be advantageously exercised. If the right of election is given at all, we would much prefer to see the union boards chosen in that way; but contingencies may arise which may render election impossible, and we have accordingly provided for them in a more elastic form than that originally inserted in the Bill.

As regards the second proposal of the Hon'ble Mover, that appointment should be by the district board in place of the district magistrate, the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley has argued that point in connection with another amendment, and the same arguments are applicable here, rendering it undesirable to make such a change."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, there is not much dispute about the principle underlying this provision. The question is not whether electors will be deprived of the right of election or they might not have any control. Quite apart from that my difficulty is this: The provision being alternative, the members might think that the appointment would be filled up by the district magistrate and the district magistrate in the same way might think that the appointment would be filled up by election; so that the result may be no action on the part of both the bodies. On the other hand, both might take necessary steps for filling up the vacancy simultaneously. Supposing the members elect and also the district magistrate appoints a man for the vacancy, what would be the result in that case? To avoid that, my Lord, I submit that vacancies may be filled up by another election. That will also make it very clear as appears from the line of argument advanced by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, because an election may fail on account of technical grounds. That is a case in which it is only fair that they should be given another election. So, both on the ground of expediency as well as on the ground of principle, I think that the amendment I have suggested is a better one than the provision as it stands."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 18.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the words "election or" in line 4 of sub-clause (4) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the words "in the event of the failure of such second election" be inserted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

He said :

"My Lord, my amendment follows the same lines as the previous amendment, with this difference, that in the event of the failure of such second election, the appointment will be made by the district magistrate, and in the previous amendment which was moved by my hon'ble friend, Babu Akhil Chandra Datta, the appointment was to be made by the district board. That is the difference. My Lord, I have heard the reply of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler to the first part of the amendment. That is, to ensure a second election, which is common to both the amendments. He says there may be temporary or permanent cause, and if it is temporary the district magistrate will grant a second election, and if it is permanent the district magistrate will make the appointment, and it is not the intention of Government to avoid a second election which he says will be regulated by the rules to be framed under clause 111 (now clause 101). The intention being clear, I think the Hon'ble Member would kindly consider whether the discretion would be left to the unaided judgment of the district magistrate. Well, there may be temporary or permanent causes, and the district magistrate may make a mistake, but nothing will be lost if a provision for a second election is made. Government will not lose anything by this. It will also emphasize very clearly the intention of Government. Further, if any mistake is made by the district magistrate, and if the district magistrate does not grant an election, then the chance of the second election will be gone, and perhaps it may lead to unpleasant feelings between the district magistrate and the people of the area concerned. Therefore, I hope my Lord, that my amendment will receive favourable consideration at the hands of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, it is true that the present amendment does not contain the second point to which I took exception in connection with the amendment which has just been moved, but the first point still remains, and the arguments which I have urged against it remain valid in objection to it. Briefly, it is preferable to retain the elasticity of the clause as it stands to the rigid prescription that there must be two elections. It may be reasonable to hold a second election or it may be entirely unnecessary; it is therefore best to leave a discretion to the district magistrate, and far from the exercise of that discretion being unfettered, it will be regulated by rules for the making of which we take power in clause 111(now clause 101)."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, if it is the intention, as I have said, of Government to frame rules under clause 111(now clause 101), is it not much more satisfactory to have that intention made clear in the specific clause of the Bill? The Hon'ble Member says that we do not want to make a rigid prescription that a second election will be allowed. I do not understand how a rigid rule can be framed under clause 111 (now clause 101), which will allow a second election in all cases where the first election fails. My Lord, I think, having regard to the pros and cons of the case, Government will do well to accept this amendment, because, after all, neither will Government lose anything nor will the administration suffer in any way, but on the contrary, the people will be highly gratified if this clause is accepted. As this will be practically left in the hands of the district magistrate, I fail to understand what is the objection to this clause being inserted here. I would, therefore, ask the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill if he can yet see his way to accept this amendment."

AMENDMENTS Nos. 19 and 20.

The President said :—

“Items Nos. 19 and 20 are covered by the decision already arrived at by the Council.”

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Sir Henry Wheeler.

The following motions were then held to be withdrawn : —

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem to move that after the words "election or" in line 4 of sub-clause (4) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the words "in the event of failure of such second election" be inserted.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that after the word "or" in line 4 of sub-clause (4) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the words "and if the electors fail again to elect the full number on the date fixed for the second election" be inserted.

AMENDMENT No. 21.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved—that for the words "district magistrate" in lines 4 and 5 of sub-clause (4) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the following words be substituted, namely :—

"divisional commissioner out of a panel of double the requisite number to be nominated by the chairman of the district board in consultation with their vice-chairman, within a time to be fixed by the district magistrate".

He said :—

"My Lord, in this case my proposal is that instead of the power of nomination being given to the district magistrate it might be exercised by the divisional commissioner on the nomination being submitted by the chairman of the district board. As far as I remember, under the provisions of the Local Self-Government Act the power of nominating the members of the union committee lies with the divisional commissioner and so I have taken the parallel case of the Local Self-Government Act. I hope my amendment will be accepted."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I put it to the Council that we are in some danger of making a mountain out of a mole-hill. What is provided in this clause? After all this clause merely says that if the right of election is given and the election fails, there may either be a second election or an appointment may be made by the district magistrate. Therefore, it is a contingency which should seldom arise, and it will always be within the power of the electors to prevent it arising by exercising their vote and electing their representatives in that way. Therefore, it is a minor point, and I submit that when the Council has just decided that it is preferable to leave ordinary appointments to the district magistrate in place of the district board, it would be rather illogical that in the case of a subsidiary contingency appointments should have to be made by this amazingly cumbrous procedure of appointment by the divisional commissioner out of a panel of double the requisite number, to be nominated by the chairman of the district board in consultation with their vice-chairman, within a time to be fixed by the district magistrate. Surely that is entirely inconsistent with what the Council has decided in connection with other amendments, and it is entirely inconsistent with the object of this clause itself. I therefore oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"I have already submitted what I had to say and I am not very particular about it."

The motion was then put and lost.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.AMENDMENT No. 22.

The following amendment was held to be covered by the decision arrived at on amendment No. 17 and was deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, to move that for the word "magistrate" in line 5 of sub-clause (4) of clause 4 (now clause 6) the word "board" be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 23.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, moved that sub-clause 1 (i), 1 (ii) and 1 (iii) of clause 5 (now clause 7) be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, this is an amendment of which notice was given by my hon'ble friend, Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, and I am extremely sorry that he could not attend the Council to-day. He is very keen on this. The object of this amendment is to give every man, resident within the union, a vote, universal suffrage as it is called. We want that at least in the election for a membership of a union board, every man ought to have a vote, whether he pays any tax or not, and the Bill provides that any one paying Re. 1 as chaukidari tax or cess, should be entitled to vote, but under the Local Self-Government Act, the qualification for a voter on a local board election is the same, and I, therefore, submit that in forming union boards, which are purely rural boards, at least every man ought to have a vote. I do not think there will be any objection on the part of the Hon'ble Member or of the House to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, my objection to this amendment is, briefly, that in the blessed name of democracy it is going too far. It is, in effect, proposing universal suffrage, as the Hon'ble Member says, since it seeks to eliminate the three clauses in which we define what the franchise for these union boards should be. What is the existing position? We are concerned with two bodies—the village chaukidari panchayet and the local self-government union. At present the village panchayet is practically invariably nominated and not elected at all; therefore we have no experience of how elected members will exercise functions concerning chaukidars. In the case of the local self-government unions, there is a tax-paying franchise which, is not so broad or simple as that which we have in the Bill, which, therefore, is already taking a step in advance, both in respect of the chaukidari panchayets and the self-government unions. I put it to the Council that that progress is sufficiently rapid, and that we should not do wisely now to take a dive into the unexplored sea of one man one vote."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Member very confidently urged the motion which he brought on behalf of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, but I am afraid he overlooked his friends on his right, and he perhaps might have considered whether the amendment which has been moved, would be acceptable to this side of the House. To my mind, it appears that it is democracy run riot. I do not know whether my hon'ble friend is in earnest in proposing that every man in the street should have a vote for returning members to the union board, irrespective of any qualifications, and irrespective of any responsibility. We have not yet come to that state of things and I think it is dangerous to accept this motion even if the Government were prepared to accept it which they would not, as they have not yet been so democratized. I think it my duty to express my views on this matter."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry that the amendment which I moved has neither been accepted by the Hon'ble Member in charge nor by my hon'ble friend

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abdul Kasem.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. On the other hand, there has been some opposition from the right side of the House, but I do not think by moving this amendment anybody might think that I intended to make democracy run riot. What was intended is that in the village union there should be universal suffrage. I did not ask for that suffrage for district boards and municipalities. The day is not very distant when it is proposed to give a broad franchise to a large number of people, electing members to the legislative councils, and I do not see what objection there can be in the case of union boards now. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur has said that it is intended to give every man in the street a vote, but those who live in villages and have a stake in villages, quite well understand what is in their own interest and I do not think it will be doing any harm to anybody by giving every man a vote there. I am sorry I have to press this amendment to the vote."

AMENDMENTS Nos. 24, 25 AND 26.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that for the words "one rupee" wherever they occur in clause 5 (now clause 7), the words "eight annas" be substituted.

He said :

" This amendment refers to clause 5 (now clause 7) which lays down qualifications of voters and members of union boards. It has been laid down in this clause that the pecuniary qualification of a voter shall be the payment of not less than one rupee as road cess. This also applies to a member of a joint family. I propose that for the words 'one rupee' wherever they occur the words 'eight annas' shall be substituted. I will state certain facts to substantiate my proposition. Hon'ble Members will remember that not long ago a very valuable statement was published by the Government of Bengal with a view to assist the Reforms Committee showing the number of persons who paid one rupee as road cess, two rupees as road cess, and so on. Referring to that statement I find that in a district consisting of 21 lakhs of persons we have barely 50,000 people who pay one rupee as road cess. Now, my Lord, if out of 21 lakhs only 50,000 pay one rupee road cess then we get only a fortieth part of the people registrable for votes. Take, for instance, a union board to be constituted under the present enactment. A union board may consist of a population of 16,000 persons and in that case you have not more than 400 person qualified to vote under this clause. I ask, would that be a sufficient or adequate representation? And from this number too the minors and others are to be excluded. That is a point to be considered. Therefore, I have proposed eight annas instead of one rupee. There is another ground too which I would press for the consideration of the Council and that is this : in local boards you have the one rupee qualification and I think it stands to reason that the qualification if the union boards voters should be somewhat different from that of the local board members. As a matter of fact I believe that in case of chaukidari tax people are taxed only four annas or six annas. So my suggestion if accepted, would eliminate those persons. And it will not inconveniently swell the number of voters. There is another consideration still under the Road Cess Act—a tenant pays two pice per bigha. And if you insist on the one-rupee qualification then a man must have at least 32 bighas of land in order to qualify himself as a voter under this clause. I think it is too high a figure. There are not many persons who have got 32 bighas of land. In fact, 16 bighas will be quite enough. For all these considerations I suggest that 'eight annas' may be substituted for 'one rupee'."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said:—

"My Lord, I have great pleasure in supporting this motion. The recent figures which were published relating to the franchise for the Council show that little over one million will be the total number of voters on the basis of Re. 1 cess for the whole province. Now, my Lord, only 12 millions is our adult male population, that is to say, only one man in 12 will be entitled to vote for the Council election. Now, if we take a village of 1,000 population, that is, accepting the figure which was published by the Government for the Council election, we find by a simple process of arithmetic, out of 1,000 men, 37 will be voters. That, I submit, my Lord will not be desirable, and I venture to think that eight annas, perhaps a lower sum, should be the proper minimum for voting in village union boards."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said:—

"My Lord, I also gave notice of an amendment which was indetical with that of the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, but I find from the list of business that Babu Akhil Chandra Datta has given notice of an amendment in which he wants it to be changed to six annas. The general impression seems to be that expressed by the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter, that is, that a lower rate should be accepted. I think, my Lord, that these two amendments should be taken together and that Babu Akhil Chandra Datta's amendment should be put first."

The President said:—

"If it would assist to take the two amendments together, I have no objection to the discussion taking place on the amendments now; the amendments, of course, will be put separately."

Amendment No. 26 was then held to be moved and was as follows:—

"That for the words "one rupee", wherever they occur in sub-clause (1) of clause 5 (now clause 7), the words "six annas" be substituted."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said:—

"My Lord, I have only to say this: as I have already explained the number of voters will be very limited if you put it at Re. 1. If you are not prepared to give universal suffrage—one man, one vote—we should at least give the vote to an appreciable number of people; therefore I would personally submit, my Lord, that six annas should be the minimum qualification for a man to empower him to vote at an election of the union board, and I hope that this will be accepted by the Council."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"My Lord, this amendment does not go so far as Amendment No. 23, which we have just been discussing, but it goes in the same direction, viz., that of placing on the electoral roll more voters than would be the case under the scheme of the Bill. The scheme of the Bill contemplates a Re. 1 cess qualification, not a Re. 1 road cess qualification, and the suggestion is that it should be an eight annas cess qualification. In framing the Bill we had regard to the existing state of affairs, which, as I have already mentioned, on the chaukidari side gave us no precedent, or practically no precedent, for election at all, and on the local self-government side gave us the precedent only of a Re. 1 road cess qualification, and we thought that it would be going sufficiently far to take a Re. 1 cess qualification which is less,—in fact half—of the existing local self-government franchise, and therefore meets the point of the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar when he argues that it is only reasonable that there should be a lower voting qualification for these village bodies than there is for local boards. The qualification will be lower—it will be a rupee cess in place of a rupee road cess—in other words, half.

Well, as I have said, we thought that that was a sufficient step in advance, and there are practical reasons for not attempting to place the franchise too low, one of which is that the lower it is put, the more the preparation of the electoral roll is complicated, and in these elections (the same is true of the impending change of system of Council electorates) it will be a very serious practical difficulty to get the electoral rolls prepared and brought up to date. Another practical reason for not attempting to go still lower is that clause 5 (1) (i) now clause 7 (1) (i) only defines the preliminary qualification, when a union board has first to be created. Once the union board is in being voters will for the most part be qualified under sub-clause (ii), in other words by the payment of Re. 1 union rate. On that basis it will be easier to maintain the roll as the taxation papers will be in the union, and it will be easy enough to pick out those who pay a rupee. So that will be the working qualification in all elections subsequent to the first, and I put it to the Council that that is a sufficiently low qualification, especially in a country where the electoral system is new and the effect of a democratic franchise has yet to be seen. A one-rupee payment of the union rate means a payment of a little over one anna a month, and can that be said to be limiting the franchise to the well-to-do to the exclusion of the poor? For that reason I would deprecate the alteration of the franchise as inserted in the Bill. It will bring in the substantial raiyat and, in fact, will bring in anybody of responsible standing in the village."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"Sir, there is serious practical difficulty in the way of our making up our minds whether we should vote for the one rupee or the eight annas limit, and I had hoped that Sir Henry Wheeler would be good enough to give us some facts on which we could make up our minds. We have been told that under the one rupee limit there will be only 50,000 voters out of 20 lakhs and I should like to know what the proportionate increase would be in the number of voters if the amount were reduced to eight annas. This would help many members in making up their minds. The great difficulty in our way is that we do not yet know what the Reform Scheme is going to be based upon. This legislation has been undertaken in spite of protest in some quarters before we know exactly how matters stand in that direction. Suppose it turns out that the Reform Scheme proceeds on the one-rupee basis for the Legislative Council; then it would be a serious anomaly if the same amount was to be fixed for union boards. Having regard to these difficulties, perhaps it would be well for the time being to accept the lower rate and see how things go on. On the other hand, one does realize the practical difficulties which Sir Henry Wheeler has referred to. However, when it is a question of more than doubt it would be safer to take the lower limit, particularly as it is not demonstrated that the acceptance of the lower limit would necessarily double the number of voters or make it very formidable. Some Hon'ble Member was comparing the report of the Universities Commission, with that of the Reforms Committee, the latter took 3 months, whereas the Universities Commission took 18 months in the matter of arriving at a quick decision, If the decision was quicker, so far as the Franchise Committee was concerned, we would have known where we stand and might have accepted the higher qualification."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, may I refer to the remarks which have fallen from the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari. They would rather lead to the inference that if Government have not got figures on an eight-anna basis which can be put before the Council, it has been rather guilty of a dereliction of duty."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"Sir, I beg the Hon'ble Member's pardon, I did not make any such imputation."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"In any case it might be inferred. May I explain in this connection that the collection of figures which we published at the time of the visit of Lord Southborough and his committee to Calcutta, took our officers about six months to compile. It is therefore obvious that it would have been impossible, in the time at our disposal, to have taken in hand a second compilation of figures on an eight-anna basis for the purpose of this amendment."

The President said :—

"As we are taking the discussion on items 24, 25 and 26 together, the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta may like to make his speech now."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, the point has been discussed on both sides, and I do not think I can add anything profitable, but at the same time I do press for your Excellency's acceptance of my amendment No. 26, which is for a six-anna basis."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, Sir Henry Wheeler has no doubt pointed out that in the Local Self-Government Act the qualification is payment of one rupee as road cess, and here we have got the payment of cess as one rupee. But it seems to me that even with that distinction, the amendment which I have moved does not lose its force. As was pointed out by the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari a lower qualification would not be so harmful as a higher one which might make the representation quite inadequate and Sir Deba Prasad was anxious to know what would be the number of voters if eight annas were substituted. Although we have not got those figures, I think we can deduce it from the figures given in the official statement published some months back.

There I have shown that if a union consists of three or four villages with an aggregate population of 16,000 then under one rupee it would be Rs. 400, but supposing it were half the rate, namely, not one rupee but eight annas, then it would be 800. Would 800 or even 1000 be an adequate representation of 16,000 population—that is my point. So that whatever view you take, I think annas eight ought not to be considered as too low a qualification, and I think if we want to extend the franchise to a reasonable extent among the village population, we should strive to have at least 1,000 people in a union of a population of 15,000 or 16,000 to vote for the election. Under these circumstances I hope that the Government might be induced to accept annas eight for one rupee."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.
The President.

The President said :—

“I might put amendment No. 26 first so that the Hon'ble Members may have a chance of recording their opinion on it if they wish to do so, and then if No. 26 is not carried I will put No. 24 afterwards.”

Amendment No. 26 was then put and a division was taken with the following result :—

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Maulvi Abul Kasem; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Sir Henry Wheeler; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The following motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem to move that for the words "one rupee" wherever they occur in clause 5 (now clause 7), the words "eight annas" be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 27.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that the word "male" in line 1 of sub-clause (1) of clause 5 (now clause 7) be omitted.

He said:

"My Lord, I shall propose to give my reasons in the words of the District and Sessions Judge of Mymensingh: 'Some well-to-do ladies will otherwise be excluded. Many women of all classes will be tax-payers. Some female voters would be more educated than some male ones, while no female vote would be less educated than some male ones'."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"My Lord, we have already had one amendment dealing with universal suffrage, and in order to be thoroughly fashionable and up-to-date we now have an amendment dealing with female suffrage. The question of female suffrage has loomed very large recently in the annals of the West. It has led to a good deal of disturbance and to a certain amount of window-breaking and policeman-hitting and various other unfeminine acts, but the vote has recently been conceded to women as one of the changes brought about by the war. Personally, I think that in the circumstances of the West the wisest course has been taken. But as matters stand at present in the East things have not yet arrived at a point—I purposely do not say advanced to a point—at which it would be well to put this change in a Bill of this kind. In fact, another amendment, which stands in the name of the same Hon'ble Member, supplies an effective answer to his proposition, namely, No. 36, which says: 'provided also that all female voters shall be entitled to vote through their agents holding powers of attorney.' If, Sir, circumstances are such that it will be impossible for many ladies, under the social usages governing them, to record their votes in person, there exist practical and valid objections which merit the consideration of this Council before adopting a proposal of this kind."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, I must publicly acknowledge my sense of gratitude to my hon'ble friend, Babu Akhil Chandra Datta, and my admiration for his chivalry in moving this amendment. I do not know, my Lord, what arrangement he has in view to suggest to Government to provide for the voting of pardahnashin ladies. I do not know whether he really intends to press the amendment which stands in his name, and if he does, what arrangements he proposes to make for the recording of votes of pardahnashin ladies. I do not know and I should like to be enlightened—whether voting is to be by person or proxy. If it is to be by person, I do not think there will be any advantage in accepting this amendment, because not even one per cent. of the pardahnashin ladies who are entitled to vote would come forward to the polling station to record their votes.

There is another point: I do not know, although we are all crying for reforms in every direction and we are all anxious that reforms should be introduced not only in the legislature but also in the executive and administrative bodies, whether we have yet come to that stage of education even among the male population in this country that franchise should be extended to female population. I believe, my hon'ble friend will pardon me if I say that it will be simply ludicrous."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I had not intended to speak on this amendment, but certain observations of my hon'ble friend, Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, lead me to say something. There are no doubt practical difficulties in the way of pardanashin ladies otherwise qualified, but it ought to be borne in mind that we are legislating not only for the stronger sex but for the weaker sex as well, and it seems to me to put a bar upon the weaker sex—depriving them of the franchise in the formation of these union boards is going rather too far. Some may avail themselves of the permission if you choose to give the permission. If you choose to do away with the bar against the female sex that stands in the Bill, there may be ladies who might be willing to record their votes at the election. Why put a bar against them? I may mention that in the Presidency of Bombay and in the United Provinces there is no distinction of sex as regards voters, and ladies are equally entitled to vote in municipal elections as gentlemen. That being so, I think we might be a little fair to the weaker sex if we take away the present embargo. I may be permitted to mention one thing. In connection with the pending Calcutta Municipal Bill the Corporation has passed a resolution suggesting an improvement in the matter of voting powers. They have recommended that the distinction of sex in voting qualifications should be taken away as regards the City of Calcutta. I am merely mentioning these facts with a view to show that it would do no harm if you take away the distinction in the matter of election to the union boards."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, this is a point upon which arguments can reasonably be advanced on both sides. Although female education in this country has not advanced so far as to justify us in giving this franchise to the female, but in all fairness it may be pointed out that there are some lady zamindars who are more educated and otherwise more capable than, possibly in some cases, the rest of the villagers. They can reasonably complain and say why should not they have any right of franchise, especially when they are the proprietress of their estates and property in the absence of male proprietors. There are widow zamindars, for instance. So in these cases there may be some hardship. As regards the arrangement for the recording of votes of pardanashin ladies who would not come forward to give their votes by person I have suggested an agency in my amendment No. 36 where it is said that all female voters shall be entitled to vote through their agents holding powers of attorney. Besides the very fact we give them the right of franchise, it does not follow that they are bound to vote. It is quite optional to them to vote or not—they may exercise their right or not. I have been asked by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to express my real wish with regard to this motion. My real position is simply this : I am not absolutely keen on this matter, but at the same time I find that there are some people who want that the females should vote and I find that their opinion is held in some responsible quarters, such as the District and Sessions Judge of Mymensingh. I, therefore, thought it only proper that the matter should be brought up for the consideration of the Council. I am not myself extremely keen about it."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 28.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after the word "residence" in line 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the words "or business" be inserted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler, Rai Radha charan Pal Bahadur.

He said :

Now, my Lord, I need not say much on this point. I had in view the case of those persons who have a place of business in a certain village or within the jurisdiction of a certain union board, at the same time they may not have a place of residence there. This is a class of case in which I think there may be some hardship unless the words 'or business' be inserted after the word 'residence'."

The Honble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this is a small amendment and in answer to it I may merely explain the motives which actuated the Select Committee. The main principle upon which we proceeded was that the electors for these union boards should be people who are living in the villages and having a real genuine interest in the proper conduct of their affairs. The Council will remember that in the Bill, as we first amended it, we proposed to give the vote to persons resident within the union, and we defined what we meant by saying that 'resident' meant 'ordinarily resident', i. e., people who habitually live in the union and do not merely visit it at intervals. However, when we re-examined the Bill, judging by the amendments of which notice had been given, we found that there was a certain amount of opinion that the clause was too restrictive, since there might be people who might not be residents in the sense defined, but who, having places of residence within the union, might be deeply interested in its affairs. Therefore, recognizing that feeling, we altered the phrase to what it now is, i. e., having a place of residence. We enlarged it, therefore, in the sense of what seemed to be the feeling of the Council. Now, the Hon'ble Member asks that we should insert the words 'or business'. I would deprecate the change, although it is a small one, as ordinarily a man who possesses a place of business of any moment will have residing at it a gomastha or a servant who will be able to exercise the vote. There may again be cases of temporary businesses which might give rise to complications, such as the shop-keeper who comes once a week to the hāt and puts up his shop or stall under a tree. It might be said that as he had a place of business he was entitled to vote, as presumably he would be if he also paid the minimum taxation laid down. But I do not think it would be very desirable to give him a vote. Therefore, for these reasons, and also on the ground that it is wider than the existing rule governing elections to the local self-government unions, which requires a voter to be 'resident' in the sense of our original Bill, I would prefer not to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I support this amendment which has been moved by my hon'ble friend, Babu Akhil Chandra Datta. I do not know why a simple amendment like this is not accepted by Government. It is only the addition of the words 'or business' after the word 'residence'. A man who has got a place of business and who also pays one rupee cess, I think, may very fairly claim the right of voting in that area because he has at least some interest in the area as regards conservancy, water supply and other matters for which the union board will be responsible. I think in this matter at least we will have the support of the non-official European members. In the Calcutta Municipality as well as in the mufassal municipalities the legislature makes provision for a place of business in certain areas, and why should the right of voting be now denied to those who have places of business within the union area. They are equally interested in the sanitation and improvement of that area, and I think it is reasonable and fair that they the right and voice in selecting a representative should have on the board. Further, it has been stated, and which has not been controverted by facts and figures, that the number of voters is very limited even if you prescribe 8 annas which has been rejected as the minimum rate. I think the people who have a place of business will not add very greatly to the list of voters, and I think in these days of enlarged franchise we ought to extend the power of voting to persons who have a place of business, and it is to be remembered, not merely to persons who have a place of business but who pay cess not less than one rupee."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, there is one class of people in this country whose interest was really intended to be safeguarded by this amendment. In most parts of the country there are people who come and do their business in boats. For instance, there is a big bazar in the district of Mymensingh, namely, Bhairab, where a large number of men carry on business and they are interested in the regulation of traffic and many other questions which will have to be decided by the union boards. They are very wealthy people doing business who have a place of business there but who have not a place of residence. It is only fair to these people that they should have the right to vote."

AMENDMENT No. 29.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that after sub-clause (I) (ii) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be inserted, namely :—

“(iii) who is a teacher in any high English, middle English or middle vernacular school within the union, or”.

He said :

“My Lord, clause 5 (now clause 7) lays down the qualification of voters, but this clause does not include a very important class of people who play a very significant part in village life ; I mean the school-masters. They are the most intelligent and public spirited people in the village, and they may not even come under clause 5 (now clause 7) unless in their own capacity as teachers they are allowed to come in as voters, and I therefore propose this amendment. These people are very useful and in fact even on union boards they will play a very important part. I think they ought to be included in the list of voters. It may be that they may reside in another gentleman's house, as most of them do, and may not pay any chaukidari tax or road cess because they come from distant places, but they may reside in a village for more than ten months, and I think that they ought to be admitted to these union boards if these boards are to be successful in their operation.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“This amendment, Sir, is the first of six which follow, and which are all framed on somewhat similar lines, that is to say, they are all designed to add to the simple property qualification which is at present in the Bill, what I may call fancy qualifications, derived from miscellaneous tests of sorts other than the simple taxation qualification which is covered by clause 5 as it now stands. In reference to all these six amendments there are certain general considerations which I may now briefly state and which apply to all, and if I mention them now, it will avoid repetition later. In principle, all these kinds of special electorates are in a sense non-democratic, and they date, rather, from a time when a low property qualification was not in force. Even in those Acts which may be cited as authority, the precedents do not go so far as some of the amendments that have been filed in connection with this Bill, but it is true that in the franchise for local boards, one qualification is that of being a graduate or a licentiate of a University, or a holder of a certificate as a medical practitioner, or a pleader or a mukhtear. But the Local Self-Government Act was originally an Act of

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar.

1885, and the Municipal Act, in which there is a somewhat similar qualification, was an Act of 1884. So both these precedents are old, and I do not think they are altogether appropriate to modern conditions as effecting the present Bill. There is a great advantage in having a simple qualification. We must remember that these elections will, after all, be small affairs. The union board is not a very big body, and its functions cannot be viewed as very world-wide: they are essentially local, and the whole thing will be in the hands of simple people who are to be given a certain amount of control over their own affairs. Therefore the simpler the elections can be kept the better, and a simple qualification of low taxation, such as the Bill contains, is clear and definite, and is in conformity with what is the usual franchise practice in other countries where elections prevail. The usual scheme of suffrage is that of a property qualification, which is usually higher to begin with and lowered gradually in the course of successive reforms. That is what we have done here. We had a higher property qualification in the Act of 1885, and we have made it lower here, and I think we would be ill-advised to complicate it by going back to the old system of special electorates. Neither do the precedents bear the Hon'ble Member out in his present amendment. In neither of these two Acts can I find any precedent for inserting teachers of high English or middle vernacular schools among qualified voters. Therefore the amendment is a new embroidery on the two precedents which I have cited, and after all, is it unreasonable to expect from a voter the low cess qualification which will be in force at the first election, while as I have already said, after the first election, anybody will be able to vote who pays Re. 1 a year to the union board. Again, even at the first election this cess qualification, about which we have had some discussion to-day, will not be the only one in force, as equally at the first election a Re. 1 chaukidari tax qualification will be valid, and if a teacher of one of the schools of the kind enumerated has not paid the small sum of Re. 1 as chaukidari tax in a year, I really do not think he is particularly deserving of the franchise. As a matter of fact, he is almost certain to be able to put in a claim to vote under the existing provisions, and I would deprecate, either in this case or in those that follow it, adding special qualifications which are now somewhat out of date, and which will merely complicate the franchise as designed in the Bill."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, let us not forget the actual conditions under which the villages are situated and in which we are going to give effect to this matter. In the first place, a person having an ordinary place of residence in the union will be entitled to be a member. In most villages, educated, public spirited, and competent men live away from their houses, so they do not come in. Thus, in the villages there are the school-masters of a number of middle English and vernacular schools. If you also exclude them, then who are to form the union board and discharge its functions? Very important duties are imposed under this enactment upon the union board—first, to preserve and maintain the conservancy and sanitation in the villages, secondly, to form the criminal court of the union, and thirdly, they are to administer civil law in certain classes of suits. All these require some sort of intelligence, some sort of public spirit, and some amount of sacrifice. If you exclude the teachers who ordinarily reside in the villages, I shudder to contemplate what will be the ultimate effect of this enactment. Who are to form the boards, who are to discharge these functions? and in this view I think it is the intention of Government to work out successfully this important measure to see that sufficient scope is given for the application of the Act, and for its successful working—in this view I think, whatever may be urged on the other side, the school teachers ought to come in if we at all hope to succeed in working out this measure for the benefit of the people."

"The motion was then put and lost.

*The Bengal Village self Government, Bill, 1919.Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.AMENDMENT No. 30.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur moved that after sub-clause (1) (iii) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be inserted, namely*—

“ or

- (iiia) who, during the year immediately preceding the election, has paid a license-tax in respect of a trade, calling or industry carried on within the limits of the union, or
- (iiib) who, during the year immediately preceding the election, has paid an income-tax, or
- (iiic) who has passed the middle vernacular or middle English examination, or
- (iiid) who has passed any title examination recognized by Government, such as the tol examination or the final examination of a madrassa, or
- (iiie) who has passed the entrance or matriculation or any higher examination of any University, or
- (iiif) who is a licentiate of any University, or holds a certificate as a pleader or mukhtear or revenue agent or a medical practitioner registered under the Bengal Medical Act, 1914, or an overseer”.

He said :

“ My Lord, my amendment covers a wider field. It can be divided into two parts. First, I think that educational qualifications ought to be considered, and secondly, I think that those who pay income-tax or license-tax or a trade tax ought to be included in the list of voters. My Lord, I am perfectly aware of the provisions of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act. Question after question is asked in the Council regarding the election rules, and the opinion of the Advocate-General was taken on the subject, but, inasmuch as his opinion was that the provisions of section 15 were rather restricted, the view taken by some of the non-official members was not accepted. Now that we are getting a fresh legislation, on the subject, is it not necessary for the Council to consider whether all those defects which appear in the Bengal Municipal Act should be removed by this legislation. The word ‘occupy’ in section 15 of the Bengal Municipal Act was a great obstacle to allowing men possessing educational qualifications to come in, but no such defect will occur here. The question, therefore, can be summed up in this way, viz., whether those who have got educational qualifications are entitled to be included in the list of voters or not. My Lord, those who are aware of village life will agree with me that to ensure success of the provisions of the Bill, it is necessary that some intelligent men who can lead society, who can lead the cultivators, ought to come in in the union boards as well as sit in village courts. Now, the Bill prohibits the legal practitioners from working in village courts; he is not allowed to come in. If the Bill proposes that intelligent men bearing educational qualifications ought not to come in, what will be the condition of things? The Bill requires that from among the members of the union boards, benches are to be established, and consequently it is highly necessary for the interests of the cultivators who reside there that there should be some people who can form the intelligent portion of the court or bench. There should be some provision to this effect. Let us take into consideration the case of a medical practitioner. In villages there are medical practitioners who may not hold any land but practice all the same in that locality. Are we to be told that these medical practitioners are to be excluded from the scope of the Bill? Let us take another instance, the pleader who goes from one place to practise in a neighbouring court. Is he to be told that he cannot sit in the union board or on the bench? Let us take also into consideration the case of a voter who has many sons, all graduates of the Calcutta University; the Bill lays down that only one member of a joint family is to be enlisted as a voter. My Lord injustice will be done to these persons who are graduates of the University, but who are not entitled to be members of the board or the bench. It is said that this Bill is a simple one, therefore, the cultivator who pays cess and union rates are only to be enlisted as voters. I submit in respect to that, that if the Bill comes into operation by the light of the observations contained in the Bill, the success of the village local self-government is at an end. Unless you put forward men who are capable to sit as judges in the bench and the court, as active members of the union boards, I am almost sure the cultivators, simple as they are, will not be in a position to maintain the dignity of the board or the dignity of the bench. In this view of the matter I thought that it was high time that we should come before your Excellency's Government and explain how matters are, and it is my strong impression that if this view be accepted by Government the result will be a success. Your Excellency will also consider this, that supposing the scope of the Bill is limited, then you allow those who pay cess or union rates to sit as members of the board, or to appear in the list of voters. I suppose. My Lord that your Excellency will have to import men from other quarters in order to make the bench or the court sufficiently strong. I need not reiterate my views, for proposing what have been called fancy qualifications. I do not question the character of the Bill, but I am deeply concerned with the success of the provisions of the Act, and in this view I do strongly submit to your Excellency that Your Excellency should press the Council to consider the amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I have already put before the Council certain general considerations bearing on amendments of this type, and I would like them to be considered as applicable in answer to this amendment also. But, before proceeding to details, I would strongly combat the misapprehension that might be conveyed by the Hon'ble Member's speech that under the franchise in the Bill, as it now stands, we are excluding the educated classes. The Hon'ble Member asks us with all seriousness what is to happen to the pleader, the mukhtear, the graduate and the medical practitioner under the franchise as we have framed it in the Bill. My answer is that the graduate, the pleader, or the medical practitioner has merely got to pay a fraction over an anna a month as a contribution to the funds of the union board in order to be a voter for it, and if, with all his high professional qualifications, he is not able to pay that infinitesimal sum, I submit that he has very small claim to our consideration. It is often alleged with reference to chaukidari assessments, that those who ought to pay do not always pay, but I cannot believe that the defects in the Chaukidari assessments are carried to such an extent that the professional classes, on whose behalf the Hon'ble Member has addressed us so eloquently, do not pay even the small sum which qualify them to be voters under the Bill. As regards the details of the proposal in the Hon'ble Member's amendment they are rather a curious mixture; he seems to have made search in various Acts and picked out some analogies for his present purpose, while, for the rest, he has got them out of his own head. Thus, when we come to his first qualification, that of paying license-tax in respect of a trade, etc., he has apparently gone to section 9(2) (b) of the Local Self-Government Act of 1885, but the license-tax there mentioned is now out of date. In his second qualification, he comes to the payment of income-tax, which he has taken apparently from the Municipal election rules. But surely if a man pays income-tax, it follows, almost as a matter of course, that he can pay the small sum per month which will qualify him as a voter for the union board. The third test, that of passing the middle English or vernacular examination, is entirely a new one, and the Council will observe to what a very low educational level it comes. It cannot be seriously contended that the middle English or the middle vernacular is a very high standard for a man exercising this franchise. Even in the Local Self-Government Act the educational franchise does not go below graduates and the Municipal rules only go down to the Intermediate Arts standard. His fourth qualification is very curiously worded. He says that those who have passed any title examination, such as the tol examination or the final examination of a madrassa, should be entitled to vote. I am not quite clear what he means when he refers to tols and madrassas, for which I cannot find any precedent in other Acts, and the whole thing is vague in the extreme. His fifth test is the passing of the entrance or the matriculation or any higher examination of a University. It, therefore, overlaps in a very curious way his third one, which was the middle vernacular or middle English examination, and surely the entrance examination of the University is not a very high standard. His last qualification is apparently based on the Municipal rules, but he has omitted an important item in that precedent which was that of a property qualification, in addition to the educational qualification, and he has put in a curious reference to an overseer, regarding which I am not quite sure what he means. Therefore, I think that, even as they stand, the amendments are defective; they are not supported by precedent, and they are not justified by the main argument which the Hon'ble Member has used, namely, that unless we insert them in the Bill we eliminate the educated classes from the list of voters. On the contrary, we wish to bring them in, and I submit that they can usually be brought in by the payment of the very low taxation which the Bill proposes."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I do not wish to give a silent vote on this matter, but I wish to say that I have listened with very great attention to the speech of the Hon'ble Mover, whom it has always been my pleasure to support. I have paid a little attention to the other clauses of the Bill, and although I have listened with very great attention to his very eloquent speech I must say that I have gone into many of his points as far as I could, and find on a reference to the several clauses of the Bill that his points will not stand very close examination. My hon'ble friend wants that medical men, lawyers, graduates and under-graduates and teachers should all be voters, but I find that in clause 38 (now clause 37) of the Bill there is a provision that anyone who pays a union rate of Rs. 1 will be entitled to vote whatever he may be. If a man does not pay this rate, even if he is a resident, I do not think he has any claim to sit on the union board as a representative. The Hon'ble Member also wants to add another qualification over and above the residential qualification, in one case, i.e., he will give a vote to the man who is paying a license tax, but in such cases the man generally pays an income-tax and, of course, an union rate. If so, he will be entitled to a vote, but if he is not a resident there, it is not desirable to have him even when he pays a cess rate or the union rate. He should be a resident there. I need not enter into the question at all. It will be otherwise spoilt by this amendment. I would like to include business in the category the clauses are added together, I do not see my way to vote for this amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, I am not quite clear in regard to one thing. Is it possible that irrespective of property qualification, if a man pays down a rupee for the union rate he will be entitled to vote? If that is so, everything that the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has said will hold good. If it is not so, we must stand out for educational qualification which is no new departure. It has already been recognized in the Municipal Acts, as has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler; and in dealing with this matter we ought not to depart from this principle. If it is quite clear that the payment of one rupee independent of property qualification would entitle a person to vote, I think we ought to enact some of the clauses here. My difficulty in supporting the whole of the amendment is that this amendment is a somewhat curious mixture of the kind pointed out by the Hon'ble Sir Henry

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

Wheeler. For example, when it talks of licentiates of any University the framer forgets that the Calcutta University gives no licenses in these days. And if you fix the matriculation standard you bring down the qualification lower than that indicated by the other clauses. That is, however, a matter of detail. One advantage or disadvantage of having this legislation now is that we are considering in advance as to what will happen to the Reform Scheme, i.e., whether merely property qualification or educational qualification also should come in. The educational qualification is already in our existing Municipal Act, and I do not see why it should be taken away in connection with the new machinery without any adequate reason. I would partially support the principle of the amendment so far as the educational qualification is concerned."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, the amendments that follow after the one that has been moved by the Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur are on the same lines. I have given notice of one of them. My idea was not to include in the list of voters all men, University graduates, under-graduates or matriculates and finally passed students of madrassas or tols even if they pay the union rates : but my object was to include in the list of voters those people who will not be entitled to pay the rates as such just as the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has pointed out. There must be some rule that if he does not occupy a separate holding he will not be entitled to vote. The people whom I had in mind were the sons of gentlemen who hold property in their own name. Adult children and grandchildren of gentlemen living in the village would not be entitled to vote neither to pay taxes or rates. As regards independent men living by themselves I do not think the union committee will ever exempt them from paying the taxes and they will be the last persons to be let off without paying the rates. But those who live with their fathers and the property is held in the name of their fathers or mothers, they will not be entitled to vote ; and my object—and it was the object of my friend—to include in the list of voters all qualified persons, i.e., those resident of the union who are graduates or have educational qualifications but live with their parents and have no property of their own. I think that if any means could be found to include them I would be glad to accept them. But I would like to submit that their inclusion would not increase the number of voters very much as their number will be very limited. That is why I insist upon their being included."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, a certain amount of misapprehension may possibly have been caused by my somewhat loose use of the term 'property qualification'. I used the expression in order to differentiate between these educational standards which are mentioned in the amendment and the scheme of the Bill. But perhaps the more accurate term would be tax or rate-paying qualification. Under clause 38 (now clause 37) of the Bill, a union board shall impose yearly a rate on the owners or occupiers of buildings. That is, modelled on section 14 of the Chaukidari Act, which says that all owners or occupiers of houses in any village and any person who has within such village a cutcherry for collecting rents, shall be liable to assessment for the purposes of the Act. I think that it is known to all that many people pay chaukidari tax who are not in any sense propertied men."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, in reply I beg to invite the attention of the Hon'ble Member in charge to clause 39 (now clause 38) of the Bill. The rate to be imposed by union boards under clause 38 (now clause 39) shall be an assessment according to the circum stances and the property within the union of the person liable to pay the same. Supposing a gentleman who has got educational qualifications has no property, then he is not required to pay the rate and he cannot be assessed. I refer to clause 5 (now clause 7) which lays down that the payment of a cess is a qualification of a voter. Suppose a gentleman possessing an educational qualification does not pay cess at all, then he is not and cannot be enlisted as a voter. For this reason I say that independent of the payment of union rates or the cess those persons who have got educational qualifications ought to be enlisted as voters, and the reason is plain. I think it is necessary that the Hon'ble Members should consider that the rate-paying or tax-paying qualification ought not to be the only qualification for being enlisted as voters. Therefore, in this view of the matter I thought it necessary to press my amendment for the consideration of the Hon'ble Members. The same fault appears in the Bengal Municipal Act, although an attempt was made in this Council to have it modified, but the difficulty arose on account of the provisions in section 15 of the Bengal Municipal Act, and although resolutions were put before the Council, Lord Sinha could not find his way on the face of the difficulties which were pointed out to him to modify it. Now that this Bill is going to be law I appeal to the Legislature to consider whether these difficulties can be overcome. In that sense, I have brought it to the notice of your Excellency's Council, or else the same difficulty will be felt hereafter."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, may I add one word with reference to clause 39 (now clause 38), to which the Hon'ble Member has made reference now for the first time? I might explain that the words there used—'an assessment according to the circumstances and the property'—are modelled upon section 15 of the Chaukidari Act, 1870, which refers to an assessment according to the circumstances and the property to be protected of the persons liable to taxation. That, in no sense requires that the people assessed should be owners of property; a cursory glance at any village chaukidari assessment roll will show that the panchayet taxes men in view of their circumstances, whether they are daily labourers, artisans, pleaders, school-masters or what not. In the same way pleaders or professional men of any kind who occupy a building will be assessed under the Bill according to their circumstances. I have already mentioned that a person need only pay the very low assessment of slightly over one anna per month in order to qualify for a vote."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 31.

The following motion stood in the name of the the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, that after sub-clause (1) (iii) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be inserted namely :—

"or

- (iiia) who has passed the middle English or middle vernacular examination, or
- (iiib) who has passed the sanskrit tol examination or the junior madrassa examination recognized by Government, or
- (iiic) who has passed any University examination, or
- (iiid) who holds a certificate and license as a pleader, mukhtear or revenue agent or as a medical practitioner registered under the Bengal Medical Board."

He said :

"I think that this amendment has been disposed of after the discussion which has taken place on the previous one, and I do not think that I shall be in order in moving this amendment."

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; President ; Sir Henry Wheeler. •AMENDMENT No. 32.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta, to move that after sub-clause (1) (iii) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be inserted, namely :—

“ or

(iii*b*) who, during the year immediately preceding the election, has been possessed of a clear income from any source of not less than Rs. 120, or

(iii*c*) who is a graduate, under-graduate or matriculate or is a sanskrit title-holder or has passed the tol final examination or middle English or middle vernacular scholarship examination, or the normal school or madrassa school examinations, or the final examination from a recognized medical school and who ordinarily resides within such union.”.

The President said :—

“I think that this amendment is covered by the discussion of the previous amendment.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“My Lord, there are three parts of this amendment. the first part of which is covered by the amendment that has already been disposed of, viz., No. 31. Part 2 is, however, new which says :—

‘ who, during the year immediately preceding the election, has been possessed of a clear income from any source of not less than Rs. 120 ’.

I press for this portion. This is really a reproduction of section 9 (1) (c) of the Self-Government Act of 1885. As regards the third portion, I think that it is also disposed of. I shall, therefore, confine myself to the second portion.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“My Lord, I will not repeat the general considerations on which I deprecate the acceptance of this amendment, but will only refer to the clause which the Hon'ble Member still wishes to press, namely, the possession of an income from any source of not less than Rs. 120. The Hon'ble Member claims the precedent of section 9 (2) (c) of the Local Self-Government Act ; but I may point out that in that section the figure is Rs. 240, which, for some reason unexplained, he has halved. But, apart from that, anybody possessing a clear income of Rs. 10 a month would under the customary procedure of village assessment be asked to pay the minimum amount of Re. 1 which would qualify him to be a voter.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“My Lord, I have seen that in the other Act the figure is Rs. 240, but I have advisedly reduced it in order that we may have more men to serve on the union boards. That was the consideration which influenced me in reducing the amount.”

AMENDMENTS Nos. 33 and 34.

The following motions were then deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray to move that after sub-clause (1) (iii) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be inserted, namely :—

“ or
(iii) who is a matriculate of an Indian University or has passed the final examination of the State Medical Faculty, the Board of Sanskrit examination or the Government madrassas.”

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that after sub-clause (1) (iii) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be inserted, namely :—

“ or
(iv) who has passed the matriculation examination of an Indian University, or any other examination equivalent to the same, or the final examination of any senior madrassa recognized by Government, or any title examination in sanskrit recognized by Government, or any examination under the State Medical Faculty of Bengal or of any other Provincial Government in British India.”

AMENDMENT No. 35.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, withdrew the following motion with the permission of the President, viz.,—

“that the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 5 (now clause 7) be omitted.”

AMENDMENT No. 36.

The following motion was held to be covered by the decision on amendment No. 27 and was deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that after the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be inserted, namely ;—

“ Provided also that all female voters shall be entitled to vote through their agents holding powers of attorney.”

AMENDMENT No. 37.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words “every person” in line 1 of sub-clause (2) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the words “every literate male person” be substituted.

He said :

“My Lord, the object of this amendment is that the members of union boards should be literate.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“My Lord, this amendment, as the Hon'ble Member has just said, would make literacy a test of membership of the union board. In so doing, it would follow a precedent which is in the Local Self-Government election rules, though on the other hand, it is not in the Municipal rules. We may therefore say that the precedents are divided. The amendment is unexceptionable in so far as we want the people who are going to be members of the board to be men of capacity, which to some extent, is indicated by literacy, but I would invite the attention of the Council to certain remarks which were made by the District Administration Committee which considered this matter, and was influenced by the opinion of two of its members who were closely connected with Eastern Bengal. They wrote :—

'The objection has been taken that there will not be men in all unions sufficiently qualified to undertake the duties that we are proposing for the panchayets, but we think that in this matter there is a tendency to look too much to education and too little to personal qualifications. Two of our members have spent the greater part of their service in Eastern Bengal, and their work has brought them into direct and constant association with the villagers in the remotest parts of many districts. Their experience is that in every union suitable men can be found to serve on the panchayets who, although not possessing high educational qualifications, can be trusted under sympathetic guidance and control to do a great deal of useful work for their villages. We believe that this is equally true of other parts of Bengal, and that all over the province such men can be found.'

That, Sir, is a pronouncement of some authority, and it would weigh with me in deprecating this amendment, though if the Hon'ble Member cares to press it to a division I would leave it to the Council "

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I am not myself very keen about this. There is some feeling amongst the non-official members that this should be urged. At the same time, I hope that similar arguments will be advanced ; it is said very often that the people are not sufficiently educated. I for one would be glad to accept the position that has been taken by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, that is, however, my personal opinion. As there is a feeling in the non-official benches that this amendment is necessary, I feel justified in pressing it."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 38.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, withdrew the following motion with the permission of the President :—

That at the end of sub-clause (2) of clause 5 (now clause 7) the following be added, namely :—

" Provided that only one member of a joint undivided family shall be entitled to be so elected."

AMENDMENT No. 39.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that the Explanation to clause 5 (now clause 7) be omitted.

He said :

"My Lord, in this explanation the word 'residence' is explained as ordinarily residing within its limits. The last portion says: 'No person may be so resident within the limits of more than one union at the same time'. I think the expression should be rather elastic. Resident may be taken as sufficient without a restriction as to the manner of residence, as in that case very few qualified men will be available for work on these union boards. It may be that for the sake of serving the needs of the community in the matter of medical aid and education many people of the headquarters may be inclined to go actually to the village and serve on these boards, and if it is restricted that such persons should be residing in the union in order to be able to serve there. Moreover, in the case of municipal boards, we see that one person may enjoy the right of voting in more than one municipality or locality ; so, in this case simply because a person is a resident of one union board, he should not therefore be debarred from serving on another union board. In that view of the matter, I hope that the explanation be omitted."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

" My Lord, I recommend the retention of the explanation. It will be remembered that in the Bill as it passed out of the hands of the Select Committee, this residential qualification applied to the voter as well as to the member. As I have previously explained to-day, we discarded it in the case of the voter, in deference to what we understood to be the sense of the Council ; but we retained it as regards the member, in order to ensure that the people who serve on these union boards should be genuine residents and not outsiders. We want to get the men who actually live in the villages, who are in the confidence of the people there, who know what is going on, and who are competent to supervise the execution of the petty works of improvement which will be within the power of the union boards. We do not think that the affairs of the union boards can be run properly by men who are mere birds of passage, making only casual visits to the union, and importance is to be attached to the Explanation that no person may be resident of more than one union at the same time. If there is any doubt, the person himself can state the place where he most frequently resides and where he wishes to take part in the affairs of that union as a resident, but he will not be allowed to be a member of a union with which he does not have a really close connection. That seems a fair provision and I would press for its retention."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

" My Lord, I have already said what I had to say, I think that if it be restricted to ordinary residence many qualified persons will be unable to serve on these boards. I submit, therefore, that this amendment should be accepted."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 40.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

" My Lord, in view of the decision of the Council on the previous amendment this item (No. 40) also falls through."

The motion was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that after the words " within its limits " in lines 3 and 4 of the Explanation to clause 5 (now clause 7) the words " or has a place of residence within the union ", be inserted.

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 41.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that in line 1 of clause 6A, (now clause 9), for the word " may " the word " shall " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, I wish to make it obligatory on the union board to elect one of its members to be its vice-president, and in that view I move this amendment."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Mr. Hart ; Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.The Hon'ble Mr. Hart said :—

" My Lord, I oppose this amendment. The Hon'ble Member has not given any reasons for proposing to make it obligatory that the union board should appoint or elect a vice-president, and I think it is recognized that it is important that the administration of the union board should be conducted as far as possible in the same simple way as the business affairs of a family are managed. Formalities should be avoided and nothing should be done to give an opening to complications. In every joint family there is a karta or headman who conducts its business affairs and it is not the ordinary practice to appoint a vice-headman unless and until it becomes apparent that the vice-headman is necessary. For the same reasons it is expedient that a union board should not appoint a vice-president until the necessity arises. In a municipality where they have a vice-chairman, the case is somewhat different. There the number and complexity of the chairman's duties make it desirable that he should have the assistance of a vice-chairman, but the president of a union board will not have more work than one capable person can ordinarily manage. It would be a mistake to appoint two persons to divide the work and responsibility of one man, and it would be a mistake to impose on the union board a superfluous officer. Clause 6A (now clause 9) as it stands empowers the union board to elect a vice-president when it considers such an appointment necessary. To compel the union board against its will to appoint a vice-president is unnecessary and likely to be prejudicial to the system of village self-government. For these reasons, my Lord, I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

" My Lord, I cannot understand why it is not thought desirable that there should be a vice-president. These boards should not be a one-man show ; we often hear that the chairman of the district board is the district board, so even in executive union boards it is very desirable that there should be a vice-president to assist the president. The provision in the law is very reasonable, that there may be a vice-president, and to emphasize the necessity of such an officer, I have proposed that it should be made obligatory. I, therefore, hope that this amendment will be accepted."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 42

The following motion which was held to be covered by the decision on amendment No. 41 was then deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that clause 6A (now clause 9) be re-numbered as clause 6A (1) and that after the re-numbered sub-clause (1), the following sub-clause be inserted, namely :—

"(2) If any union board fails to elect a vice-president within the period prescribed by rules under section 111, the district board shall appoint a member of the union board to be the vice-president."

AMENDMENT No. 43.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "district magistrate" in line 3 of sub-clause (1) of clause 11A (now clause 11) the words "district board" be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Sir Henry Wheeler ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Maulvi Abul Kasem.

He said :

"My Lord, this is based upon the general principle that the duty and function of the supervision of the rural boards should be entrusted to the district board and not to the district magistrate."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, I do not quite understand why this amendment has been mooted, except on the general principle of looking through the Bill and wherever the words 'district magistrate' occur proposing to substitute for them the words 'district board'. The duty defined in clause 11A (now clause 11) has nothing to do with the working of the boards or with the control over them. It is merely a declaratory function—to declare authoritatively that a board was constituted on such and such a date. That is a formality connected with the calculation of the term of office of members. It was not in the Bill as originally framed, which specified a 3-year term of membership from the date of election or appointment. In the Select Committee we discussed how best to ensure that the term of elected members and appointed members synchronized, and we finally adopted the solution which is now in the Bill, to have an authoritative declaration of the date from which the board was duly constituted, and to let the three years' term run for all from that date. This clause says that the district magistrate is to declare the date ; in so doing he can hurt nobody, even if it wanted to do so, and the proposal is consistent with clause 3 (now clause 5) of the Bill which makes the creation of these union boards, a function of the Executive Government. It is best that a simple function of this kind should be performed similarly by an executive officer, and there will be less likelihood of possible confusion if it is left to him than if it is delegated to the district board."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, in view of the observations made by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, I beg permission to withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 44.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, moved that after the word 'may' in line 1 of sub-clause (1) of clause 12, the following be inserted, namely :—

"Of its own motion, or on an application made in accordance with rules under section 111."

He said :

"This is a very formal amendment, and the Hon'ble Member may accept it if he thinks fit."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I do not think the amendment is required. The clause deals with the power to remove members, and says that the district board may remove any member under specified conditions. I do not think it is necessary to say that it should do so of its own motion or on an application made in accordance with rules made under clause 111 (now clause 102), because the district board will take action whenever the facts are brought to its notice in any manner."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Kumar Shib Shikhareswar Ray ;Sir Henry Wheeler.The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

“ My Lord, I do not wish to press this amendment.”

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.”

AMENDMENT No. 45.

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shikhareswar Ray, in the absence of the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha, moved that for the words, brackets and figures “ clause (1) or clause (3)” in line 2 of sub-clause (2) of clause 12 the following be substituted, namely :—

“ clauses (1), (3) or (5)”.

He said :

“ My Lord, the reason is obvious. A person guilty of misconduct or of any disgraceful conduct ought not to be re-elected as a member of the union board. I submit that misconduct or disgraceful conduct is no less reprehensible than the disqualifications mentioned under (1) and (3) of sub-clause (1). If a member of a union board finds that, in the event of his being declared guilty of misconduct, he will be permanently disqualified from being again elected a member, he is likely to be more careful and scrupulous than if the only penalty for misconduct is to be his removal from membership for a short time only, and there will be nothing to prevent his being re-elected. The proposal, if accepted, will certainly act as a more powerful deterrent than the nominal punishment of temporary disqualification provided in the Bill.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“ Sir, I have no objection in accepting this amendment if it commends itself to the Council. Clause 12 enumerates five circumstances under which persons may be disqualified. The Bill makes two of them permanent disqualifications, that is, conviction of a non-bailable offence and having been declared disqualified for employment in the public service. The fifth, that is, being guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties, is not permanent ; we discussed the point in Select Committee, and the view we took was that if the electors thought that a man should be re-elected after what he had done, we should be prepared to allow them to do so. But if the Council wish to make this a permanent disqualification, I am prepared to accept it.”

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shikhareswar Ray said :—

“ I have nothing further to add, my Lord.”

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 46.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq :—

New clause 14B.

That after clause 14A (now clause 14) the following be inserted, namely :—

“ 14B. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, it shall be competent for the voters of a union board to pass a vote of censure on any member of such board at a meeting attended by at least two-thirds of the total number of voters.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Maulvi Abdul Kasem ; President ; Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq ; Babu Kishore Mohan Chaudhuri.

(2) On such a vote being passed, the member concerned shall tender his resignation to the union board within two months of the date of the meeting, and in case of his neglect or refusal to do so, he shall be removed from office by the district board.

(3) Every such meeting shall be convened and conducted in accordance with rules under section 111."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry I cannot move this amendment, but if anyone wishes to move it on behalf of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, he is quite welcome to do so.

The President said :—

"Does not the Hon'ble Member wish to move it?"

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"No, I cannot also move Nos. 47, or 48 ; 49 also falls through."

As no Hon'ble member was willing to move it the motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 47—49.

The following motions were also deemed to be withdrawn.

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that sub-clause (1) of clause 15 be omitted.

If motion No. 47 be carried, also to move that before the words "vice-president" in line 1 of sub-clause (3) of clause 15 the word "President" be inserted.

Also to move that after the word "may" in line 1 of sub-clause (1) of clause 16 the following be inserted, namely :—

"of its own motion, or on an application made in accordance with rules under section 111".

AMENDMENTS Nos. 50—52.

The following motions were held to be covered by the decisions on previous motions and were deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the word "may" in line 2 of sub-clause (3) of clause 17 the word "shall" be substituted.

Also to move that after the word "meeting" in line 3 of sub-clause (3) of clause 17 the following be inserted, namely :—

"within a period prescribed by rules under section 111".

Also to move that after sub-clause (3) of clause 17 the following be inserted, namely :—

"(4) if any union board fails to elect a new vice-president within the prescribed period, the district board shall appoint a new vice-president."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abdul Kasem; Sir Henry Wheeler; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.AMENDMENT No. 53New clause 17A.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, moved that after clause 17 the following be inserted, namely :—

"17A. The union board shall have power to grant leave of absence to its president or vice-president for a period not exceeding six months in a year, either at one time or in the aggregate, and may fill up the vacancy caused by such absence."

He said :

"My Lord, I think in the Municipal Act provision is made for granting leave to the chairman and vice-chairman, and I think the same concession should be shown to union board officers as well."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"This is scarcely a proposal which involves any important principle, but rather a detail of administrative convenience and necessity. As the Hon'ble Mr. Hart has said in connection with another amendment, we want to keep the working of the union boards as simple as possible, and therefore we did not follow the precedents of the Municipal Act or the Local Self-Government Act in certain of the provisions which are required in the case of a more highly organized body like a district board or a municipality. In this matter of granting leave we thought it better that if the president required leave, the union board should see to it in an informal way and arrange for the performance of his functions in his absence. We have a rule making power in clause 111(d) [now clause 101(d)] to prescribe the powers to be exercised by the president or vice-president of a union board, and probably, if a difficulty arose, we could frame rules which would meet it. That is my objection to the amendment; that it goes rather beyond the limits of simplicity which we sought to maintain in respect of these boards."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I cannot quite follow the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. As far as I understand, he does not quite oppose this amendment, but at the same time he does not wish to burden the union board with other provisions. What I want to know is, if the president of the union board—I do not say the vice-president—is unable to attend to his duties for six months or more, what are the provisions of the Bill which will enable the union board to elect another president to officiate for him, or to carry on his work in his absence? There is no provision as far as I know, and I am not sure whether in the absence of any provision of this kind the union board will be able to grant leave to their president or vice-president. The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler referred to clause 111(d) [now clause 101(d)] which prescribes the powers to be exercised by the president or vice-president of the union board, but the president must be there in flesh and blood, and must be present at the meeting of the board. Suppose he is ill or laid up or goes away, or is absent from the place, there must be some person to perform his functions. I should like to know whether in such cases the union board will be in a position to appoint a temporary president or vice-president."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, I gather that the Hon'ble Member asks two questions. He enquires as to my own personal view, which is, that this amendment is unnecessary. Secondly, he asks who is to exercise the statutory functions of the president in his absence? As regards that I would merely say that for the performance of the statutory functions of a body like the Calcutta Corporation, with all its complicated interests, it is necessary to have provisions of this kind definitely laid down, but when we come to union boards, which are after all merely a few men running the affairs of a village, we do not require to overload the Bill with special provisions, and if we can avoid them, so much the better. The Bill will be worked by fairly simple people and it should be kept simple. As it is, the idea of this Bill has grown considerably since Sir Nicholas Beatson Bell first attempted to frame it. He hoped to put down provisions on little more than a half sheet of notepaper for the guidance of these village committees, but the Bill has already become much larger than was originally intended, and I hesitate to add other provisions unless their necessity can be very clearly proved. Otherwise, there is no question of principle involved."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, the object of moving this amendment was that the union boards should be given power to grant short leave of absence to their presidents in urgent cases. Suppose the president is ill or obliged to leave the village for medical treatment or for any urgent business, what provision is to be made to carry on the duties of the board? I am afraid the only course open to him is to resign his office, and a fresh election must take place, unless there is a vice-president to act for him. Of course the period of six months in the aggregate is too long a period, but some provision ought to be made in the Bill for temporary grant of leave to the president in order to ensure arrangements for carrying on his work during his absence. I admit, of course, that it has nothing to do with the principle of the Bill."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 54.Clause 20.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that after the word "road" in line 1 of clause 20 (now clause 19) the words "bridge and tank" be inserted.

He said :

"My Lord, this amendment refers to clause 20 (now clause 19) of the Bill, which provides for the property to be vested in the union boards, that is to say, roads, buildings or other works constructed by the union wards. To those I wish to add 'bridge and tank'. It is extremely doubtful if the word 'road' as defined in this Bill would cover a bridge. Certainly it would not cover a tank, and I think if we enumerate any property it is necessary to expressly mention 'bridge' and 'tank' which are very important works of the board. I do not think 'or other work' would be sufficient to cover these two, for in that case the clause ought to have been worded 'other works constructed by the union board'. We need not have mentioned roads, buildings, etc. If it was necessary to mention roads, buildings, etc., I think it is necessary to mention also bridges and tanks."

The Hon'ble Mr. Hart said :—

"My Lord, I oppose this amendment. Clause 20 (now clause 19) of the Bill applies to 'every road, building or other work' and the words 'other work' obviously cover a bridge or a tank. The Select Committee saw no reason to include in this clause a complete list of the various kinds of work which a union board may construct, and I do not think that the Hon'ble Member has been able to show that there is special need for making specific mention of bridges or tanks. I might explain also that in this case the wording of the clause exactly follows that of section 75 of the Local Self-Government Act of 1885. As these words are unnecessary, my Lord, I beg to recommend that the amendment be not accepted."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, with due deference to the finality of the Select Committee, I beg to submit that I am not at all impressed with the Hon'ble Member's statement that the words 'other work' in place of 'other works constructed by' would do. Why do you mention roads and buildings? If you mention them, you should also mention other important works done by the union board. 'Or other works' might mean according to the interpretation given generally in courts of law, other works like buildings, etc.—the preceding words. I think there can be no bar in introducing the words 'bridge and tank'."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 55.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that the words "from the union fund" in line 2 of clause 20 (now clause 19) be omitted.

He said :

"My Lord, the next amendment also refers to this very clause which says that every road, building or other works constructed by a union board from union funds shall be vested in the union boards. I do not understand why you should fetter this clause with the restrictive clause, viz., 'from the union fund'. The union board may construct a work either by begging, borrowing or stealing, and why should you say, constructed by the union board from the union fund? It may even happen that a private gentleman may grant a sum of money with the object of constructing a tank; there the work is constructed not from the union fund, but from some specific fund received for the purpose. Why should we fetter the hands of the union board by saying that that tank should be vested in case it is constructed from the union fund? I think the clause 'from the union fund' should be omitted."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"I do not think, Sir, that the clause as it stands will give rise to any practical inconvenience, while the adoption of the amendment might possibly have that result. The Hon'ble Member has referred to the case of a work constructed out of a donation made by a private individual, but such a work will vest in the union board. It will do so because under clause 47 (now clause 46) the donation would be a miscellaneous receipt of the union board and part of the union fund, and the work so constructed would come within the meaning of this clause. But the possible inconvenience to which I refer is that if the district board took action under clause 35 (now clause 33) to make over to the union board the execution of any work within its area, it might well happen that, while the district board might want to make over to the union board a particular work and the union board might be perfectly willing to undertake it, yet neither the district board might want to make over the property, nor the union board want the responsibility of keeping it. Therefore, inconvenience might arise if we made the change which the Hon'ble Member suggests."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I am not much impressed with the arguments of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler nor the illustration he has put before the Council. If a man makes a donation for making a road, it may be taken as part of the union fund, but at the same time I think there is something to be said that certain cases would not be covered by the Bill as it now stands. Suppose I happen to be a resident of a union board and there is a road running from my ground to another part of the union and I want to make over this private road of mine to the union board, for it would be a great convenience to the public, then in that case the words of the Bill as they stand would rather go to show that it would not be vested in the union board, because it is not a road made from the union fund. I want to have this made clear, that if I make a gift of my private road to the union board and the union board takes it over because it would be a great boon to the public, it should vest in the union board. Certainly it is not made out of union funds, but it ought to vest in the union fund, therefore, I join with my hon'ble friend the mover in saying that properties made over to the union board should vest in them. I would not restrict it to the words 'made from the union fund'."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I have nothing further to add."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 56.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after the words "from the union fund" in line 2 of clause 20 (now clause 19) the words "or made over to the union board by the district board or local board" be inserted.

He said :

"My Lord, the clause as it stands now refers only to buildings and other works constructed by union boards, but we can imagine very well that the existing roads will be made by the district boards or the local boards to the union boards. The clause as it stands now does not deal with those roads. Therefore it is necessary that these words 'or made over to the union board, etc., should be inserted.'"

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, here again I do not think the amendment is necessary. Under clause 19 (now clause 18), the union board will have power to acquire or hold property, both movable and immovable. If, therefore, the district board or the local board do desire to make over any property to the union board, it will be open to them to do so, and the union board can accept it ; but I have already referred to clause 35 (now clause 33) under which it is quite possible for the district board to make over the execution of a work to the union board without wishing to vest such a work in them. Therefore it seems preferable to maintain the wording of the clause as it stands."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I have nothing further to add."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 57.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, moved that for clause 22A (now clause 20) the following be substituted, namely :—

"22A. (1) The union board shall appoint such persons as it considers fit to be dafadars and chaukidars under this Act, whenever a vacancy or vacancies exist :

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; The President ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

Provided that if the union board fails within a reasonable time to make such appointments, the district magistrate shall make the requisite appointment or appointments to fill up the vacancy or vacancies.

(2) The union board shall have power to dismiss a dafadar or chaukidar :

Provided that a dismissed dafadar or chaukidar shall have a right of appeal to the district magistrate, whose orders shall be final."

He said :

"My Lord, this amendment is an important one and there is a question of principle involved in it. The principle advocated by this amendment is that the dafadars and chaukidars should be appointed by the board and the board should have power of dismissing its servants. In the Bill as it was first brought before the Council the power of appointing chaukidars and dafadars was vested in the district magistrate, but the Select Committee after reconsideration, considered it fit and proper to suggest that the board is to nominate a person for appointment as dafadar or chaukidar and the district magistrate shall, if satisfied with such nomination, appoint such nominee. This amendment aims at giving the full power of appointment to the board itself and the power of dismissal as well. The only provision added is that dismissed dafadars and chaukidars should have a right of appeal to the district magistrate. It is only fair that the union boards should have the right of appointing their own servants and they ought to have a good deal of control over dafadars and chaukidars who will be paid out of the funds of the union boards. If the power of their appointment or dismissal does not rest with the union boards they will have very little control over these dafadars and chaukidars. It is said that the district magistrate shall, if satisfied with the nomination of the union board, appoint such nominee : but in this case those people who have some experience of the rural areas and the working of the Chaukidari Act know that the district magistrate in this country practically means the circle officer or one of the police officers, inasmuch as the district magistrate will practically have no knowledge of the matter and will always abide by the decision of these officers. So what we want to do is to transfer the power from the circle officer to the union board. The powers of appointment, dismissal and punishment should vest with the members of the union board itself who will be primarily responsible for the working of the board and they ought to have some control over their own servants and employees."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I would like to have your Excellency's ruling as to whether these amendments Nos. 57 and 58 should be discussed together because they are almost identical."

The President said :—

"I think the two amendments are not quite identical : they are slightly different in form. But it might perhaps be convenient to discuss the two at the same time. I can put the amendments separately after the end of the discussion."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"May I point out that there is an appreciable difference between amendments Nos. 57 and 58, in so far as No. 57 vests the residuary power of the union board in the district magistrate, whereas No. 58 vests the residuary power in the local board, which is a far-reaching change."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.The President; Sir Henry Wheeler.The President said :—

"In these circumstances, I think it will be better to take the discussion on each of the amendments separately."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this amendment, as the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem has said, is one of some importance. It raises a very ancient controversy in this province—a controversy in which there have always been two schools of thought, but a controversy which has decided itself on the lines that are now in force as the result of practical experience of the contrary method. The issue is whether the chaukidars and dafadars are to be nominated by the union boards and appointed by the district magistrate, if satisfied with the nomination, which is what the Bill provides, or whether the right of appointment is to vest absolutely in the union board, leaving the magistrate only a right of intervention if they fail to appoint. Similarly, whether the right of dismissal should vest absolutely in the union board, leaving the district magistrate only the right of intervention on appeal. The Bill, as it stands, only enacts the existing position; in respect of dafadars the original Bill did propose a change which would have vested their appointment and punishment absolutely with the district magistrate—a change which could be advocated and justified: but on reconsideration, bearing in mind the fact that this is not primarily an Act to amend the chaukidari law, we thought it preferable to waive any proposals for change, and to adhere to the existing position, and I would like to emphasize the fact that the Bill merely provides for the continuance of the existing state of affairs.

I am afraid I must deal in some detail with this matter, especially as it is one of such long standing in Bengal; and I shall have occasion to read quotations from various past papers, partly because they put the matter clearly and succinctly, and partly because I would like to bring home to the Council that all these arguments that are used now are arguments which have been weighed and considered in the past, and in the light of those discussions the present procedure has been explicitly adopted. I will read first from the report of the District Administration Committee. They say—

"The question of the nature of the control which should be exercised over the village watch is one on which there has always been a great conflict of opinion in Bengal, for, while some would consider the chaukidars essentially village servants, as in Madras, Bombay and the Central Provinces, others would like to see them placed in greater subordination to the regular police, only the assessment and collection of the chaukidari tax being left in the hands of the panchayets. Others, again, would prefer that the chaukidars should be paid from provincial revenues, being made directly subordinate to the regular police and entirely emancipated from village influences. The policy of dual control, which has hitherto been adopted in Bengal, is in the nature of a compromise between the two extreme views, but the extent of the control exercised over the chaukidars by the panchayets and the police, respectively, has varied at different times and in different places. It is unnecessary for us to dwell at any length on the early history of this question. The theory that the village watch is a municipal institution was definitely adopted after much controversy in 1870, and Act VI of that year is based on the assumption that the chaukidar is purely a village servant, employed for the protection of the lives and property of the villagers and looking to the village community for the regular payment of the remuneration to which he is entitled. His chief duties under the Act, as they had been under Regulation XX of 1817, were to give prompt information to the police of all criminal attempts or occurrences in the village, as well as of the movements of bad characters, and to arrest proclaimed offenders or persons taken in the act. He was also bound to assist the panchayet in the collection of the chaukidari tax. Watch and ward occupied a position of secondary importance. At first the appointment, punishment and dismissal of the chaukidars were left in the hands of the panchayets, but the tendency of later legislation was in the direction of strengthening the control of the Magistrate and police over the panchayets and the chaukidars; and, under Act I of 1892, the power of appointing, punishing and dismissing chaukidars, as well as of determining their numbers and fixing their salaries has been vested in the District Magistrate, who, with the sanction of the Commissioner, can delegate this power to any Subdivisional Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class or to the District Superintendent of Police.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.The President; Sir Henry Wheeler.

We need not follow the different steps that have since been taken from time to time to restore police influence in the villages and to secure closer control over the work of panchayats and chaukidars. The system of dual control has been accepted by the great majority of the witnesses, both official and non-official, whom we have examined.

“There are some who contend that the system of dual control over the chaukidars has failed in Bengal, and that it is useless to continue it, but this, to whatever extent it may be true, is due to the weakness and inefficiency of the panchayats and to the absence of any real effort in the past to improve their position and secure their co-operation, which is so essential to effective police work in the villages. Reform should begin with the panchayats, and we think that it would be unwise, now that it is proposed to make a real effort through the circle scheme to introduce an improved system of village administration, to do anything at the outset which would be likely to weaken the tie between the rural police and the community whom they serve. At the same time we recognise that it would be dangerous if anything were done to render police action in the villages less effective, especially in the Eastern Bengal districts, and to deprive the police of the assistance of the chaukidars.”

That extract, Sir, summarises the position and emphasises the point that the situation in Bengal in this matter is a compromise: at one time greater powers were given to the panchayats in the matter of the appointment and dismissal of chaukidars; but in the light of experience, they were withdrawn by the amending Act of 1892. The experience since gained has shown that the dual system works fairly well, and it has not demonstrated the desirability of amending it, while it has also shown—as mentioned by the District Administration Committee in their report—the possible dangers of seeking an alteration.

The same point was also gone into at some length in the debates in the Bengal Council when the Act of 1892 was passed. These discussions too give some interesting facts about the theory of chaukidari administration in Bengal, and if I weary the Council with them now, it is partly with reference also to other amendments which are on the agenda paper, and which cannot be appreciated unless the position is fully understood. It is interesting too to note that the discussions of 1892 were largely in the hands of Sir Henry Cotton, and it cannot be said that Sir Henry Cotton was a man who was excessively in sympathy with police as opposed to popular administration. In introducing this Act of 1892, Sir Henry Cotton said as follows:—

“The village watch of Bengal, as of all India, is one of the oldest institutions of the country connected with the village system itself, and the village watchman of ancient Hindu times is substantially the counterpart of the village watchman as he is recognised by existing legislation; that is to say, the village watchman is ordinarily a member of an hereditary thieving caste, and responsible for his behaviour to no one except to the village community by whom he is maintained. That was the constitution of the village watch in ancient Hindu times, and it is practically the constitution of the village watch at the present day. Under the Mogul administration there was some change effected. The character of the Mogul Government was eminently fiscal, and the village watchman, instead of being the village servant, became to a very large extent the servant of the zamindar, and that dual-position remained for a very long time under British rule, and still remains in all parts of the country where Act VI of 1870 has not been enforced. The object of Act VI of 1870 was to place the village watch everywhere under the control of the village organization.”

After referring to this doctrine of the village chaukidar as the village servant, he goes on to say:—

“The Bill, I have now the honour to place before you, introduces a modification of this principle. It is my own view strongly, and it is the view of the present Government, that the police is a branch of the administration which ought to be brought into closer relations with the Government.”

“The present Bill is a slight step in this direction—not a very decisive step perhaps—for it does not pretend to be more than a very gradual and small measure, but it is a step in the direction of centralizing police administration, and of bringing the village watch much more than it now is under the immediate supervision of the District Magistrate who represents the Government in the muffassal."

"In Bengal we do not go so far as to desire that the village watch of this country shall altogether disappear, and we wish to adhere to the only sound element of the chaukidari system, viz., that of retaining the local knowledge of men resident in the village in which they are to be employed; but we do desire to modify it materially, and the direction this modification takes is by placing the village watch more under executive authority than it now is."

"At present the panchayat, which is in other words the representative of the village community, not only appoints the chaukidars, but has authority under the law to decide within specified limits how many chaukidars shall be employed and to fix their salaries. On these three main points the power and authority of the panchayat is curtailed by the present Bill. It is proposed to allow the panchayat to nominate, but the appointment of the village watch will rest in future with the District Magistrate. It is laid down also that the Magistrate and not the panchayat shall determine the number of chaukidars within specified limits. This is a proviso which experience has shown to be very necessary. The law authorises the panchayat now to fix the number of chaukidars, and in practice it has been found that they reduce the number, and the Magistrate has been obliged to interfere to maintain the minimum number of chaukidars prescribed by law. They have done so without any specific legal authority, but it is only in this way that the full number of chaukidars has been maintained. Under the present Bill, the Magistrate is vested with the power he has hitherto informally exercised. Similarly, it is proposed—and this is a point of at least equal importance—that the Magistrate shall fix the salary of the chaukidar. The salary is now fixed by the panchayat, and the tendency is to fix it at a rate so low as to be below the standard of efficiency."

In other words there was a certain position created by the Act of 1870, and after 20 years' experience of that system, during which it was enquired into by two committees—one presided over by Mr. Beames and the other by Mr. Munro—and in the light of the enquiries of these two committees and the failure of the system to which they drew attention, Sir Henry Cotton introduced the Act of 1892, and in connection with it he said:—

"Is it a fact that in those districts in Bengal in which that Act has been introduced and in which panchayats have worked, the chaukidari system has been more successful, than it has been elsewhere? I am not aware that the experience of any Member of this Council will be able to answer that question in the affirmative. On the contrary, as far as the control of the chaukidar is concerned, as far as all police work is concerned, panchayats practically have no existence. They have done no good whatever, they have been of no use. But they have done one thing. There is no doubt that they have assessed and collected the chaukidari rate, and have paid the chaukidars within the villages where they exist. There is no doubt that the chaukidars where there is a panchayat are better paid than in other parts of Bengal where panchayats have not yet been legalised. That is true. As regards any other respect, police work proper, executive control, the panchayat has been useless, and that is the opinion of everyone with the one exception of Mr. Westmacott, who has enquired into the matter. In the very section of the Police Committee's report from which my hon'ble friend quoted just now, I find it stated:—'It will thus be seen that, though the law contemplates that the determination of the number of chaukidars shall be left to the panchayat, it has everywhere been found necessary, in the interest of the public, for the Magistrate to interfere to secure the proper performance of this duty by the panchayat.' If it is the deliberate verdict of the Police Committee that the panchayats have nowhere done their duty except when compelled to do it by the interference of the Magistrate, how can any member of this Council say that the institution of the panchayat for such purposes, namely, fixing the number and salary of the chaukidar has been a success? It is because it has been such a flagrant failure that the Committee was appointed by the Government, on whose recommendations radical modifications in the law, which the Local Government has more than once attempted to carry, but I regret to say have abandoned owing to a storm of prejudice and ignorance, are now proposed as being thoroughly necessary."

"Therefore, Sir, the point I would emphasise by these quotations is that the old system which this amendment seeks to restore was definitely condemned after 22 years' working and replaced by the existing system which the Bill perpetuates.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

Sir Henry Cotton's remarks constitute an authoritative pronouncement as to the failure of the system which the amendment would advocate, and they afford sufficient justification for adopting the line which we have done in the Bill, namely, that in this matter of the chaukidari administration we will not make any change in the existing practice. Whether such a change may come hereafter we cannot say. It will have been noticed from the extracts which I have read that constant reference is made to the inefficiency and failure of the old panchayets. We hope with these union boards to secure stronger and more efficient bodies, and it may so happen that if these bodies prove themselves efficient, it may be possible to modify the present practice in the matter of control over chaukidars. But whether this will happen I cannot say. It is a matter for the future, but all I do say is that, as matters stand at present, the considerations which I have adduced justify to my mind our doing what we propose to do, i.e., continuing the present practice without alteration, and I am not prepared to accept an amendment which puts us back to the Act of 1870, which after 22 years' experience was ultimately condemned."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, I am afraid that the panchayeti system, even on the high authority of Sir Henry Cotton, which is 22 years old, will not now avail. Things have been moving fast in this country, as all over the world, and in order to have energetic action we are going to have a new body altogether. And if you want them to be efficient and do effective work you must give them real power. If they are merely to send up the names of chaukidars and dafadars and if the District Magistrate is to appoint them, I think that will be taking away much of that which would go to make them useful bodies. There may be some need for supervision; but we must not forget that it is not panchayets that we are dealing with—but altogether a different thing. The change has become necessary as it is felt that the body that was administering that important part of village policing was not quite up to the mark. Therefore, we are bringing in a better body of men in charge of this duty and other duties. It would be hardly proper and right to take away from them the most important part of the duty and to expect them to look after the police work up to the required standard. I should think that as the amendment seeks to impose on them the power of appointing their own servants as a beginning, Government should very carefully consider the situation before throwing it out."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have followed with great interest the long and luminous speech of Sir Henry Wheeler and, following the last speaker Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, I should say that notwithstanding the signs of progress that we see on all sides, Government seem to be, at least in this matter, as unprogressive as can be imagined. In 1870 an Act was passed enabling Village Committees to appoint chaukidars: in 1892 owing to certain reports that were made by Sir James Munro, Inspector-General of Police, and Mr. John Beames who was, I believe, subsequently a Commissioner of a Division, Government thought fit to take away that power by the Act of 1892 and vested it in the District Magistrate. That was in 1892, and this is, my Lord, 1919. I do not know, my Lord, what tremendous change has been made in the Government, in the views of the responsible authorities over our affairs and in the administration of the country; well nigh 27 years have passed away since the Act of 1892 was passed. The name of Sir Henry Cotton was conjured up to silence the critics, because Sir Henry Cotton was known to be in favour of progressive government in this country. But it must not be forgotten—and, I believe, the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler will himself admit—that the position of a responsible officer of Government is quite different from the position of the gentleman divested of the position which he officially occupied at the time. Perhaps I may not be mistaken if I say that the views of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler as a Member of the Executive Council of your Government would be greatly different from those of Sir Henry Wheeler in his retirement—whether living amongst us in this country or in his own home. Therefore, I do not think that the views of Sir Henry Cotton as expressed in his official capacity and uttered some 29 years ago need be taken much into consideration. My Lord, I was reading the opinion of Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen Bahadur, a very calm, moderate and experienced gentleman—a gentleman who has even in his old age taken the greatest interest in the local affairs of his country. He said: "It is a shadowy measure of self-Government: it is far better that such a measure should be withdrawn rather than presented to the people." My Lord, great changes have been made and the people have now progressed beyond our conception during the last 27 years, and I think that time has come when they should be trusted to appoint chaukidars. I believe the pay of these chaukidars ranges from Rs. 4 to Rs. 6 a month and that of dafadars from Rs. 8 to Rs. 10 and if there is any abuse of power, I am sure the various provisions in this Bill would be found to be ample safeguards.

"You have got ample power under the clauses of this Bill and therefore I do not think there need be any apprehension on this score. You are vesting the people with a modicum of self-Government, but the people cannot appoint a chaukidar on Rs. 4 a month without the sanction of the Circle Officer—a Sub-Deputy Collector—to whom this function will be delegated by the District Magistrate under the schedule of this Act. That will make the union boards merely jo-hukum bodies to the Police Superintendent or the Circle Officer, I appeal to your Excellency, in view of the impending constitutional reforms, to make these small rural bodies realize that they have some semblance of power. And unless they are allowed to realize this they will always remain jo-hukum bodies to the authorities. These bodies will be composed of timid muffassal people and they will never abuse their power. If this simple power is not given to them, they will not venture to go against the district magistrate. They will tremble in their shoes before him and the police superintendent and the Circle Officer as if their authorities are paramount. Their influence will be demoralizing to the Boards if they are made to realize that under the British Government they cannot appoint half-a-dozen chaukidars on Rs. 4 or Rs. 6 a month."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have to say a few words in this connection. If the panchayat or the union board comes to know that they cannot appoint a chaukidar and that the chaukidar will be under the supervision of the Police Superintendent or the District Magistrate, the union board will lose its prestige. My Lord, this is an important point and many persons of light and leading want to have the union board independent of the District Magistrate. It was for this reason that I was advocating that men possessing educational qualifications ought to come into the board, and if they joined the board there would be no necessity of the interference by the district magistrate. Your Excellency will remember the opening speech of Lord Sinha delivered at the time of the introduction of this Bill, and he brought to the notice of the Council that there would not be any undue interference by the police. If there be any undue influence on the part of the police, then I do not think, my Lord, that the prosperity of the union boards can ever be hoped for. I beg respectfully to submit that although it may be argued that District Magistrates ought to have some influence over the doings of the union boards, at the same time, it must be conceded that the boards should not be unduly interfered with their work by the District Magistrate. If there be interference, there is no necessity for self-government."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abul Kasem; Sir Henry Wheeler.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

“ My Lord, I am sorry the amendment as moved was not acceptable to the Hon'ble Member in charge. I am at present not concerned with the progress but the success of the union boards. And in order to make the union boards successful, it is necessary to vest them with a certain semblance of power which will develop in them a certain sense of responsibility. A good deal of literature has been read out and opinions have been quoted—opinions expressed so far back as 1892. But since 1892 much water has flown under the Howrah Bridge and many changes have taken place. The opinions of the late Sir Henry Cotton or the Decentralization Commission about the panchayats can have no bearing on this subject, as those panchayats have no resemblance with the union boards to be formed under this Bill. There will be quite different bodies as has been stated by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler only this morning, in connection with another amendment. The members of the panchayats as also the President are themselves the nominees of the District Magistrate and it matters very little whether the chaukidars or dafadars are nominated by the one or the other. But the union boards will be vested with much more power, and they will have a larger variety of work to perform than the collection of the chaukidari tax and the distribution of the salaries of dafadars and chaukidars. The present panchayati work is very simple—to realize the tax, to send it over for payment to the chaukidars and to submit certain reports and figures when asked upon to do so by the District Officer or the Police Superintendent. But the union boards will have much larger powers and if they are not vested with the power of appointing their own servants—or these chaukidars although they may be quasi-policemen or regular policemen, they will be servants of the union boards all the same, as they will not only be paid by them but also controlled by them—then they will find considerable difficulty in carrying on their work with the aid of men whom they have no power to appoint. It has been said that the panchayats were vested with this power, but the arrangement has proved a failure. If the panchayats who were appointed by nomination and the panchayats formed under a system introduced 30 or 40 years back were a failure that is no reason why their successors, the members of the union boards who are to be elected under this Bill, should not be vested with this small power. Failure and success are not the only tests by which we should be governed in the matter of administration. It must be admitted that in the matter of industrial development of the country or in the matter of sanitary improvement the Government of India and the Local Governments have not proved so successful, but nobody suggests that those departments should be taken charge of by the Secretary of State and that the Imperial and Local Governments should not be allowed to be in charge of them. I submit that in order to develop a sense of responsibility in them these union boards should be vested with some power which is absolutely necessary in order to make them responsible bodies. Otherwise, there will be only village self-Government in name without any responsibility. I hope and trust that your Excellency's Government will accept the amendment. Of course, there must be general supervision by the authorities, but that must be from outside and must be consistent with the principle of self-Government.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“ May I add a word, in the hope that it will help to bring us down from the realms of fancy to those of fact. We have heard from the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem a good deal about the desirability of giving these union boards even a semblance of power. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur has abjured us not to take all power from the union boards so that they will stand trembling before the circle officer or the sub-divisional officer. But what are the facts in regard to this particular matter of appointing chaukidars? At present, and under the law as we propose it, the nomination of chaukidars rests with the union board. They submit their nomination to the District Magistrate, and if the District Magistrate is satisfied that the nominee is suitable, he appoints him; it is only on the failure to nominate that the District Magistrate takes the place of the union board. Surely that allows a considerable power of appointment to the union board, and it can scarcely be said that they have no hand in the appointment of chaukidars. They have the nomination of the chaukidar in their hands. The only control that the Bill mentions is that the District Magistrate is allowed to satisfy himself that the union board nominee is a suitable nominee, and I have endeavoured to point out that it is in the light of past experience that this curious dual position which we have in Bengal has resulted, under which a modicum of control is retained. The Bill now before us, in its main aspects, is a Municipal Bill, and the more important functions of the union board will be those connected with the improvement of the villages. It so happens that this chaukidari side has been grafted on to the Bill because it was thought desirable to create one single authoritative village body in place of the old chaukidari panchayats and the local self-Government union committees. In that way the chaukidari administration has been brought in, but it is not the primary object of the Bill, and I venture to say that it will prejudice the success of local self-Government if we embroil these village bodies in this controversial matter of the control over chaukidars.

"The only other point to which I would refer is in answer both to the Hon'ble Sir Ueba Prasad Sarbadhikari and the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem in the criticism that they have made against my remarks, namely, that I am seeking to support the position of the present day by arguments of 20 years ago, since when the position has changed materially. In answer to that, may I read another extract from the report of the District Administration Committee which made its enquiries in 1913-14? It is not the case that Government have sat still in this matter; there have always been two schools of thought with regard to chaukidars, and in the report of the Police Commission, the village side of the chaukidar's functions was brought into prominence, following which special inquiries were conducted by Mr. Savage who was a strong advocate on that side. His main idea was to secure a better class of men for the village panchayat—men better fitted to be entrusted with more supervision over the chaukidars. I happened to take on the inquiry after him, and during the cold weather of 1905-06 I toured throughout the entire province, looking into the administration. Therefore, in a small way, I also have seen something of the true facts. As a result of Mr. Savage's inquiries more powers were given in certain villages to the panchayats over the chaukidars, and I had better read the report of the District Administration Committee as to the results. They said:—

"The Indian Police Commission of 1902-03 deplored the increasing tendency to departmentalise the rural police; and the president system, introduced by Mr. Savage two years later, was designed with the object of freeing the panchayats from police influence and of emphasising the essential character of the chaukidar as a village servant, while leaving him subject to the control of the Magistrate and the police in regard to his police duties. The success of the system depended on the willing co-operation of the panchayats, and it failed because the necessary supervision was never forthcoming. For the next few years the annual reports on the working of the police in Bengal and in Eastern Bengal and Assam contain references to the injurious effects of the system on police administration, especially in the eastern districts; and many officers complained that it had merely transferred the control over the chaukidars from one authority to another less capable of exercising it, with a very distinct loss of knowledge and efficiency on the part of the police."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

"That, Sir, is an up-to-date argument in favour of my contention that we should maintain the law as it is, and not seek at this moment to make a change the consequences of which might be serious and undesirable."

A division was then taken with the following result :—

AMENDMENT No. 58.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for clause 22A (now clause 20) the following be substituted, namely :—

"22A (1) The union board shall appoint such person as it considers fit to be a dafadar under this Act, and shall, when a vacancy exists, appoint a person to be a chaukidar under this Act :

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Uandra Datta.

Provided that, if the union board fails within a reasonable time to appoint a dafadar or a chaukidar, the local board shall make the appointment.

(2) The union board may dismiss any dafadar or chaukidar :

Provided that a dismissed dafadar or chaukidar shall have the right to appeal against the order of dismissal to the local board."

He said :—

"My Lord, as has been very justly remarked by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler with reference to the previous amendment this is a very important matter, and I propose to give my reason in respect of this amendment at some length. The Indian Police Commission of 1902-03, very truly observed that the great defects in the efforts made in all the provinces of India to establish a sound system of village police have been their want of clearly-defined principle and their spasmodic nature. Before, therefore, discussing the several provisions of the Bill regarding the dafadars and chaukidars, it is essentially necessary to formulate clearly the policy and principle upon which the village police system should be based. The different sections deal with matters of detail. Once the fundamental principle is decided, there will be no difficulty about the details. Much misconception and controversy will disappear if we hold steadfastly to that principle. The initial question is—What is the object of this institution? What is their real function? Whose servants are they? Are they the servants of the villagers or of the regular police? What is their position with respect to the villagers on one side and the regular police on the other?

"These questions, though very important, are not of first impression. In fact, they are almost as old as the British Empire in India. I, therefore, propose to review the history of the village police system in this country, for I believe that this study will help us in all the controversies which have now clustered round the important question of village police. Originally, the village police were subject to the control of the zemindars. But in 1793, the village watchmen were (by section 13 of Regulation XXII of that year) declared subject to the orders of the newly appointed darogas and became practically the servants of the regular police. But the system did not work well, and a committee was appointed to consider the question of the reform of the village police. The very important and interesting question arose whether the village police was a municipal institution or the lowest rung of the ladder of the regular police. The principle that the village watch is a municipal institution was definitely adopted after much controversy and the result was the Chaukidari Act, 1870. This Act was based on the principle that the chaukidar was purely a village servant. The appointment, punishment and dismissal of the chaukidars were placed in the hands of the panchayats. In fact, this Act was framed in a spirit of entire trust in the village community. But although the municipal character of the rural police was recognised as a matter of theory, the attempt to develop a sound system of village police was marred by certain unsuitable provisions of the law—provisions which were not in keeping with the underlying principle of the Act. But what is more regrettable, a fair trial was not given to the system inaugurated by Act VI of 1870. It was not worked with anything like enthusiasm by the district officers. The Police Commission of 1902-03 attributed the failure of the panchayat system to this lack of interest. There was not only indifference and apathy but positive antipathy. In 1881, Mr. Munro, C.B. (then Inspector-General of Police) suggested the appointment of a commission to reconsider the whole question of village police. The recommendation of this commission, submitted in 1883, led to certain amendments of the law and finally to the passing of Act I of 1892. This Act reversed the principle underlying its predecessor that the control of the village police was to rest with the villagers. The keynote of this retrograde legislation is to be found in the words of the member in charge who remarked 'the inhabitants of a village have no claim to a municipal administration in any respect, still less have they any claim to control the police.'

"The power of appointing the chaukidars, punishing them, determining their number and fixing their salary was transferred from the panchayat to the District Magistrate who invariably delegated these powers to the Superintendent of Police. This was reaction with vengeance and the result was that the chaukidar again became a servant of the police. Ten years after, the question came up again before the Police Commission who strongly condemned the tendency to departmentalize the rural police. They reaffirmed the old municipal theory that the village watchman ought to be a village servant, subordinate to the members of the village council and not to the regular police. The Commission observed :—

'The Commission desire to emphasise their conviction that the village police ought not to be separated from the village organisation and placed under the regular police. They desire to see, not a body of low-paid stipendiaries or subordinate police scattered over the country, but the utilisation of the village agency itself. The village is the unit of administration. Improved administration lies in teaching the village communities to take an active interest in their own affairs. * * * * The Commission consider it to be of vital importance to emphasise the responsibility of the village headmen, and to hold the village officer responsible rather as the subordinate of the village headman and his servant for the performance of public functions. To place the village police officer under the control of the station-house officer would be to subvert the system in its essential principle and often to place the drags of the people over the respectable classes. The village watchman would become the menial servant of the police and probably become unscrupulous in his methods. He would work apart from, and often against, the village head. The Commission also remarked that the system introduced by Act I of 1892 was certainly not a system of village police as generally understood. It is more of the nature of a low-paid regular constabulary.'

"They condemned the transfer of control over the chowkidars from the panchayats to the District Magistrate as a most serious defect of the system. These principles were accepted by the Government of India without any reservation in paragraph 9 of Resolution No. 248-259, dated 21st March 1905—on the Commissioners' Report. The Government of Bengal as well as the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam also expressed their entire concurrence with the views of the Commission. They were adopted by the other provinces also.

"The recommendations of the Police Commission were not absolutely fruitless. For in 1904 Mr. Savage was placed on special duty and introduced the president system which sought to free the panchayats from police influence and emphasised the essential character of the chaukidar as a village servant. But the advance really made was more illusory than real; for we find that although the chaukidars were required to parade before the president at stated intervals, the regular parades at the thana were not dispensed with. Even this slight advance was resented by the police. What is more regrettable is that a hue and cry was raised against this modicum of reform in more responsible quarters. For the next few years the annual reports on the working of the police in Bengal emphasised the injurious effects of the president system on police administration and we are told that the influence of police in the villages was seriously weakened. To us it comes like a startling, re-startling revelation that the influence and power of police ever weakened at any time after 1904. The agitation of the police and their supporters was, however, too powerful for the Government to resist. It will not serve any useful purpose to discuss the different steps that have since been taken from time to time to restore police influence in the villages and secure closer control over the work of the panchayets and the chaukidars. Suffice it to say that the hand of the clock was given a set-back and some of the functions, including the holding of parades of chaukidars, had to be transferred from the president to the thana police. Thus, the considered verdict of the Police Commission and the Government of India strongly condemning the old plea for departmentalizing the rural police was quietly brushed aside with the result that the chaukidars to-day are essentially police servants. This is a typical case illustrating our old complaint that the wise and statesman-like decisions of the Government are not infrequently rendered nugatory by people whose narrow and personal interests and whose love of power make them blind to the interests of the people and State. This and this alone can explain why the police have now a voice in the appointment of chaukidars, why ordinary and pay parades of the chaukidars are held at the thana and why the dafadar has been made a police officer and placed entirely under the superintendence of the police, the verdict of the Police Commission notwithstanding. The system of dual-control is based on a vicious principle. It is an elementary and immutable truth that one cannot serve two masters. The salaries and cost of equipments of chaukidars and dafadars will be paid by the villagers by local and compulsory taxation and shall be the first charge upon the union fund. It is, therefore, only just and proper that they should be essentially and completely village servants appointed by the union board, dismissed by the union board and punished by the union board. There is something very incongruous and fantastic in the idea that the villagers shall pay the salaries but will not have the power to appoint or dismiss or punish. Very important municipal, judicial and executive powers are now proposed to be conferred upon the union board. These are duties which they cannot perform without the loyal assistance of the dafadars and chaukidars. Clause 28A (now clause 26), therefore, has had to provide that the union board shall exercise a general control over the dafadars and chaukidars. But it passes our comprehension how the union board can exercise an effectual control over the dafadar and chaukidar unless the board is invested with the powers of appointment, dismissal and punishment. The remarks of the District Magistrate of Hooghly in this connection are very pertinent. He says 'practical experience has shown that the dafadars do not very often obey the chaukidari panchayats properly, as the latter have no power of punishment'. The expression 'general control' in clause 28A (now clause 26), may mean anything or nothing. We have got the said provision in section 41 of the Chaukidari Act, giving a general control over the chaukidars to the panchayet. But it is an admitted fact that they exercise no control over them. The system of dual-control was condemned even when the activities of the panchayet were of a very limited and restricted character. The objections to departmentalizing the rural police must, therefore, be very much stronger now, in view of the enlarged powers and extended activities of the village community.

The chaukidars are essentially village servants in Madras, Bombay and the Central Provinces. It is only in Bengal that there is a keen feeling that the dafadar and chaukidar should be placed in subordination to the police. Now the system of dual-control as it obtains in Bengal is only an ill-assorted compromise between the two conflicting schools of thought.

There is a consensus of opinion both official and non-official that the system of dual-control has been given a trial for a long time and that it has failed. Why then perpetuate the old blunder? What should be the position of the village watch in their relations to the village community on the one hand and to the regular police on the other? Let us face the problem manfully, let us make up our minds once and for all on this troublesome question, let us decide this question this way or that way, let us not fight shy of this problem,
